Mr. Hull of Alma, Nebr., was in Nemaha Friday working up interest in a farmers' institute for Nemaha Arrangements have been made for a session on Thursday, February 9. See program in another column. It is hoped our farmers will take an interest in the institute, as it will undoubtedly be of great practical benefit to them.

Charles Conover, of St Deroin precinct, was arrested Saturday on a serious charge. It is alleged that he committed a criminal assault on Minnie Keithley, aged sixteen years. He is eighteen years old. Conover is locked up in the county jail and will have his preliminary hearing in the county court a week from next Tuesday.—Auburn Herald.

Dr. Gaither knows just how cold the water in the Nemaha river was Tuesday. He had been out to Wm. Mead's and walked back, taking a short cut. As he went to step on the ice to cross the Nemaha river his feet slipped and down he went. Next to the bank the river was not frozen for a few inches and the doctor's feet went under the ice and he got wet above the knees. He had to walk about two miles before he got home, but experienced no bad effects except that he was a little stiff the next day.

Nemaha county will soon be neted for publications of different kinds. While we have no dailies, we have some of the very best weeklies in the state. In addition to the usual local papers, we have the Beobachter, a German paper published at South Auburn. The Nemaha County Magazine a bright monthly, is published at South Auburn at the Herald office, and the same establishment also prints the Crozier, the official organ of the Episcopal church in Nebraska. Scarlet and Green, the monthly published by the Auburn high school, is also printed at the Herald office. The Nemaha County Teacher, edited by Supt. Carrington, is printed at the Republican office. Now the Peru Pointer publishers have started the Normal Journal. It is a very neat monthly and the publishers are deserving of credit for their enterprise.

Monarch

MALLEABLE

The 'Stay Satisfactory' Range

The question is not how low the cost of making can go, but how good Monarchs can be made, regardless of cost. Special work done by special men, and the large number produced, account for the surprisingly low price, considering quality.

All sizes, different arrangements for city or country homes, also for hotels and public institutions. Are as saving and satisfactory after years of use as at the beginning.

Sold by Edwards & Bradford Lbr. Co.

Elmer E. Allen has been living the strenuous life part of this week. He has been overseeing the ice cutting, getting up in the morning shortly after four o'clock, and staying at the riverside most of the day. He says the ice business is probably all right in the glad old summer time but he prefers being a banker during the winter

Nemaha county has several oddly named newspapers in the list of publications. The Nemaha Advertiser, Auburn Republican and Herald, Johnson News and the Brock Bulletin are common enough names, but the Auburn Granger, the Beobachter of the same place, the Peru Pointer and the Brownville Letter are names seldom seen as headings for newspapers.

Miss Hazel Anderson, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Anderson of Auburn, died at her home last Saturday, from typhoid fever. Miss Hazel was bright and loveable, just blooming into womanhood. The love felt for her was shown by the number of her young friend and schoolmates who attended the funeral services, which were held at the home Monday at 11 o'clock. A number of her Nemaha friends were present. Her bereaved parents have our sympathy in their sorrow.

Are you a judge of beef cattle? If so, you should read the article on "The Modern Type of Beef Animal," by Leslie Smith, of St. Cloud, Minn., in this week's Homestead. If not you should read it anyhow and get this able expert's views. Mr. Smith pronounces four or five breeds equally good and names as such Shorthorns, Herefords, Aberdeen Angus and Galloways. He regards climatic adaptation as important and insists on uniform laying on of flesh. He lays down all the points in judging beef cattle and also defects to be avoided. He regards easy feeding and quick maturing animals as best and warns against feeding too long. "Get the best breed," he says, "and breed right, feed right and prosperity will be yours." Such articles as these every week have made The Homestead the great farm journal of America. It should be in every farm home in Nebraska county, and it will not be the fault of the Advertiser if it is not. We shall be glad to order it for you.

Grave Trouble Foreseen

It needs but little foresight, to tell that when your stomach and liver are badly affected, grave trouble is ahead, unless you take the proper medicine for your disease, as Mrs. John A. Young [of Clay, N. Y. did. She says: "I had neuralgia of the liver and stomach, my heart was weakened, and I could not eat. I was very bad for a long time, but in Electric Bitters, I found just what I needed, for they quickly relieved and cured me." Best medicine for weak women. Sold under guarantee by W. W. Keeling, druggist, at 50c a bottle.

One of the peculiar coincidences connected with the suicide of Henry Meisner, at Johnson, last week, was the fact that he bought the shotgun with which he killed himself from Fritz Wilkening, who is connected with the Edwards & Bradford lumber yard at Graf.

Last year Mr. Wilkening was located at Nemaha, and while there he sold a revolver to Davy Carroll, the man that shot Ann Maxwell and then killed himself at Nemaha, nearly a year ago. Carroll paid Mr. Wilkening $12.50 for the weapon. Last week at Graf, Henry Meisner purchased a double-barreled shotgun from the same party with the evident intent of killing his wife and children and then putting an end to himself, but failed in the first part of his program.

Meisner paid the same price for the weapon he purchased as did Carroll $12.50. Mr. Wilkening is not in the firearm business, these being the only weapons he has sold in his life and that the two should be used for self destruction is quite unusual.

The thing seems so uncanny to him that he has determined to never again sell a weapon of any kind to another as he thinks his firearms are likely to be hood dooed.—Auburn Herald.
