Earle's.

Corn has been badly damaged by the dry weather.

F. L. Woodward returned from Denver Wednesday evening. He stopped off a day or two at Lincoln.

Clerks in stores and housekeepers have been kept busy dusting and then it has been impossible to keep things clean. Everybody appreciates the good rain Thursday.

A young lady arrived at the home of W. S. Russell Tuesday morning, and Will is very much stuck on her, but his wife doesn't seem to be the least bit jealous—in fact she seems to think as much of the little miss as Will does, so there will be no divorce case over it.

Prof. C. H. Kindig and wife arrived in Nemaha Friday evening to spend part of their vacation with Mrs. Kindig's parents, V. P. Peabody and wife. Mr. Kindig is principal and his wife one of the teachers of the Wakefield school, and have been attending the summer school at Fremont.

One hot day the latter part of last week Will Keeling put a thermometer out in the sun to see how hot it was. In a short time he went out to look at it and found the heat was so intense that the thermometer could not stand the pressure and was broken. The hot weather was too much even for the thermometer.

Monday of last week Mrs. O. L. Minick, living near Bracken, drove in to Nemaha and when she went home took "Teddy," Elmer Allen's dog, with her. Cyrus Minick was out there then. Cyrus came home a few days ago, and on Wednesday Teddy came in, making the trip alone. He evidently got lonesome without Cyrus.

We had the pleasure of going through the artificial stone works of Kerns & Daugherty, at Auburn Tuesday. This company is prepared to manufacture almost anything that can be made from cement—sidewalks, blocks, foundation stone, water tables, porch columns, sewer pipes, water troughs, hitching posts, etc. It will surprise anyone to go there and see the variety of articles they make.

Robt. E. Bucher was very lame for several days, caused by mixing up with a horse and getting too close to its hind legs. He was driving in from Auburn with Frank Seid Sunday night when one tap came off a wheel near Gerlaw's farm, and the wheel came off. The horse was a young one and began to kick, and in the mixup Bob was kicked on the left shin, cutting a gash to the bone. They borrowed a tap of Frank Gerlaw and came on home.

Joe Bunger has sold his Nemaha property to F. E. Hoover, who will take possession in a very short time. He moves to Nemaha for two reasons—to give his children the benefit of our good schools, and because his health is too poor for work on the farm. We understand, however, the farm will not go out of the family, and Fred will look after the fruit. Mr. Bunger has rented H. Denny's house and will live here for awhile, but expects to move on a farm in the spring or sooner. He will probably go to South Dakota.

We had another splendid rain Thursday night.

Miss Rose Seabury has been suffering severely since Wednesday night with an attack of appendicitis.

Mrs. Sarah Chamberlain, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Frazier, started for Nelson, Nebr., Tuesday.

Either the women of St. Joseph are keener after bargains than those of Nemaha, or are not so used to them. One day last week one of the big stores had a sale of granite stew pans and dish pans like those sold by Earle Gilbert at his special sale Saturday. The St. Joe women gathered in such crowds that the police had to be called in. Many of them fainted and had to be carried away. Clothes were torn and several women injured, one or two fatally. It was a regular riot for awhile. At Gilbert's store, while there was quite a rush, everything passed off quietly. Nearly all got what they wanted, but there was little granite ware left at the close of the sale.

A strange coincidence occurred in Nemaha recently. Week before last Miss Minnie May lost $20. She did not miss it until Saturday night but does not know just when she lost it.

Tuesday of last week Walter Hadlock lost a $20 bill. That evening Mrs. A. G. Warren found a $20 bill at the corner of John P. Flack's home. Miss May and Mr. Hadlock both claimed the money. It looked for a time like there would be a lawsuit before the matter was settled, but Mr. Hadlock knew where he lost his money and how it was folded, and as his description agreed with the place where the money was found by Mrs. Warren, the way the bill was folded, etc., Miss May withdrew her claim and the money was turned over to Mr. Hadlock. The first of last week one of the C. B. & Q. bridge men lost a $10 bill, so it appears that people are growing careless about their money, or that there is something in the air that causes them to lose it. But you never hear of editors losing any $10 or $20 bills.

The democratic editor of the Shubert Citizen is evidently not very well pleased with the turning down of Berge by the late democratic state convention, judging from the following editorial in last week's Citizen:

"The democrats in state convention at Lincoln Wednesday nominated Congressman Shallenbarger, mayor of Alma, for governor, over Berge, the populist candidate.

"To the many friends in Richardson county, of Mr. Berge, who were anxious for his nomination, because they thought he was honestly entitled to it, his defeat comes with something of a deep disappointment.

"Mr. Berge was a strong supporter of the anti-railroad propaganda, while Shallenbarger has always been recognized as a railroad tool.

