Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Sheriff Lawrence and Charley Hinton led a long but fruitless chase after a horse thief last week, which, had the authorities at Bern, Kansas, been a little more careful, would have resulted in a capture.

Between 11 and 12 o'clock of the night of October 26 a horse was stolen from Ex-sheriff Wellman's barn north of Nebraska City. The sheriff of Otoe county notified Sheriff Lawrence about 2 o'clock in the morning and the sheriff called Hinton and got out on the robber's trail in remarkably short time. Four miles west of Auburn the buggy tracks made in the crystal frost extended to the south and the pursuing party followed this to Humboldt. The horse thief was just one hour's drive ahead of the sheriff. At Humboldt the sheriff changed teams and followed the track six miles farther. At this place the robber had procured his breakfast. From there the sheriff drove to Bern where the trail was lost by the melting of the frost. Telephones were used freely and the pursuing party drove on to Soldiers City and to Bancroft. Two mile north of Bancroft Sheriff Lawrence found that he was in close proximity to the thief. Word was sent ahead to Whitmore and the sheriff expected to apprehend his man there but in some way the thief evaded the authorities at that place and the pursuit had to be given up. The country in that locality is very rough and a robber stands little chance of being caught.

The sheriff and Hinton left Auburn at 3:15 a. m. Thursday and returned at 5 a. m. Saturday having traveled over 350 miles and changed teams three times. The robber drove 64 miles without feeding his horse. This is only one of numerous horse thefts in Otoe county and in only one case has a horse thief been caught. That was due to recklessness on the part of the thief.

The work of Sheriff Lawrence in this instance is particularly worthy of mention because of the persistence with which he kept at the pursuit when everything was in favor of the fugitive.—Auburn Republican.

Robbed the Grave

A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to take Electric Bitters; to my great joy the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c, guaranteed, at Keeling's drug store.

Roosevelt Wins Solid North And Breaks into the Solid South

Has 343 Electoral Votes All Republican

Roosevelt has a Million and a half Plurality of Popular Vote

Carries every Northern State and breaks in to Solid South

Missouri Republican

It was a landslide allright. New York, one of the so-called doubtful states, went for Roosevelt by 185,000, and the entire state ticket was elected.

Delaware, another doubtful state, goes for Roosevelt by 5,000. Utah by 8,000. Montana by 2,000, Colorado by 10,000, Wisconsin by 60,000, Illinois by 200,000, Indiana by 75,000, West Virginia by 5,000, New Jersey by 50,000, and Connecticut by 32,000—all classed as doubtful states.

Peabody, republican candidate for governor of Colorado, was defeated by about 10,000 plurality.

Roosevelt has 343 electoral votes and Parker 133. This may possibly be changed a little, as the result in Maryland is close.

On account of factional fights the democrats elected governors in Massachusetts and Minnesota.

In addition to all the states classed as republican and all classed as doubtful Roosevelt carries Nevada, and probably Maryland and Missouri, classed as sure democratic states.

He carries every northern state and breaks into the solid south.

At 8:30 Tuesday night Parker acknowledged his overwhelming defeat and sent a telegram of congratulation to Roosevelt.

Roosevelt will have a plurality of the popular vote of over a million and a half—the largest plurality ever received by a president.

Missouri gave Roosevelt a plurality of about 15,000. Folk, democratic candidate for governor, is elected by about 35,000. The republicans get the remainder of the state ticket, elect a majority of the legislature, thus insuring a republican successor to Senator Cockrell, and also elect eight congressmen, a gain of seven.

SCHOOL NOTES

"Make each day a critic on the last."—Pope.

Children have more need of models than of critics.

Wisdom is often nearer when we stoop than when we soar.

"Intelligence is the foundation of free government."—Ingersol.

Let us not forget the first number of our Lecture Course, Nov. 22.

Cases of measles in the primary room numbered fifteen this week.

We learn that every thing went republican at the school election Tuesday.

"There is no other educational institution equal to a well regulated home."

We expect our basket ball team will soon challenge the Lincoln high school before the season is over.

Cannot the morals and the manners of our children be changed by united effort of parents and teacher?

The intermediate room has taken up the study of artists and their works. They are now taking some of Sir Edwin Landseer's master pieces.

A number of our primary students have been having trouble with their eyes. Shall we attribute the cause to the measles or the zig-zag array of black spots on the walls?

The third grade have been keeping a careful weather report since Sept. 29 and the summary shows a difference of almost an hour's time in the length of the day since that day.

It seems the high school has caught the fever of nature study work but we wonder to what class would belong the lengthy specimen we noticed standing in the corner Monday evening.

How lame is the man at the plow without the horse likewise the scholar without tablet or pencil. Those parents are unreasonable who expect good results from non-supplied pupils.

The way to keep a man out of the mud is to blacken his boots. The man with polished shoes does not care where he walks. The school boy in blacking his boots is teaching himself self-respect.

While one boy is regretting his want of opportunities, his lack of means to get a college education, another with half his chance picks up a good education in the odds and ends of time which other boys throw away.

Winter fashions as set forth in The Designer for December are stylish and essentially practical. "Points on dress-making," a valuable department of the magazine, gives explicit directions for making fur collarettes and muffs of new design, and its sister department, "Lessons in Millinery," tells how to make an exquisite evening hat. The Designer caters to the woman who sews, and in addition to the above features contains this month novel Christmas gifts in which dainty needlework is a necessary factor. "Making Up for Private Theatricals" is an article which will be highly appreciated by amateur actors, who seldom pay sufficient attention to this very important part of the stage business, while "The Lady and the Lunch," the first installment of the valuable series, "In the Interest of Beauty," discourses on a subject too often treated with carelessness. "A Christmas Alphabet Supper" is an original idea for entertainment, and droll and pretty schemes for the presentation of gifts and decoration of the Yule tree are supplied in generous quantity. In fact the December Designer is just what a magazine should be at this season—brimful of good-will to all men, with a strong leaning toward the woman contingent.
