Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

This great stock medicine is a money saver for stock raisers. It is a medicine, not a cheap food or condition powder. Though put up in coarser form than Theford's Black-Draught, renowned for the cure of the digestion troubles of persons, it has the same qualities of invigorating digestion, stirring up the torpid liver and loosening the constipated bowels for all stock and poultry. It is carefully prepared and its action is so healthful that stock grow and thrive with an occasional dose in their food. It cures hog cholera and makes hogs grow fat. It cures chicken cholera and roup and makes hens lay. It cures constipation, distemper and colds in horses, murrain in cattle, and makes a draught animal do more work for the food consumed. It gives animals and fowls of all kinds new life. Every farmer and raiser should certainly give it a trial.

It costs 25c. a can and saves ten times its price in profit.

PITTSBURG, KAS., March 25, 1904.
I have been using your Black-Draught Stock and Poultry Medicine on my stock for some time. I have used all kinds of stock food but I have found that yours is the best for my purpose.

A warrant was issued Tuesday for the arrest of Herbert Chandler, of St Deroin precinct on the charge of wife desertion. Sheriff Lawrence has located his man and will undoubtedly bring him back with him. A law passed by the last legislature makes wife desertion a crime which can be heavily punished.—Auburn Herald.

Charles Anderson, manager of the Auburn Gold Mining company has returned to Mystic, S. D., after a visit here of several weeks. He was accompanied by James Hacker son of G. W. Hacker. The work of building the foundation for the pump will be completed this fall and other improvements will be made. Mr. Anderson expect to be back about the first of the year.—Auburn Herald

John I. Dressler says he can make better cereal coffee than Postum or any other like preparation. He takes about two-fifths wheat, two-fifths rye and one-fifth corn, parches each separately a good brown, being careful not to burn it, mixes and grinds it rather coarse, and then boils it the same as Postum. It make a fine drink and is much more wholesome than coffee or tea. If he has barley he puts in some of that. We are going to try it.

James R. Dye gave us a very pleasant call Saturday and showed us some photos of the "Dye Villa," in San Diego, California, where Mr. Dye makes his home. It is called "The Oddest House in America" and we believe merits its title. It has all kinds of oddities and queer contrivances, all invented and made by Mr. Dye, and all different from anything ever seen before. One photograph shows the platform in a tree 34 feet from the ground and connected with a railed walk to the house 34 feet away. This is so connected that persons can swing in the tree. A large bird cage or aviary is also shown, with a tunnel of screen wire to another cage containing a large glass dish full of fresh water for bathing. One curiosity is a limb of a weeping eucalyptus tree that is only one inch in diameter where it leaves the tree and yet it stretched out 34 feet. It is only four years old. There are almost innumerable curiosities in and about the house, and hundreds of people are attracted by the reports of the many oddities. It is classed as one of the places tourists should not fail to see, and all receive a hearty welcome from Mr. Dye.

His many Nemaha friends will be pleased to learn that Mr. Dye's health, which was very poor when he went to California ten years ago, has improved wonderfully, and he feels like a young man again. We hope he will remain with us for many years.

Work upon the new chapel in course of construction at the State Normal school at Peru is progressing rapidly. The brick work is being pushed steadily and the building will loom up in a few weeks.

Preparations for the dedication of the new chapel at the spring commencement are being made upon a large scale. This will be a rally day for the school, a pioneer day as well. Governor Mickey and other state officers will be present. Superintendent Davidson of the Omaha schools will be there and Professor McKinzie, the venerable pioneer teacher, the first president of the Peru Normal will be the guest of honor. The faculty and students will make every possible effort to secure the presence of every alumni of the school upon that occasion.—Auburn Republican.

In one of State Superintendent Fowler's circulars, dated Oct. 1, 1904, we find the following item:

A complaint has reached this office relative to the course and conduct of Superintendent Carrington of Nemaha county. It seems he visited one of his schools one afternoon last month, and finding the school room in a dirty condition, he sent the teacher and the smaller children home and with the aid of the older ones "scrubbed out." The board members were indignant, but the complaint was turned down. Hurrah for Carrington! That reminds me of a story of Dan Stephens, of Fremont. Some twelve years ago or more, when he was superintendent of Dodge county, he found a school house with a very dirty floor. He asked the teacher for an explanation. "Why," said the man, "I sweep out every week, and one week I swept twice, but it was no better." "Your certificate," said Dan, "is hereby revoked."

