Roy Scott went to Auburn Monday to visit his brother

Joe Bunker went to Omaha Monday, returning Tuesay night.

Edwards & Bradford just received a car load of bridge lumber.

So far as we have heard, no one in Nemaha got hurt on the Fourth.

Our fisherman are having fine luck lately, and are catching lots of fish.

Mamouth pottery ware at Edwards & Bradford Lbr. Co.

White Lily washer, the best made at Edwards & Bradford Lbr. Co.

Curt Brown went to Pawnee City last Saturday to visit friends for a few days.

Peter Kerker went to Pawnee City Monday to spend the 4th, returning Wednesday.

Miss Eliza Farson came down from Brownville Monday, returning Tuesday afternoon

Miss Vera Minick of Bracken visited her aunt, Mrs Lillian Allen, from Saturday until Monday.

Reed's anti-rust tinware, guaranteed not to rust, at Edwards & Bradford Lbr. Co.

Mrs. E. A. Minick who has been visiting her son, O. L. Minick, near Bracken, returned home Saturday evening.

Misses May Kerker, Nora Aynes, Anna Knapp, Ella Shiveley and Maud Burns visited Auburn Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mrs. W. H. Rider is quite sick again. She was dangeously sick about two weeks ago, but got better, but is now worse again.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Titus went to Syracuse Saturday to visit A. R. Titus and wife for a few days. They returned Wednesay.

Lew Argabright, who is assisting at the South Auburn depot, visited home over Sunday. He had been helping at Peru for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Tillman of Union, Nebr., arrived in Nemaha Saturday evening to visit J. D. Drumm and family for a few days.

The voters of Brock evidently want a new school house, as at the last attempt at voting bonds the proposition carried by a vote of 41 to 1.

Mrs. J. C. Boyd and Miss Dottie Boyd of Aspinwall precinct went to Omaha Saturday to spend the fourth with their daughter and sister.

Elmer E. Allen went to Nebraska City Monday afternoon, and the next morning went to Weeping Water, returning home Tuesday evening.

The town was pestered with a band of Gypsy fortune tellers Thursday, but they did not remain long. They evidently could not find many suckers.

Dressmaking

Mrs. J. E. Crother requests to inform her friends and patrons she is now prepared to cut and fit to order.

Hon. F. G. Hawxby came in from Auburn Monday afternoon, and took the evening freight for Shubert, where he delivered the Fourth of July oration Tuesday.

John Webber had hard luck getting his wheat cut. He had in 140 acres and his machine kept breaking so he did not get it all cut until the first of this week. He will have a new machine next year.

We have sent out statements to a number of our subscribers this week. We need the money bad and hope all will respond. More statements will be sent out in a few days.

It has been a long time since the voters of the First district had a chance to send a real farmer to congress. Mr. Pollard never conducted any other kind of a business.—Johnson News.

Dr. A. L. Stiers was shaking hands with Nemaha friends Thursday. The doctor is now located at Brock. He drove down Wednesday to visit his brother, John B. Stiers, for a few days.

Agent Wheeldon reports selling 22 tickets for Nebraska City on the excursion Tuesday morning. Several more went to the city in the afternoon. About 35 went to Auburn on the train.

Auburn now has over half of the county officers, besides a district judge and yet insist on having more at the next election. They ask for every one of the county officers to be elected this fall.

As Ole Roberts was returning from Auburn Tuesday night one of his horses got off a bridge. Ole had to get in mud and water up to his knees, with his good clothes on, to rescue tee horse, which was hurt some but not seriously.

J. M. West opened his first kiln of brick Wednesday. The brick are of fine quality, good color, well burned, and in every way satisfactory. There is now no reason for sending away from Nemaha for brick, unless the demand exceed the supply.

The new inebriate law went into effect July 1. A habitual drunkard can now be sent to the asylum and treated for that disease. The county sending him pays $15 to begin with, and then additional amounts according to the time it takes to cure the fellow.

Many of those who drove to Auburn to celebrate the Fourth got caught in the rain at night. It began raining here about 11:30. The night was very dark but we have learned of no serious accidents. Some of those returning from Nebraska City, on the excursion, also got wet.

The democratic candidate for congress says he will support President Boosevelt in some ways. But if the democratic caucus would say different, Mr. Brown would vote according to the caucus—if he should happen to be elected. Mr. Pollard will vote with the President and support him in all his measures—and he will be elected.

John J. Green, who sold his farm near Nemaha about five years ago and moved to Oklahoma, arrived in Nemaha Saturday afternoon and says he has come back here to live the remainder of his life. He says he wouldn't trade ten acres of Nemaha county land for a quarter section of Oklahoma land although he says they raise good crops there when they get rain.

Old settlers will say that they have never known a crop failure in Nebraska when July came in with an abundance of moisture. In the nature of things a change from the wet seasons that have recently prevailed is to be expected, but it does not appear to be coming this year. A bumper corn crop seems about to be added unto all of our other blessings.—State Journal.

When you see it published that the republicans are kicking on Pellard, look and see if it is not a democratic paper making the report. The only kick we have heard of has been in democratic papers. If our democratic friends like their corporation candidate better than they do the republican farmer, that is their privilege. Republicans are fully satisfied with the republican candidate for congress. He stands squarely on the republican congressional platform, and will support the president in every measure advocated by the administration.—Sterling Semi-Weekly Sun.