"Shallenbarger is the man who cursed Bryan as a dictator and tried to keep him from being a delegate to the national convention at St. Louis. Shallenbarger made a speech for his party during the last campaign and then sent in a big bill for services."

The drought was broken as soon as Norris Brown and Sheldon were nominated for senator and governor—a good indication.

The republican float convention met at Tecumseh Monday and nominated Judge J. G. O'Connell of Tecumseh for float senator and J. W. Armstrong of Auburn for float representative.

The Beatrice Creamery Co. will pay 6 cents per pound of butter fat for hand separator cream, delivered in Nemaha. Separators sold on easy terms. R. E. BUCHER, Agent.

The judicial convention met at Tecumseh Monday and nominated Judge J. B. Raper of Pawnee City for district judge by acclamation. The judge was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Babcock, and has given such good satisfaction that there was no opposition to his nomination.

T. J. Doyle, an attorney of Lincoln, was nominated by the fusionists for congressman, after M. H. Hanks of Nebraska City had been nominated and had refused it. Hanks had one trial of running for congress and doesn't care for another defeat. Doyle will know more after the votes are counted in November.

Ex-Gov. Poynter says he is for Sheldon and predicts his election by 80,000 majority. Along with many of the old-time populist leaders, Poynter feels that the populist party has been betrayed by the nomination of a railroad man for governor by the democrats, and will vote the republican ticket or a good part of it this fall.

The teachers of Richardson county passed a resolution denouncing the present law regarding the examination of teachers and issuing of certificates. The Nemaha county teachers passed a resolution commending the law. Our teachers are not afraid to have their examination papers passed upon by any board or any official. Perhaps when the Richardson county schools get as good as those of Nemaha county they will change their opinion of the law and think it is all right.

Where the democratic state platform of 1905 vociferously demanded the repeal of the new revenue law and the abolition of the county assessor's office, the platform this year discreetly omits all mention of that subject. Democratic orators a year ago denounced the law, but they found the issue a losing one and have now decided to drop it. A fresh crop of "we denounce" planks is furnished in place of it. Most of these will probably be forgotten next year, when something else will engage the attention of the democracy. Meanwhile, the state will continue to make progress under republican rule.—Lincoln News

Miss Ashley, after a month's labor for the M. E. church here will leave next Monday for California, where she has been assigned work by the conference. During her stay here she has preached several splendid sermons and has impressed the people with a belief in her conscientiousness in her work and an honest purpose to do her Master's will, as she sees it. She will go to her new field of labor followed by the best wishes of all with whom she has been so closely allied during her stay here, with the hope that her zeal may be rewarded in her home, and that many souls may be brought into the better way, and added stars in the crown of rejoicing in that day when all wrongs are righted.—Shubert Citizen.

Brown for Senator and Sheldon for Governor

The republican state convention met at Lincoln Wednesday afternoon and a strong ticket. Dr. Congressman Andrews was elected chairman.

Hon. Norris Brown, present attorney general was nominated for United States senator on the sixth ballot.

Nemaha county has the honor of making the break that gave Brown the nomination.

For governor Hon. Geo. L. Sheldon of Cass county was nominated on the second ballot.

Hon. M. R. Hopewell of Burt county was nominated for lieutenant governor.

For railroad commissioners, H. J. Winnett of Lancaster, Robert Cowell of Douglas and J. A. Williams of Pierce were the nominees.

George Junkin of Gosper was nominated for secretary of state, defeating A. Galusha, the present incumbent.

E. M. Searle of Keith was renominated for auditor by acclamation.

Lawson G. Brian of Boone was nominated for state treasurer on the second ballot, Ellis Good of Peru being the next highest man.

J. L. McBrien was renominated for state superintendent and W. P. Thompson was nominated for attorney general, both by acclamations.

Land commissioner, Eaton was renominated on the first ballot.

We have every facility for handling accounts appreciate them, and give our personal attention to the interests of our depositors.

Times have changed to such an extent that men cannot now well express their pioneer spirit in a prairie schooner with a foray into some unknown wilderness. Other trails remain for the adventurous to beat into roads, however. To set a new style requires little less initiative and courage than a dash to the pole. Due credit must therefore be given the Lincoln citizens who have broken the sod for the first cement houses. So well known in Europe and even in many American communities are this kind of buildings that the risk would not seem heavy, but the cement building in Lincoln is an object of centered scrutiny and criticism, and this is a more or less trying position to an owner of retiring disposition. Cement block buildings are slowly becoming common, and there are one or two rough cement veneered residences to give people a clue to the success of this method of building. The first solid cement residence is now starting, and though it is purely a private enterprise its progress and the satisfaction it gives its owners will be matters of public interest.—State Journal.
