See R. E. Bucher for best soft coal. Car just received.

Do not forget the play by the Nemaha Dramatic Co. tonight.

Send The Advertiser to some friend as a Christmas present.

F. L. Woodward went to Humboldt Tuesday, on business.

See those handsome bonbon boxes at the postoffice bookstore.

Wm. W. Seid started for Neck, Mo., Tuesday, to visit his friend John Dorram.

Miss Stella Washburn came down from Peru Thursday to spend Christmas at home.

Miss Bessie Washburn came down from Peru Wednesday and will spend the holidays at home.

Earle Steuteville went to Graf Wednesday to assist in invoicing the stock of the Edwards & Bradford Co. at that point.

Mrs. Andrew Aynes and Frank started for Ord, Neb., Tuesday afternoon, to visit their daughter and sister, Mrs. Frank Skeen. They expect to be gone some time.

Fred C. Argabright has moved on his father's farm, which he will farm next year. Hilt Stanley, who owns the old Mead farm where Fred has been living, will move on it soon.

J. H. Argabright has moved to Auburn. Mr. Argabright and family will be greatly missed from that neighborhood, as they are the oldest settlers there, and everybody likes them.

Invitations are out for a wedding Christmas Day, we understand, but we won't tell who it is. The young man has rented his father's farm for the coming year and has been having repairs made.

C. P. Barker's dray team got tired of standing at the depot Monday morning and took advantage of the absence of Press, after the train was in, and started up town. F. L. Woodward caught them and took them back to the depot.

We are requested to give notice that a Christmas Arbor will be given at the Christian church Christmas eve—next Monday night. This will be public and everyone has the privilege of putting on presents. A good entertainment will be given.

Blind Boone Coming

Blind Boone will be at Nemaha Wednesday, Jan. 2, at the opera house. This will be a rare treat for all lovers of music. Blind Boone has been in Nemaha twice in previous years and has always drawn a large crowd. Prices 25, 35 and 50 cents.

Another Operation Necessary

Willie Yates, who was injured last summer by being struck in the groin with a ball while playing baseball, has been worse again. He underwent one operation some time ago, and it was thought the difficulty was then over with, but recently he has been suffering from the injury and it was decided that another operation was necessary. Sunday Dr. Dillon of Auburn, assisted by Dr. Shook of Shubert and Prof. Slagle of Auburn, performed a second operation. Willie rallied well from the operation, and is getting along nicely. It is hoped his recovery will be prompt and permanent.

M. H. Taylor and daughter, Miss Gladys, of Shubert, were in Nemaha Wednesday. They were on their way to Auburn to visit Minor's brother, J. W. Taylor, who is very sick. The latter has returned from Omaha, where he went to consult physicians, and they gave him very little hope. We understand he is confined to his bed most of the time.

Friday, Dec. 21, the young people of Nemaha will give a comedy drama in four acts entitled, "Joe Ruggles, or The Girl Miner." This is something new and no pains will be spared to make this the best home talent that has ever been given in this city. Seats on sale at the usual place. Admission 15, 25 and 35. Come everybody and bring some body with you.

Oyster Supper

An oyster supper will be served Saturday night of this week at the home of S. C. Lawrence. Coffee and cake will also be served. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Mt. Pleasant Sunday school, and will be used in buying an organ for the church. Everybody is invited and it is hoped there will be a liberal patronage.

J. A. Ballentyne, auditor for the Edwards & Bradford Lumber Co., was in Nemaha Monday and Tuesday, invoicing the stock preparatory to transferring it from C. E. Steuteville to Geo. Hartwig, the new manager. He was assisted by Frank Phillips, a young man from Hastings, Nebr. Tuesday afternoon they went to Brownville, having a little work to do there, and the next morning went to Graf.

A Narrow Escape

Dade Seid met with an accident Monday that will disable him for some time, but he is congratulating himself that it is no worse. He was running the engine of the corn sheller he recently bought of his father, and in attempting to brush out some dirt his mitten was caught in the small cogs, drawing his left hand in. The forefinger was caught in the cogs and the flesh on the outside was ground to a pulp, clear to the bone. Some one phoned in that his hand was taken off, and his mother was greatly alarmed until she learned different. Dr. Frazier dressed the finger. It was a fortunate escape, and we believe he will be more careful hereafter.

Alex Jack, who was a resident of Nemaha and vicinity from 1859 to 1861, attending school here part of that time, was visiting old friends last week. He is now a resident of Montana but has seen much of the country since leaving here, being one of those restless persons who do not stay long in one place. He spent one summer six years ago at Nome, Alaska, but did not strike a fortune. He is a brother of David Jack of Peru.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Yankee Hill Development company at the commercial club rooms this evening, President Burnham will report the progress which has been made toward reaching oil and gas. The oil well is now 1,500 feet in depth and several strata of oil-bearing sand have been penetrated. The drill is now smashing through shale at the rate of twenty feet per day and a depth of 1,800 feet will be reached before many days have passed. It is at this depth that Mr. Burnham and his colleagues have hoped to find paying quantities of oil and gas.

