

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

The Dodging Period

of a woman's life is the name often given to "change of life." Your menses come at long intervals, and grow scantier until they stop. The change lasts three or four years, and causes much pain and suffering, which can, however, be cured, by taking

WINE OF CARDUI

Woman's Refuge in Distress
 It quickly relieves the pain, nervousness, irritability, miscableness, fainting, dizziness, hot and cold flashes, weakness, tired feeling, etc. Cardui will bring you safely through this "dodging period," and build up your strength for the rest of your life. Try it.
 You can get it at all druggists in $1.00 bottles.

"EVERYTHING BUT DEATH I suffered," writes Virginia Robson, of Easton, Md., "until I took Cardui, which cured me so quickly it surprised my doctor, who didn't know I was taking it."

Miss Georgia A. Burns, of Oklahoma, is the youngest woman ranch owner in this country. She is owner and manager of 11,000 acres, comprising the Arrow Heart cattle ranch, and she recently leased for ninety-nine years 100,000 acres of oil and mineral lands in the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations. Miss Burns not only manages her ranch with ability, but spends much of her time in the saddle and can shoot and rope cattle with as great dexterity and skill as any of the thirty cowboys regularly in her employ.

Of the million immigrants who have entered the country since last harvest, not less than a third are able bodied laborers. Notwithstanding, the farmers of the great wheat belt, particularly Kansas, are many thousands short of the number of men needed properly to care for the ripening grain. A New York paper asserts that there are enough idle men in New York city to harvest the Kansas wheat crop. The Kansas employment bureau asserts that nothing but railroad fares stands between these New York unemployed and the employment of the Kansas wheat fields.—Ex.

THE OLD HONESTY AND THE NEW

It is the fashion nowadays to deplore the general want of moral principle and to lament lugubriously the decline of old-fashioned honesty.

But, really how about the old-fashioned honesty?

It is always easy to see a saint in a dead reative, just as it is easy to see a statesman in a dead politician. Grandfathers' virtues, like grandfathers' clocks, may be a badge of respectability, but in our own day they are not always in good running order. Our forefathers were no better than we are—indeed, to judge from the criticism of their contemporaries, they were a good deal worse.

The world in which old-fashioned honesty lived was singularly uncomplicated. Smith knew Jones and Jones knew Smith, and if the one did not cheat the other there was a chance that each would die in the odor of respectability. Individualism set the limits to old-fashioned honesty.

We need this individualistic honesty today, and we have it. But we need today a much bigger sort of honesty—an honesty which sees that our obligations are set not alone by our relations with each other, but also by our relations with municipalities and states, with a nation and a world.

Such honesty is not any too common, but it is growing.

Men have gone down to their mausoleums labeled honest millionaires who were directors in corporations whose methods would bring blushes to the cheeks of a confidence man. According to the standard of old-fashioned honesty there was nothing to be said against these honest millionaires. But from the point of view of the new honesty they are thieves, though they robbed legally.

One does not need to be an academic optimist to see the beginnings of this new-fashioned honesty.

We are doing the best we can to shape up laws which will express a new social conscience.

Morality is always a generation or two ahead of legality.

The number of offenses against the moral and legal codes is increasing enormously.

Moral principle never cut so large a figure in the affairs of this American people as it does now.

Our godly ancestors had one moral quality where we have twenty.

It never occurred to them that a lottery was wrong, or that it was wicked to drink rum, or to whip a child or a wife, or to enslave the black man and cheat and debauch the red man.

Nine out of ten of the little conscientious niceties of life are discoveries of the last fifty years. More societies to do all sorts of good and work all kinds of reforms were created in the last two generations than had been formed or thought of before from the beginning of the world.—Omaha News.

The Omaha Commercial Club

The Omaha commercial club has made its promised visit, and Nemaha has reason to be proud of the way the visitors were entertained and the appreciation manifested by the visitors. The train was a little late in getting here. When it arrived the commercial men, headed by the band, marched to the opera house, where dinner was promptly served. There were 132 of the visitors and all were seated at the same time and were served expeditiously. They pronounced it the best meal they had had since they left Omaha. In most places everything was cold, but the dinner served in Nemaha was hot, and there was plenty of fried chicken, new potatoes, peas, string beans, etc., besides all kinds of good things to eat. As the men had not eaten anything since 6 o'clock in the morning, and it was after 1 when they got here, they were good and hungry. There were plenty of waiters, so all were served promptly.

After dinner the members of the commercial club took in the business portion of the town, calling on the business men and getting acquainted. They are a pleasant set of fellows and made many friends. They are a jolly set of fellows and out for a good time as well as to make business.

When the procession arrived at the opera house the doors were thrown open and the tables loaded with food were seen reaching almost the full length of the room. A portrait of President Roosevelt was hanging outside over the door, and when this was seen the commercial men took off their hats and gave cheers for Roosevelt and Nemaha.

A big banner was stretched across the street from the livery barn to the public well, on which was painted "Welcome, Omaha Boosters."

The commercial men say everything was better arranged, dinner was served the most promptly and with the least confusion, the dinner was the best and everything was planned and carried out the best of any place on the trip. They were all warm in their praise of Nemaha.

Mayor Dahlman and ex-Congressman Hitchcock, editor of the World Herald, were among the guests.

The ladies aid societies of the Methodist and Christian churches provided the dinner, and after feeding the 132 guests there was enough left to feed a small army. Many of our citizens eat there. Probably 300 or 350 people ate, and then great quantities were taken home. Nemaha beats the world for getting up good dinners, and as Frank Woodward says, can feed the world—provided of course that they do not all come at once.

At Auburn, Shubert and other places the travelers were told that Nemaha could not feed them—that they might get a small lunch but that would be all. So the men were a little surprised and greatly pleased at the reception given them. They will never have any doubt of Nemaha's ability to feed any number of people and do it well and expeditiously.

J. C. Buchanan, a genuine Scotchman played the bagpipes in fine style, and attracted attention from all. He was especially interesting to Scotchmen. He was dressed in the regular plaids, with kilts and bare knees.

The Huster band is a good one.

Nemaha will be glad to see the Omaha commercial club again and will try to entertain them. The members are all jolly good fellows.

It is reported the Atchison county Mo., dyke, built some three miles below Hamburg, was swept away Monday night by the storm and that the low land in that neighborhood is inundated. This dyke was built to keep out the Missouri river and also for the purpose of throwing the waters of the Nishna into the Missouri river instead of sending it through the old channel of the river. The breaking of this dyke means that the Missouri river has gone back into its old channel and the Nishna will continue its old course by way of Phelps and Langdon. The change will be an expensive one to the land owners.—Neb. City News.

Only 1,700 harvest hands have been sent to the various Kansas counties by the free employment bureau and its agents when the state required more than 22,000 men to handle the wheat harvest.

Following the Flag
 When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at Hill Bros. druggists. Price 50c and $1.00.
