

Mrs. Neal of Peru visited her daughter, Miss Lillian D. Neal, Thursday.

Miss Minnie May went to Peru Sunday morning, returning Tuesday evening.

Will Hacker started for Dund county, Nebr., Tuesday evening. He expects to buy a farm while out there.

The first oyster supper of the season will be given Saturday night of next week at the home of Mrs. Earle Gilbert, by her Sunday school class—No. 8. Everybody is invited.

Frank Titus has the roof torn off his house, so he is hoping it won't storm for awhile. He is living with his mother on the farm while the changes in his house are being made.

Last week we mentioned that Mrs. G. W. Ayers was getting a barrel of canned fruit to send to the hospital at Omaha. Our people are always liberal and have donated two barrels, and in addition Mrs. Geo. Yackley sends along a barrel of apples.

John H. Knapp has been weighing the corn he is gathering lately, and he gets out an average of 112 bushels per day, six days in the week, allowing 80 pounds to the bushel. Harry Stevens, who is working for him, gets out almost as much.

Mrs. John W. Ritchey, who has been visiting at St. Joe for three or four weeks—John says it seems like six months—returned home Thursday afternoon. John tried baching for awhile but soon got tired of that and went to the hotel to board. Before his wife returned he cleaned up, swept the whole house, and even made the beds.

Harry Hoover is having bad luck with his ponies lately. Two or three weeks ago he had one kill itself while he was breaking it, and last Friday night the freight train from the west struck his old white pony and killed it. The pony was on the track at the road crossing near Harry's home when the freight came along and remained on the track too long.

Grandma Jones, mother of Robert Jones of Aspinwall precinct, died at the home of her son, where she has been making her home, on Thursday, Nov. 8, at 7 o'clock a. m. A day or so previous to this, the deceased said she would die at 7 o'clock Thursday morning, and died just at that time. The funeral was held Friday, the burial taking place in the Prairie Union cemetery.

A number of neighbors and friends of Mrs. W. W. Seid gave her a surprise last Sunday in honor of her birthday. They took their dinners with them, and of course the dinner was a magnificent one. The day was heartily enjoyed by all and by none more than Mrs. Seid. The editor was one of the fortunate ones who attended, and he made a full hand at the dinner table.

At a meeting of the city council on Wednesday evening, an appropriation of $250 was made for the purpose of macadamizing the east end of Central Avenue and the public road from the foot of the hill near the old creamery building to the M. P. railroad.

J. P. Gilliland, who about a year ago moved to the farm of his father-in-law, W. W. James, northeast of town, has decided to return to Peru, where he was formerly engaged in business. His wife had been from the farm so long that now she does not enjoy the country. They will probably move next month. Mr. and Mrs. James will continue to reside at the farm.—Stella Press

Harry Williams and Church Smiley were driving down the hill east of the livery barn Saturday when a pitchfork fell from the wagon and tines penetrated the horse's heel, which caused it to run away. Harry was thrown from the wagon and his wrist was broken, just above the joint. Dr. Willis was called, who set the arm, and he is doing nicely now. Church held onto the lines, and succeeded in stopping the horse.—Shubert Citizen

One thing that lightens the gloom for The Advertiser in the democratic victory is that we haven't anything to take back or feel sorry for saying. The editor has for years classed the democratic candidates as personal friends—every one of them—and the only bad thing we said about them was that they did not believe in many of the political principles that we believe in. But we think that aside from this one question all will do well. We had business dealings with the board of county commissioners while M. T. Conner was commissioner, and he was always a friend. When Ed Quackenbush was county attorney and H. A. Lambert county judge we never had any fault to find with their actions in those capacities, and our relations with them and W. D. Redmond have always been of the most pleasant character. When Quackenbush and Redmond were nominated we said the fusionists had put up two mighty good men aside from their political belief, and we still think so. But all the same we would feel much better if they had been left at home, although the republicans have such a large majority in the legislature that Norris Brown will be elected United States senator, without the aid or consent of any fusionist.