For several weeks the drilling crew has been pounding through 200 feet of hard limestone, having many cracks which deflected the drill and causing a crooked hole which had to be tamped full of old cast iron before new drilling could be attempted. Hundreds of pounds of old iron have been tramped into these holes in the limestone. This stratum of limestone has now been penetrated and the drill is in a comparatively soft shale. Traces of oil are intermittent, coming up on the artesian water every time a stratum of sand is reached.—Lincoln Star.

The Union Pacific and Burlington have defined their positions as to newspaper advertising for next year and are sending out contracts to the publishers in Nebraska and territory tributary to the lines of the roads. The contracts provide that all advertising shall be paid for in cash and if any transportation is asked for by the publishers it shall be paid for at the tariff rates.

As to the sums paid for advertising, it shall be at the contract rates. The roads will not be responsible for the payment of more advertising than is provided for in the contract.

General Passenger Agent Wakeley of the Burlington says there will be no transportation considered on either side of the contract. Everything will be on a cash basis. He adds:

"We are laying our plans to have the appropriation go around to all of the newspapers with which we make contracts. Instead of spending large sums with the big dailies and ignoring the country press, we will treat all papers with fairness."

Gerrit Fort, assistant general passenger agent of the Union Pacific, says:

"There will be no transportation. When a publisher carries one of our advertisements he will be paid space rates, in accordance with the contract and no more or less. If he wants to travel he will buy his ticket and pay for it in cash, just the same as any other man."—Omaha News.

George Yackly started for Illinois Thursday afternoon to visit his old home. He may go on to Indiana before his return. It has been over twenty years since he has been back there.

Nemaha can well lay claim to being an orderly and law abiding county. Since the twenty-fourth of October no criminal case has been spread upon the docket in the county judge's office and the people seem to be content to let this record stand indefinitely.—Auburn Republican.

A petition was circulated in Auburn last week asking the Burlington authorities to appoint John B. Lewis, the Brownville agent, to the position made vacant by the resignation of Agent Thomas of Auburn, but as the aforesaid authorities had already appointed W. H. Bock, for many years agent at Tecumseh, to fill the vacancy, the petition was fruitless.

Low Morris met with the usual fate of the Good Samaritan, last Tuesday morning. Jonas Druery, with his team of horses, were trying to drag a heavy stone near the Presbyterian church, when Lew, out of the goodness of his heart, gave them a lift. He got a heavy board and tried to pry the stone up so as to give a good leverage for a pull when the horses started up suddenly and he lost his balance and fell forward against the cement sidewalk. His eye came in contact with the hard surface and it was considerably discolored. His nose also bled profusely but he was fortunate in escaping more serious injury.—Auburn Republican.

A Miraculous Cure

The following statement by H. M. Adams and wife, Henrietta, Pa., will interest parents and others. "A miraculous cure has taken place in our home. Our child had eczema 5 years and was pronounced incurable, when we read about Electric Bitters, and concluded to try it. Before the second bottle was all taken we noticed a change for the better, and after taking 7 bottles he was completely cured." It's the up-to-date blood medicine and body building tonic. Guaranteed. 50c and $1.00 at Hill Bros drug store.

Hon. Church Howe banquetted the Auburn commercial club recently, and the Auburn papers were filled with glowing reports of the felicitous event.

Judge Stull is still kept pretty close at home by his ailment. He hardly ever comes down town, but it is reported that his condition is more favorable than it has been for a long time.—Auburn Republican.

Will Hacker, of Nemaha, was in the city the fore part of the week. He states that he is making preparations to move to his newly purchased farm in Dundey county in the near future. He is one of the progressive young farmers of the county and we hate to lose him.—Auburn Republican.

County Treasurer Dirks was preparing to serve notice on the Burlington road that he would proceed to attach the funds on hand in the local railroad stations of that road in this county for the payment of back taxes when he was intercepted by the action of the Federal courts.

United States Marshall Warner came down from Omaha, Monday, and served a notice of a temporary restraining order on the county treasurer. The injunction was issued by the federal court, at Omaha, and it restrains him from proceeding in any way, to collect the taxes of 1906 levied against the property of the Burlington in Nemaha county.

Answer may be made in January as to why the injunction should not be made permanent. The notice is of an omnibus nature and is directed to the various treasurers of the counties of Nebraska where the road has property.

The proceeding this year is the same as has been pursued by the Burlington road since it started its tax dodging tactics and for the past two years it has invoked the assistance of the United States courts in restraining the various county treasurers from collecting taxes. It shows that the road is standing by its original position of resistance until the cases pending in the federal courts are decided.—Auburn Republican.

Catarrh of the nose and throat should lead you to at least ask for a free trial box of Dr. Shoop's Catarrh Cure. Nothing so surely proves merit as a real, actual test—and Dr. Shoop to prove this, earnestly desires that we let you make that test.
