G. N. Titus made a business trip to Nebraska City Tuesday afternoon.

Ed Knapp received a bucket of fine honey from E. H. Laukemper of R. F. D. No. 2.

John Webber brought to town last Saturday nineteen head of cabbage on one stalk.

Lost—A long, brown overcoat, Saturday night, in Nemaha. Finder please leave at this office.

Several of the M. E. Ladies Aid Society and one or two of their husbands went out to A. L. P. Thompson's last Friday and all report a good time, especially at dinner.

A rural mail carrier found in a box on his route two unstamped letters intended for the owner of the box. The letters were confiscated and sent to Washington with a request for a ruling. The government approved of the action of the carrier and said that all mail found in any box without stamps or the proper amount of postage must be taken to the postoffice and held for postage. This ruling means that the owner has no control over the box.—Ex.

William Gaede, aged 44 years, a prominent banker at Auburn, Nebr., died at 7:30 o'clock this morning at a Lincoln hospital. He is a brother of Mrs. Lean M. Mears, of Auburn. He had been ill for about a month, and came to Lincoln for treatment more than a week ago. The body will be taken at 10 o'clock tonight, over the Missouri Pacific, to his home at Auburn, where the funeral will be held Tuesday. Mr. Gaede was not married.—Lincoln Star (Saturday).

Mrs. Weldon Shiveley and little daughter Lucile were the victims of what might have been a serious runaway one day last week. When returning home from town, the horse they were driving became frightened at the buggy running on him, and began to kick and run. Little Lucile was thrown out, but only bruised a little, and Mrs. Shiveley turned the horse into a hedge and succeeded in stopping him, after both shafts had been broken and the dashboard kicked out. Jim Shiveley, who was close behind, repaired damages and Mrs. Shiveley made the remainder of the trip safely, thankful that it had been no worse.

AUBURN, Neb.—For some time there has been considerable fault found by the hotel men of the south side, with the bus line, the headquarters of which is located on the north side. The south side claiming that the bus men used undue influence to bring custom to the north side hotels. A meeting of the south side commercial club was held recently and a proposition from the proprietor of a transfer line, was accepted to run a special conveyance from a south side hotel to all trains, and to accept no other passenger traffic than that desiring accommodations at one hotel. This is one of the conditions growing out of the bitter estrangement between the two sides of the city.—Lincoln News.

The editor met John Minick at Lincoln last Saturday. John was on his way home after a visit to Sterling, Colo., and Scotts Bluff county, Nebr. John likes the country so well that he leased a quarter section near Scotts Bluff, and will move out there in the spring. He will probably buy as he partly bargained for a farm. His land is irrigated. While at Sterling he visited his sister-in-law, Mrs. James Arnold, formerly Miss Sarah Frost. Her husband is a candidate for reelection as sheriff on the democratic ticket, and although the county is about 300 republican he stands a good show of being elected again. John also visited Billy Hopwood, a relative of the Crothers who formerly lived here, and Billy's sister, whose present name we have forgotten. Billy is holding down a homestead. His sister's husband is getting rich. John Webster and Edward Atmon are now living near Portland, Oregon.

The farmers are working out their poll tax on the roads before corn shucking. Some of them do the roads a great deal of good, while others seem to care only to get their tax receipt.

The hazelnut is becoming a rarity here. A few years ago wagon loads of them could be gathered, where now it is almost impossible to find them. Walnuts are very plentiful this year.

Mrs. C. L. Day of California, Mrs. Weller and daughter Nettie, and Mrs. Moore of Stella visited Wednesday and Thursday of this week with Mrs. Ellen Howe. Mrs. Day is a niece of Mrs. Moore a sister of Mrs. Howe.

One of Justin Long's horses stepped in a hole in the side of the bridge near John Faron's residence Saturday. It shied at something and went down, throwing itself. If it had not lain perfectly quiet, it would undoubtedly have broken its leg. Justin had to get an axe and chop the boards loose in order to release the horse.

The fusionists use some queer arguments. They tell a voter he ought to help elect Roe Conner as commissioner because he is well posted as to running that office, having held the office six years. Then they tell him he hadn't ought to vote for Hacker because he has held office so long—for four years. But we are all inconsistent—none more so than a politician who has "belonged" as John Dundas would say, to a half dozen different parties.

To a great degree this year the office of representative is a political one. If Messrs. Quackenbush and Redmond are elected they will presumably stand by the platforms of the parties they are supposed to represent, vote for the measures advocated therein, and advocate the principles of the democratic and populist parties. They will undoubtedly vote for W. H. Thompson for United States senator, as he is the party nominee for that office. If Lawrence and Parker are elected they have pledged themselves not to use passes, to vote for an anti-pass measure and railroad legislation, and to carry out the principles as outlined in the republican platform. They are staunch Roosevelt republicans. While we will not say that Thompson, the fusion candidate for United States senator, is a railroad man, yet it is a fact that the railroad representatives and railroad politicians throughout the state are quietly working for the election of fusion candidates for the legislature, regardless of the party affiliation of the said railroad men. This is done either because the railroads believe Thompson is with them or to punish Brown and his followers because they are for the people as against the railroads. In either event it certainly appears to be the part of wisdom for those who desire to see the political power of the railroads curbed to vote for candidate for the legislature who are for Brown. If you vote for the men whom the railroads want to see elected you are certainly helping them in their schemes. If this is your object, all right. But think well before you vote.

The nomination for county attorney seems to be a great aid to matrimony. Two years ago Charley French ran on the republican ticket for that office, was elected, and immediately got married. This year Judge Lambert was nominated on the fusion ticket, and in a short time thereafter he got married—probably he did not wait until after election for fear he would be defeated. If a man wants to get married he should run for county attorney.

Thursday of last week while B. H. Moore and his son Will were tearing down an old house on Mr. Moore's farm north of town a part of the wall fell on Mr. Moore pinning him to the ground. Will could not move the timbers and had it not been for the Brownville section boys at work near by who helped him remove the timber from off his father, Mr. Moore would probably have died in a short time. Dr. Frazier was called and administered to the suffering of Mr. Moore. There were no bones broken but the ligaments of the hip joints were badly lacerated. It will be some time before he will be able to move around much.

John H. Dundas, who at different times was nominated for office by different parties and dumped the county advocating the party measures, now says parties are all wrong—no one ought to belong to any party—every man ought to be for himself and run on his own platform. This is quite a change for John and yet he thinks or says that every one is inconsistent and not a good citizen who doesn't do just as he professes to do now. Only a few years ago John was scoring every one who did not vote the prohibition ticket. He thought a man should vote for the principle—now he says don't vote for the principle but only for the man. And yet John doesn't give any one credit for being honest but the editor of the Granger.