The majority of the voters in Nemaha county said by their votes Tuesday of last week that they wanted Norris Brown for United States senator. If Quackenbush and Redmond want to vote as the majority desire, they will vote for Brown. But they won't do it.

Hiram Stotts caught a fine young coyote last Friday. Hiram has some fine dogs, two stags and three trail hounds. They are all fine dogs and good runners; they can catch a jack rabbit and not half try, and they can run all over a coyote. If you see a coyote or wolf just call up Hime and he will come out and catch them.—Shubert Citizen.

The Curtis Dramatic Co. were at the opera house Friday and Saturday nights of last week, playing "A Foxy Uncle" and "The Old Homestead." They had good houses both nights. Our people will give good companies a liberal patronage but are tired of going to the cheap concerns made up of fake actors—except the medicine shows—these always get full houses. The managers of the opera house are endeavoring to get a better class of companies and if they are encouraged by liberal patronage will be enabled to do so.

Hon. W. H. Thompson of Grand Island, the fusion nominee for United States senator, who made a gallant fight against Norris Brown at the recent election, has been making it plain to his friends that if the railroads attempt to carry out their plan of stealing the senatorship from Brown he will use his influence to have his democratic friends in the legislature vote for Brown rather than see a railroad republican elected.

Mr. Thompson has made this statement to several of his friends, and he has said with an emphasis that left no doubt of his sincerity. Mr. Thompson discovered late in the campaign that the railroads had decided upon the plan of helping the republican legislative delegation to be elected in Douglas county, with the belief that the legislature would be so closely republican that they could, by playing upon the sentiment of Douglas county for an Omaha man for senator, beat Brown out of the prize he was likely to win. Now that they have found out they miscalculated and that the republicans have a big majority in the legislature they are sending out their agents to work up a bolt in the state.

Mr. Thompson's attitude will undoubtedly put a new phase on the situation. He says that he much prefers Mr. Brown to a railroad senator and that if it is necessary to elect Mr. Brown he will do all he can to get his supporters in the legislature to vote for him rather than that the railroads should triumph.

It requires sixty-seven votes to elect a senator. Brown has pledged from more than that many now, and there is scarcely the slightest chance of his being beaten. The prediction if freely made here that the plan of the railroads will never reach any further than an attempt. Two years ago, however, the roads kept up their effort to overturn Burkett until 2 o'clock of the morning of the day that he was elected. Not until then was the plan given up. This statement is made upon the authority of a member who was in that last night conference.

Douglas county has but twelve members, while there are ninety-seven republicans in both houses. This leaves eight-five members, or eighteen more than a majority who are not likely to be swerved from their allegiance to Brown. One state leader who looked over the list of legislators says that there are a number of men there who worked with the railroads in the past. He did not assume to know or say how they felt or stood now, but he mentioned it as a factor to be considered in discussing the question of legislation this winter.

Sentiment here is that even the Douglas county men will be found in line. Prominent republicans from Omaha who have been here during the past week say that the delegation, or at least a majority of it, will not be found against Brown after it has been demonstrated that an Omaha man has a chance of winning.—Lincoln News

George Sanders living near Brownville is the possessor of an apple tree which is like the old advertising saying "tries to please."

It is a freak in the way of producing an assortment of varieties, and behaves in a frivolous manner which no self-respecting apple tree would countenance.

This is the third year the tree has borne fruit. The first year the tree produced "Jonathans" of unmistakable brand, and was not looked upon with the slightest suspicion. Last year, the tree began to act in a giddy manner and while it produced another fairly good crop of "Jonathans" but interspersed with the red apples were some of a decided russet tinge.

This year the tree went completely "off its head" and furnished a crop of apples with a decidedly "rusty" coat, but whose flavor was that of a Jonathan.

As the tree has never been budded or grafted, the explanation of its peculiar antics is not easily forthcoming. Mr. Sanders had some of the "freak" fruit on exhibition at the county fair in September.—Herald.