AUBURN LOCALS.

Rev. E. P. Hammond of Hartford, Conn., the Children's Evangelist, held a series of meetings at the Presbyterian church closing Sunday night.

Rev. E. M. Laycock, missionary-apostolic of the Diocese of Charleston S. C. is, conducting a mission in this city that is of great interest.

George Vanover formerly of this city is reported insane. The cause of his insanity is believed to be grief and melancholy caused by the death of his wife.

Mrs. Peter Berlet was kicked on the knee by a horse which became unmanageable while she was driving it on Monday, and it is feared the knee cap fractured.

The Methodists held their first services in the New Opera house Sunday. They will probably continue to hold service there until the completion of their new church.

The cadets gave an excellent play at the opera house last Saturday night. Clark Dort who had a part in it, accidentally stabbed himself with a bayonet just before the curtain was lifted. The wound although not serious, was sufficiently so to compel him to let another take his place in play.

Take the wagonette when in Auburn if you want to go to any part of the city. John McElhaney prop.

SCHOOL NOTES

There isn't a pure, sweet, noble-minded person in the world who is doing nothing, saying nothing, thinking nothing for the betterment of humanity.

"Do your pupils monopolize the sidewalk, walking four or more abreast on their way to and from school? Can you teach them to do better? Is it not worth while?" State Supt. Fowler in a circular letter.

The Physical Geography class employed some of the evening of last Monday studying the heavens. Tho it was partly cloudy they were able to see several different constellations and two of the planets.

"As a rule our pupils take a pride in keeping not only the building but also their desks clean and unmarked."—Blair Pilot School Notes. The above quotation would apply well to our school especially the part referring to the school building.

The intermediate and primary departments will give a joint program after recess, Friday, Dec. 23. There will also be a program given in the high school at the same time. Parents and interested patrons are cordially invited to be present.

The teachers of Nemaha Schools will visit Auburn Schools Friday to take notes and compare work with them. It has been said that "Teachers * * * who have not visited are like people who never travel." Nemaha school board do not want their teachers to be so handicapped.

It is a noticeable thing that he who cannot work without a "boss" never accomplishes much for himself or anyone else. The foundation for this independent work should be laid in the school room. The "boss" is the thinker, the planner for his men. So one of our great objects should be to make thinkers, independent thinkers of the pupils. In other words, "The aim of the teacher should be to make himself useless." This should also be the aim of the pupil, "To make the teacher useless."

Will you pardon another extract from Blair School Notes? Judging from demands made upon young men and women by the business world when they enter its school, I am constrained to say that the habits boys and girls form, while attending school, are of as much value as the things they learn from books. Have you ever thought what it means to a pupil to be attending to the business of going to school so closely that he will be in his place exactly on time, every day, for the entire school year? We have pupils in school (at Blair) now who haven't been tardy or absent for ten years. The habit these pupils must have formed of attending strictly to the business in hand appeals stronger to the business world than what we learn from their books. Parents in a way, appreciate this fact, but not all parents, for if they did some of our pupils would certainly be more regular in their attendance. Why not appeal to the boys and girls themselves?

WM. CAMPBELL, Pres.

J. R. Dye is very enthusiastic over the climate of southern California. They tell a story on him that may not be true. He was showing a tourist around and the man expressed surprise regarding the luxuriant growth and beautiful foliage, and asked what caused the growth. "Climate, my dear Sir, the climate" responded Mr. Dye. Then the tourist spoke of the wonderful preservation of some old buildings. "All in the climate," answered Mr. Dye. The beauty and complexion of the ladies was referred to. Again Mr. Dye said: "All in the climate." Finally the fellow's attention was attracted to a mountain in the distance, and he inquired of Mr. Dye how he could get to the top of the mountain. "Climb it," said Mr. Dye. The man told his friends he never met with such a man to talk climate.
