

We had a good rain Tuesday night.

Mrs. J. S. Hadlock returned to St. Joe Tuesday.

We have been having some extremely warm weather.

By an oversight the date of last week's paper was not changed.

The Christian ladies aid society took dinner with Mrs. Harry Kimmel Wednesday.

Whooping cough has been raging among the children in Nemaha but none have been very sick.

F. L. Woodward went to Beatrice and Wymore Tuesday to look after some harvesting being done on the Carson land.

Mrs. J. H. Vanderslice and children are visiting with E. B. Sperry and family, in Aspinwall precinct, during the absence of Mr. Vanderslice.

J. C. Killarney took a number of our citizens riding in his fine new automobile last Saturday, the editor being one thus favored. All resolved that the automobile was the stuff and that they would buy one as soon as possible.

When the north portion of Auburn learned that the southsiders were going to celebrate, they rushed around and raised money to have a celebration, and the southsiders then gave way, so the celebration will be on the north side, as usual.

It has been suggested that one day in each week be designated as cleaning up day in Nemaha, when the trash that will collect be gathered in piles, especially in the business part of town, and hauled away. The suggestion is a good one and we hope will be carried out.

At the dinner Friday of last week $97.56 was taken in, and as everything was donated, no charge even being made for the opera house, it was all clear gain. Each society got $48.78 as their share. They desire to thank all who assisted, and especially F. L. Woodward and Elmer E. Allen for the use of the opera house.

The Stella people make a big offer for the Fourth. They offer $100 in cash to the couple who will get married at the celebration, and all the merchants promise to make liberal presents. This is a fine opportunity for some enterprising young couple.

Later—the celebration has fallen through with and the offer has been withdrawn.

The editor of the Advertiser has a few apples yet that are good and sound at the last of June—almost time for early apples. Last fall we laid in a supply of genitans—about the only kind we could get—put them in the cave in boxes and barrels, had apples all winter and still have a few. No extra care of any kind was taken, and they were not even sorted over until late in the spring.

Annual School Meeting

The annual school meeting was held at the school house Monday night. The attendance was smaller than usual, only 17 voters being present. After the reading and approval of the minutes, treasurer's and director's reports there was some discussion about school matters. The reports showed that the district was out of debt for the first time in its history probably—the first time any one here remembers of, anyway—and had on hand $571.29.

According to the census there are 143 children of school age in the Nemaha district—71 boys and 72 girls.

John I. Dressler introduced a resolution doing away with the giving of diplomas to graduates and the annual graduating exercises. The motion was opposed by W. W. Sanders and others and was voted down.

Mr. Dressler also introduced a resolution to build a sidewalk on the east side of the school house block. This was amended to have walk built on north side also and was carried. There was some discussion as to whether a cement or board walk should be built, the cement walk being favored if it did not cost too much, but this was left to the school board.

It was voted that the estimate of $1,500 for expenses for the ensuing year be approved.

For two members of the school board A. R. McCandless and Elmer Allen were elected on the first formal ballot.

The meeting then adjourned.

Rev. J. W. Sapp moved to Shubert Wednesday. We regret very much to lose Elder Sapp and his wife from Nemaha, but realize that there is much greater need of a good man in Shubert than here, as we have so many good men and that place has so few. We are in hopes that Rev. Sapp will be the leaven that will leaven the whole lump.

The passenger train was one hour late Tuesday afternoon, caused by the freight engine breaking down between Auburn and Johnson. The engine managed to get to Johnson but had to leave the train on the track. The passenger train on arrival at Johnson had to sidetrack the crippled engine, then run down the track to the train, put part of it on the quarry sidetrack and take the rest of it back to Johnson and sidetrack it.

Charles B. Smith, who has been confined in the insane asylum at Lincoln for several years, died at that place the latter part of last week and his body was brought to Brownville for burial last Saturday. The deceased was a son-in-law of the late Charles Schantz and killed his wife while in a jealous half insane rage. He was sent to the penitentiary for life, and after staying there awhile he was found insane and sent to the asylum, where he remained until his death. Brief funeral services were held by Rev. G. W. Ayers.

A SANE FOURTH

It is not too early to bring to the mind of every citizen the necessity for a "safe" Fourth of July. On Independence Day, by custom we have, as a people, "let loose" and indulged in antics and operations that were certain to provide a long list of killed and wounded in the daily news columns of the following day. So universal was the custom of taking chances on human life by various methods of celebration that for many years we faced the coming of our great national holiday with a fair knowledge of the killing and maiming that would result, yet without a single effort to avert it. Of late years the situation has changed in a great degree and while even yet we confront the certainty of a large number of casualties on the Fourth, the percentage has been reduced through the warning efforts of the leading newspapers, citizens and public officials throughout the country. The bursting cannon or its premature discharge, the giant fire cracker and the deadly toy pistol have in recent years provided the main roster of the dead and wounded. Two of these may be eliminated by municipal regulations. The common shooters who are willing to take the chances in order to make a "big" noise will probably continue indefinitely to do it but the giant fire cracker and the deadly toy pistol can be abolished by police regulations and should be abolished by every municipality in the country. Save the boys and girls by making the "4th" safe from these implements of destruction. —Neb. City Tribune.

The word results means a whole lot to the farmer of to-day and it is especially attractive to the homeseeker or those seeking new locations. If we tell you of a country where you are sure of success, will you believe us? It is only necessary for you to farm the land and the best results will follow—a State which the government reports will show leads in the production of wheat. It also ranks among the first in the raising of corn, alfalfa, timothy and other products, together with stock raising. We speak of