Married—At the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Snyder, east of Auburn, Nebraska, on Thursday evening, June 29, 1905, by the Rev. W. Dieffenbach, Mr. John A. Mayer to Miss Bertha E. Snyder, both of Nemaha county.

Nemaha is being recognized by the state papers as the home of statemen and leading men in all callings and professions. The Lincoln Star recently had a half column interview with the "pioneer farmer", F. L. Woodward and the Lincoln News followed with G. N. Titus, "one of the prominent republicans of the county". It is now time for V. P. Peabody to get before the public.

W. S. Maxwell was presented a few days ago with a Nebraska grown orange. It was grown by Mrs. J. F. Ebnother at her home in Aspinwall. The tree is several years old. Last year it bore one orange but this year has a number. The oranges are full grown, good size and have the appearance of oranges shipped from the south. But we judge orange growing would not prove very profitable in Nebraska.

Saturday was the first of the open season for wild pigeons, doves and plover. It lasts for a month, the legislature having cut off August in order to make a break between the open season for these birds and that for grouse and prairie chickens. The latter was made to begin September 1, and the persons in charge of the bill felt that the privilege of shooting plover in August might be made the covert for illegal chicken shooting.

The following officers were elected at the Methodist Sunday school last Sunday:
Superintendent—Mrs. Lillian Allen.
Assistant—Dr. W. W. Keeling.
Secretary—Lulu Cooper.
Assistant—Avis Carse.
Treasurer—Mrs. W. G. Maxwell.
Librarian—Lena Maxwell.
Assistant—Neva Russell.
Organist—Avis Carse.
Assistant—Geneva West.

As usual, the Fourth was celebrated very quietly in Nemaha. Many of our citizens went to Nebraska City on the excursion, many more went to Auburn others to Shubert, and some to other places, while those who wanted to spend a quiet day stayed at home. In the evening there was a display of fireworks by a number of our citizens. Our merchants disposed of all of their fireworks and could have sold more.

Miss Maye Gaither had her left hand badly cut and bruised a few days ago. She started to draw a bucket of water. One bucket was off the rope. The other bucket was full of water and Miss Maye started to let it down in the well. It got a good start before she saw the other bucket was off, and when she tried to stop it her hand was drawn up against the wheel, cutting one finger and bruising the hand. Dr. Keeling dressed it. She will have a very sore hand for some time.

The following officers of Bena lodge, No. 166, Daughters of Rebekah, were installed Wednesday night by Mrs. Annie Maxwell, district deputy:
P. G.—May Gilbert.
N. G.—Dora Clark.
V. G.—Minnie May.

L S N G—Annie Maxwell.
I. G.—Belle Dressler.
O. G.—Belle Barker.
R S V G—Emilie McCandless.
L S V G—Stella Washburn.
After lodge adjourned ice cream and cake was served.

We will send the Advertiser, the weekly Lincoln State Journal, the Iowa Homestead, the Farm Gazette and the Homemaker, all one year for only $1.50. The regular price of these papers is $3.25.

We are having plenty of rain these days.

The rain Tuesday night was accompanied with a hard wind that made some of our citizens think of taking to the cyclone cave.

A dispatch from Lincoln says: County assessors must tax saloon licenses as valuable franchises, according to the opinion rendered by Attorney General Brown, in answer to a query from Pawnee county. It must be decided by the county assessors themselves as to whether the licenses are to be valued at the amount of the license fee capitalized on the net earnings of the saloons. Many declare that a saloon license is of more value in certain communities than in others because of its earning capacity.

BESSIE WASHBURN, Leader.

Now that the supreme court has delivered the solar plexis to the biennial election law republican candidates are springing up all over the county for the fat snaps at the court house. The fusionists seem weighted down by antipathy and that tired feeling which comes from several unsuccessful campaigns.

There will be no opposition to the renomination of the present county treasurer, D. J. A. Dirks, nor to Geo. D. Carrington, county superintendent, both have made fine records in the administration of their offices and it is extremely doubtful if the opposition can find any one to run against them.

For county clerk there promises to be a pretty race. Elsie Redfern of Glen Rock, J. P. Gillilan of Peru, Frank Titus, of Nemaha, and J. M. Wright, of Douglas, have shied their castors in the ring and are eager for the fray. The demo-pops are out scouring the country with Bon-Ami in a hopeless search for a candidate.

The office of sheriff is eyed with longing by Fred Rohrs, of Douglas, Will Russell, of Nemaha and it is said that Abe Lawrence will not take to the woods if the convention would name him. The democrats appear to have two candidates both in Douglas. One is John R. Daugherty and the other Will Jones.

For county judge M. S. McIninch is the only active candidate. John S. McCarty, the present fusion incumbent of this office, has signified his willingness to indorse all candidates on the "rascals" ticket except their nominee for this job. From this even a blind deaf-mute could infer that the versatile judge wants to succeed himself.

The county convention will probably be held near the first of September depending considerably on the time of the state convention. It is thought that only one convention will be necessary in this county.—Republican.
