Dr. B. F. Lorange of Auburn stopped in Nemaha a short time Wednesday forenoon. The doctor was on his way to Shubert to examine an old soldier for an increase of pension and stopped long enough to shake hands with a few of his old friends.

The Nemaha ball club went across the river Sunday and played a game with the Missouri boys, but are not saying much about it. The score stood 13 to 15 in favor of Missouri. Both sides must have got tired running. It reminded old timers of former days.

A. L. Allen and Hoxie Howe of Auburn were in Nemaha a short time Thursday evening in the interest of the chautauqua, of which Mr. Allen is secretary, and the Fourth of July celebration at Auburn. They came in Mr. Howe's automobile, and started for home through the rain.

Walter Hadlock cut down and worked up the big maple tree that stood in front of the former postoffice building, this week. He got I. N. Thursday of last week Mrs. Theo. Hill discovered a small snake on the inside of one window of her millinery parlors. She cried for help and the snake was killed in short order. Her sister, Miss Myrtle Jones, was elected in her place at a meeting of the board Tuesday night. She is an experienced teacher and has given good satisfaction wherever she has taught.

DIVORCED AND MARRIED AGAIN
Chas. A. Curtis and Mrs. Elvira Banks were married Thursday evening of last week at the home of the pastor, in Nemaha, by Rev. J. W. Sapp. The happy couple were married several years ago but after living together a few years decided that marriage in their case was a failure, and so dissolved the partnership, Mrs. Curtis getting a divorce and taking back her former name of Banks. But after a separation of two or three years they have decided to try it again. Evidently in their case absence caused their hearts to grow fonder, and they were not satisfied until they once more became one.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE

Last Saturday evening Uncle Jimmy Rains, who makes his home with Wm. Mead, attempted to commit suicide by taking morphine. He took almost all of an eighth of an ounce bottle full, but the large dose caused him to vomit and part of it was thrown off. He is used to taking morphine, so it did not have the effect it otherwise would have had, and his life was saved. Mr. Rains suffers terribly from bone rheumatism on one leg and a cancer on his face, and tried to put an end to his life on this account. It is thought he will recover from the effects of the dose.

A BAD FALL

James M. Burns got an ugly fall last Saturday afternoon. He was working on the cornice of the opera house and in rising to change his position he caught hold of a loose board and this caused him to lose his balance and fall to the ground, a distance of about ten feet. He struck on his shoulders and was badly bruised. At first it was thought he was dangerously if not fatally injured, but it is now thought he will be out in a short time, though he is suffering severely and spitting blood. It was a hard fall and he will feel the effects of it for some time.

L. O. Kyes was kicked and instantly killed by a horse yesterday afternoon about one o'clock when engaged in trimming its hoofs. When kicked he uttered a cry, which was heard by his wife, and she hastened to him, finding him lying in the barn just behind the horse. The animal had kicked him on the right side of the head at the base of the skull, and left the imprint of its hoof. There was also a mark below the right eye and the cheek was somewhat skinned and bruised. This, however, is supposed to be caused by striking against something as he fell. Dr. Montgomery was called, but nothing could be done as death was instantaneous.—Stella Press.

An Auburn correspondent gives the following account of the scrap last week between two of our "prominent citizens."

AUBURN, Neb., June 20.—The usually quiet little village of Nemaha was thrown into excitement and consternation one day last week when two of her prominent citizens attempted to adjust a dispute by means of the mosaic system of casting stones at each other and Monday afternoon there appeared before County Judge McCarty, John Leslie and Jacob Shuck, charged with assault and battery with intent to do great bodily harm. The case was continued thirty days and all is quiet on the banks of the Missouri in the neighborhood of Nemaha.

T. H. Jones from near Howe tells us that his farm (Maple Ridge) is for sale and about October he expects to sell his horses, cattle, farm implements and household goods. On account of Mrs. Jones having the asthma the doctors say she must change climate going to a higher altitude. For this reason Oliver, their youngest son, is coming home from Chicago in July instead of keeping on with his music as he intended to do. Oliver is now a graduate in harmony and composition in music, receiving 98½ per cent average for his year's studies, of which they feel very proud. His ten month's term is out the last of June but he will visit his uncle and friends in Ohio before he comes home.

FIRE AT TITUS NURSERY

Last Thursday night the office and packing shed of the Titus Nursery burned to the ground. The fire was discovered between 10 and 11 o'clock. At this time the roof and walls were about to fall in and nothing could be saved. In addition to the building there was considerable material for making boxes, berry crates, and other stuff of that nature that was burned. The mailing list that has been gathered together as a result of much work, advertising, etc., was also burned. This alone is a serious loss as it will take a long time and much work to get it again. The building was 16x40 feet in size. Fortunately the books and the typewriter were at the house and were thus saved. It is not known how the fire caught. No matches were allowed about the building, and no one had been in it so far as is known after about 7:30. There was considerable lightning earlier in the evening and it is possible it might have been struck by lightning. Wes Clark was getting home from the country after ten o'clock and saw the fire. He woke Frank Titus and they got on the horses and rode up to the nursery, getting there just after Nat Titus and Eddie Maxwell got out. These were the first ones there, but nothing could be done except to keep the fire from spreading to other buildings.

The loss was about $3,000, in addition to that of the mailing list. There was $500 insurance of the building and $1000 on stock, but this included nursery stock, none of which was in the building at the time of the fire. The Farmers Mutual of Nemaha county, in which company the insurance was held, paid $983—all that was claimed. G. N. Titus informs us he will probably rebuild but is yet uncertain as to the size of the building.

Parties who are thinking of tenting during Chautauqua can rest assured that on the Auburn grounds, from July 22 to 30, there need be no fear of high water or damp and muddy grounds, as the Chautauqua park is high and dry and a hour of sunshine after the heaviest rain thoroughly dries the grounds. Tents and cots may be procured in advance by applying to the secretary. The talent that's been engaged for the Auburn Chautauqua is surpassed by none. Robert McIntyre, DeWitt Miller, John R. Clark, Dr. John M. Driver, Dr. A. R. Lambert, D. D. Ph. D., Mrs. Eleanor Bingham, Pitt Parker, Dr. E. B. McDowell are all of national reputation as orators and entertainers. Jubilee Singers and the Dunbar Co. Male Quartette and Bell Ringers are two of the best musical organizations that travel. The management have spared no money in order to obtain the very best talent possible.

Under the provision of the new fish and game law of Missouri, which became effective June 16, women are permitted to decorate their hats with birds of only a few species. By the enforcement of the law many thousands of dollars' worth of forbidden feathers and bird bodies in wholesale and retail stores in Kansas City, St. Joseph and St. Louis will become contraband. Only the feathers of domestic birds, such as ostrich, chickens and ducks may be used, while the wild birds allowed milliners are confined to English sparrows, hawks, horned owls and crows.

The law plainly prohibits a woman from wearing into the state a hat bearing a prohibited bird. The hat may be the only one she has, but unless she cares to face a fine of from $25 up, she must leave it outside the borders. Women will have to consider their toilets before they visit Missouri, or find themselves reckoned with the criminal class.
