

MRS. NATION AGAIN.

Kansas Crusader Stirred Up Trouble at the National Capital.

Was First Ejected from the White House and Later Was Arrested While Making a Demonstration in the Senate Gallery.

Washington, Nov. 20.—Carrie Nation was forcibly ejected from the executive offices yesterday morning. She called there early and demanded to see the president. Secretary Loeb declined to allow her to see Mr. Roosevelt and she became so demonstrative that he called upon two officers to remove her. She continued to shout so loud that it was necessary to take her out of the grounds. As she left the building she shouted: "I am going to pray for a prohibitionist president. One who will represent the people and not the distillers and brewers."

Mrs. Nation went direct to the capitol after leaving the white house and appeared in the senate gallery a few minutes before the senate was called to order at noon. She announced her intention to make a speech to the senate, but when told that she would not be allowed to do so she acquiesced readily and took her departure. She went to the marble room and talked with Senator Cockrell. She had been absent from the gallery about ten minutes when she reappeared at one of the doors of the ladies' gallery and, raising her hand far above her head, she shouted in a loud and clear tone: "Saloons are anarchy; saloons are treason and conspiracy." The senate at the time was engaged in receiving bills, but Mrs. Nation's voice was much more penetrating than the reading clerk's and was distinctly heard throughout the senate chamber and even in the corridors. The incident created a ripple of excitement.

She had been absent from the gallery about ten minutes when she reappeared at one of the doors of the ladies' gallery and raising her hand far above her head, she shouted in a loud and clear tone: "Saloons are anarchy; saloons are treason and conspiracy."

She was preparing to go when a door-keeper caught her and pushed her out of the door. The senate at the time was engaged in receiving bills but Mrs. Nation's voice was much more penetrating than the reading clerk's and was distinctly heard throughout the senate chamber and even in the corridors. The incident created a ripple of excitement.

Mrs. Nation was taken from the capitol to the police court where she was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. She was found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $25. This she promptly paid.

DIETRICH TO COME HOME.

Accused Nebraska Senator Will Early Face the Charges of Selling Postmaster-ships in Various Towns.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 20.—There are no new developments in the grand jury's investigation of postmastership appointments in Nebraska. A large number of witnesses have come to testify in the Alma, Oxford, Orleans and Arapahoe cases, but none of them have come up owing to the press of other business before the jury.

The arrival of United States Senator Dietrich from Washington is waited with interest, and until he reaches the city his friends will take no action. He is expected to be in Omaha early next week. Witnesses who are here to testify before the grand jury in post office cases were admonished by the court to not discuss the matter on the streets or in the halls of the federal building.

The National Grange.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 20.—Officials of the National Grange were installed yesterday. The committee on agriculture presented a report in which it said that the two pressing necessities confronting the American farmer were changes of law in the matter of disposing of our vast public domain and the conservation of the forestry of the country. The adverse report of the committee on initiative and referendum was adopted after a spirited debate. Resolutions advocating the parcels post were adopted.

Wealthy Women Enlisted.

Washington, Nov. 20.—The curiosity as to who is to pay the goodly fee that will in all probability be demanded by former Secretary Carlisle for his interest in the opposition to the seating of Senator Smoot, of Utah, was in part removed to-day by the statement circulated about the senate that a number of prominent women have banded together to furnish the funds for fighting the case.

Lord Curzon in Arabia.

Mascat, Arabia, Nov. 20.—The viceroy of India, Lord Curzon, who left Karachi, November 16, escorted by four battleships, on a tour of the Persian gulf, has arrived here. Visits were exchanged between the sultan of Oman and Lord Curzon. The town is enjoying a holiday. The principal buildings are profusely decorated and there was a fine illumination at night.

SHOT TO DEATH.

Peter Mortensen Executed in Salt Lake Penitentiary for the Murder of James R. Hay.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 21.—Peter Mortensen, the slayer of James R. Hay, was shot to death in the state penitentiary yard at 10:31 Friday morning. Maintaining his innocence to the last, he walked to the chair placed against the heavy stone wall of the prison yard, without weakening and bid the guards and deputy sheriffs good bye with no tremor in his voice. Mortensen was killed instantly, four bullets from the rifles of the executing squad, concealed behind a thick curtain in the door of the blacksmithshop 12 yards distant, piercing the white target pinned over his heart. Mortensen refused to see ministers, either of his own belief, the Mormon, or of any other denomination, and also refused stimulants, saying he needed neither.

BIBLE READING FORBIDDEN.

The Supreme Court of Nebraska Says There Must Be No Religious Exercises in Public Schools of That State.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 21.—A peremptory writ of mandamus was issued yesterday by the clerk of the supreme court of Nebraska, forbidding the holding of religious exercises in the public schools of Gage county. The writ was issued on the order of the supreme court and therefore applies to all schools in the state. The proceedings of yesterday are the final chapter of an action brought by Daniel Freeman, a resident of Gage county, who objected to the reading of the Bible in the school in which his children were pupils. The case has been pending in the Nebraska courts for several years.

