

DOES HE PAY FARE?

Democrats Want to Know About Roosevelt's Traveling Expenses.

Senators Will Start an Inquiry. It Is Said, in Regard to Whether Railroads Haul the President About the Country Gratis.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The democratic senators are to demand an investigation into the traveling system of the president. Some resolutions are to be introduced with a preface arrangement. In this first part it is stated that it is reported that the president has traveled much in the last four months and has not paid fare. That he has worked a pull on the railroads for fare and board and other things equally as valuable. This being assumed will be made the basis for a resolution for investigation to prove it all true. It is announced that there is no politics in it, that it is an earnest effort to get at the truth in the interest of good government. They will also try and interest the civil service commission in the matter and have an official investigation made into the matter of traveling by the president.

Mr. Luling holds that these companies must come under the supervision of his department or cease doing business in the state.

Danish Preacher Crosses the Ocean to Check the Bringing of Converts to the United States.

Copenhagen, Sept. 20.—Rev. H. Haugen, for many years president of the Danish Lutheran church in America, has arrived in Denmark to do missionary work against Mormonism. The Mormons have attracted large numbers of Danes to Utah and have been especially active of recent years in spreading their propaganda in Denmark. A Mormon temple was dedicated here last year. The Danish church in America sent Rev. Mr. Haugen to this country to counteract the Mormon propaganda and a powerful branch of the Danish state church encouraged him to come and will cooperate in his work.

REVIVALS OUT OF DATE.

Methodist Preacher Declares Old-Fashioned Method of Making Converts Has Lost Its Effectiveness.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 20.—Rev. D. C. John, presiding elder of the Oskosh district, caused a stir at the session of the Wisconsin conference by declaring that the Methodist church must devise new methods or conversions must cease. The people, he said, exhibited increased indifference and downright hostility to the old-fashioned revival and it was almost impossible to gather a congregation for revival meetings without special attractions. Individual effort on the part of the ministers was Dr. John's panacea. It was necessary to gather in the children or the church would die out.

EARTHQUAKE AT SANTIAGO.

PASSING OF THE ORGAN.

All the Vogue Half a Century Ago, But Now Recalled as a Long-Forgotten Fad.

A little over half a century ago the manufacture of the American reed organ took distinct shape. The instrument was first known as a "melodeon," and a strong demand immediately sprang up for it, particularly among the humbler, and, consequently, more religious class. The melodeon was just the thing for leading or accompanying the voice in hymns. It was used by peripatetic evangelists throughout the country, and thousands who had never heard the like of it before strained themselves to get it for family use. In the larger cities the piano had full swing, but in small towns, villages and hamlets and in country homes the melodeon was established in nearly every parlor, says the New York Press.

Prince, of Buffalo, Carhart, of New York, and others too numerous to mention sent out vast quantities of these wind-jammers. After awhile they were called "reed organs," and the price was raised. In a few months they would become wind-broken, and the miserable wheezy things were a constant affliction wherever they were known. There was hardly a Sunday school in the United States that did not take up collections from the children to buy one. At first the performer worked the thing with her feet while playing the keys with her fingers. Later a pump-handle attachment was made, and it was a great thing for a smart boy to be called on by the superintendent to do the pumping. He must do it just so; not too fast, not too hard, not too slow, not too softly. If he did just right he became a permanency, and mighty proud was he, the envy of all.

Some of the organ builders hired missionaries to travel and sing hymns to the accompaniment of their instruments as an advertisement. Thirty years ago Ira D. Sankey traveled with an organ of his own (I do not remember the make), and set the people wild. It has never been charged that he was in the pay of any firm. Shiploads of these organs were sent to Europe. Some got into the Congo, and the Africans were charmed. Some went to India to soothe the supplicating Hindoo. The Protestant countries, particularly, demanded great quantities of them—Sweden, Norway, England and Scotland. Few American enterprises attained so big a boom and few fell so quickly into a state of collapse. Standard manufacturers of reed organs quit the business and went into the making of pianos, some with signal success. The organs have gone into church cellars to rot, while the piano is installed in the home and Sunday school, in the lecture room and the college. A remarkable change, this.

Preacher Selected by Phonograph. From the "Jewish Chronicle" we learn of a novel use for the phonograph. Some time ago the Hungarian Jews in Chicago wrote to the chief rabbi of Pressburg, in Hungary, asking him to recommend an orthodox rabbi, able to preach in their native language. Pressburg is a long way from Chicago, and it was to much to expect that a rabbi could drop across for a Sabbath to preach a trial sermon. That was where the phonograph showed its use. The recommended candidate spoke his best sermons in his best German and Hungarian, into the instrument, and when the records were reproduced in Chicago they gave such delight that the preacher was unanimously elected at a handsome salary.

COMMODORE NICHOLSON OF OUR NAVY

Recommends Pe-ru-na—Other Prominent Men Testify.

Commodore Somerville Nicholson, of the United States Navy, in a letter from 1837 R Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., says:

"Your Peruna has been and is now used by so many of my friends and acquaintances as a sure cure for catarrh that I am convinced of its curative qualities and I unhesitatingly recommend it to all persons suffering from that complaint."—S. Nicholson.

United States Minister to Guatemala Endorses Pe-ru-na.

Dr. W. Godfrey Hunter, U. S. Minister to Guatemala, ex-member of Congress from Kentucky, in a letter from Washington, D. C., writes:

"I am fully satisfied that your Peruna is an efficacious remedy for catarrh, as I and many of my friends have been benefited by its use."—W. G. Hunter, M. D.

Member of Congress from Virginia Writes.

Hon. G. R. Brown, Martinville, Va., ex-member of Congress Fifth District, 50th Congress, writes:

"I cheerfully give my endorsement to your Peruna as a cure for catarrh. Its beneficial results have been so fully demonstrated that its use is essential to all persons suffering from that disease."—Hon. G. R. Brown.

The day was when men of prominence hesitated to give their testimonials to proprietary medicines for publication. This remains true today of most proprietary medicines. But Peruna has become so justly famous, its merits are known to so many people of high and low stations, that no one hesitates to see his name in print recommending Peruna.

The highest men in our nation have given Peruna a strong endorsement. Men representing all classes and stations are equally represented.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis. Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.