"HAS NOTHING TO SAY."

Helen Gould Will Not Submit to Dictation from Priest Regarding Her Work.

Tarrytown, N. Y., Nov. 21.—Miss Helen Miller Gould has intimated, in a way that need not be mistaken, that she proposes not to submit to dictation from a priest in regard to her charitable work, and the priest to whom this announcement was conveyed, "has nothing to say." Sentiment in Irvington seems to be unanimous in support of Miss Gould, who is beloved of the citizens on account of her quiet work in behalf of the poor. Even the Catholics are aroused against the priest who has assumed to bar her from the benefits of her classes.

I am going to Washington for the purpose of doing my utmost to amicably arrange affairs."

These sheep had been summer-grazed in the Idaho and Wyoming mountains north of Cokeville and were being removed to the winter ranges of the Red desert in Wyoming when overtaken by the blizzard.

FIRST KIDNEY PILL MADE. THE ORIGINAL DISCOVERY. THE ONLY GENUINE.

Wm. H. NEIGHBORS, the well-known jeweler of West Main Street, Wytheville, Va., says: "Some four years ago an attack of grip settled in my back, and I have suffered off and on ever since with a dull, heavy aching across the small of my back, always more severe in the morning. It was difficult for me to stoop or straighten, and if I sat down for any length of time it was hard for me to arise. I took two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, and the dull, disagreeable aching left me."

H. B. MCCARVER of 201 Cherry Street, Portland, Oregon, inspector of freight cars for the Transcontinental Company, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills for backache and other symptoms of kidney trouble which had annoyed me for months. I think a cold was responsible for the whole trouble. It seemed to settle in my kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills rooted it out. It is several months since I used them, and up to date there has been no recurrence of the trouble."

Mrs. GEORGE WALLACE, Jr., of Elmira, N. Y., wife of George Wallace, broker, of West Water Street, and living at 667 Baldwin Street, says: "In March, 1897, I was cured of kidney and bladder trouble by Doan's Kidney Pills. My physician said at that time that my life could be saved only by an operation. Night after night I had been kept awake for hours at a time with terrible pain in my back, and the secretions from the kidneys were in as bad a state as possible. I suffered with hemorrhages frequently and was in a weak state. Four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills cured me, and I now gladly reendorse the remedy, because during the time which has since elapsed, nearly seven years, I have never had the slightest sign of a return of the trouble."

BANANAS, NOT PAJAMAS.

He Was Averse to the Subject, But When It Was Introduced Spoke His Mind.

Walter Camp, the athletic adviser of Yale university, was recently entertaining a gathering of his undergraduate friends with experiences of his own, says the New York Tribune.

He told of a dinner where a charming young woman was seated next to an exceedingly deaf old man. She had done her best to interest him, but had found it necessary to shout out each remark unto the third and fourth narration before the old man could catch the point.

So the time dragged along, till the dinner was waning and the fruit was passed. The young woman determined to make a final effort at being agreeable, so she threw her voice into saying:

"Do you like bananas?"

"How's that?" asked her neighbor, in a surprised tone.

"Do you like bananas?" she repeated.

"Well, my dear," he replied, "so long as you have introduced the topic, I will say that I much prefer the old-fashioned nightshirt."

"Well, Tommy, how are you getting on at school?" "First rate. I ain't doing so well as some of the other boys, though I can stand on my head; but I have to put my feet against the wall. I want to do it without the wall at all!"—Punch.

TRACING THE LEAKS.

How Important Treasury Information Gained Outside Circulation.

"I have stopped talking to you fellows about the plans of this department," bluntly declared Secretary Shaw to a newspaper friend the other day, reports the Capital. "I know, of course, that I can trust you, but I have learned that it is better not to talk to anybody when I am maturing an important movement. Now, take this last refunding operation of the treasury, involving $20,000,000. Why, man, I said nothing to anybody about that, and still news of it leaked out before I was ready for it."

"How did it get out?" asked the newspaper man.

The keen, gray eyes of the secretary of the treasury twinkled. He screwed up his face until it looked like a funny mask.

"That's what I'd like to know," he said. "Do you know," he went on to say, "since I come to think it over, I do remember that I wrote one letter about it."

"To whom?" insisted the inquisitorial journalist.

"To the president, sir; to the president, sir," exclaimed Mr. Shaw, "but I clean forgot to tell him to say nothing about it."

Sound Was Not Hollow.

Mr. Dennis was endeavoring to the best of his ability to give the doctor a faithful account of his wife's symptoms, but he found it uphill work.

"You say she has a cough," said the doctor. "Is it a hollow cough?"

Mr. Dennis cast his eyes to the ceiling and then down to the ground, but found no help anywhere.

"It may be a hollow cough," he said, humbly, "but there's a great substance to the sound of it, anyway."—Youth's Companion.
