Joseph Huddart, one of the old-time residents of Brownville, died at his home in Broken Bow Thursday of last week, aged about 77 years.

John Shook received word Monday, to the effect that his brother, George Shook, was lying very ill at his home at Fruita, Colo.—Republican.

Mrs. Snow, mother of Charles O. Snow, is quite sick at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Henry Allen, in the south part of town.—Republican.

Piles get quick relief from Dr. Shoop's Magle Ointment. Remember it's made alone for Piles—and it works with certainty and satisfaction. Itching, painful, protruding or blind piles disappear like magic by its use. Try it and see! All dealers.

We haven't any more faith in Hicks as a weather prophet than we have in the groundhog or early Easter or any other "signs," but we must give him credit for predicting the storm and cold wave that struck us the first of the week.

A son weighing three and one-half pounds was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Morgan, Monday, January 28, 1907. The little fellow is so tiny that at first it was feared he would not live, but now he bids fair to grow strong and healthy.—Stella Press.

Hunting for Trouble

"I've lived in California 20 years and am still hunting for trouble in the way of burns, sores, wounds, boils, cuts, sprains, or a case of piles that Bucklen's Arnica Salve won't quickly cure," writes Charles Walters, of Alleghany, Sierra Co. No use hunting, Mr. Walters; it cures every case. Guaranteed at Hill Bros drug store. 25c.

The eastern politicians who are worried over the possibility that the west may insist on naming the next president are reminded that the middle west has furnished the medium for the swollen fortunes of the effete east and that now it will furnish the next president. He will come from Nebraska and his name is W. J. Bryan.—Neb. City News.

We have a faint recollection of reading notices of this kind in 1896 and again in 1900. The democratic papers evidently believe they will succeed in prophesying correctly if they only keep on long enough.

We can heartily endorse the following from the Granger:

"Yes, free whiskey, if you want to call it that. We cannot, as a people, be reasonable, righteous or just and continue to educate our children, repair streets and crossings, beautify our city park and pay our city officials from license money or occupation tax that must help add to the sum of human unhappiness to those who tarry long at the wine and those dependent upon them. While we reach for the license funds, occupation tax, fines, etc., we cannot appeal to booze fighters to desist because of the injustice they are doing to their families. We must be true ourselves if we the truth would teach and until we can be just it will be folly for us to ask others to be just."

A Valuable Lesson

"Six years ago I learned a valuable lesson," writes John Pleasant, of Magnolia, Ind. "I then began taking Dr. King's New Life Pills, and the longer I take them the better I find them. They please everybody. Guaranteed at Hill Bros, druggists. 25c."

Nebraska's Six-Man Mine

The tendency on the part of even the most loyal Nebraskans has been to poke fun at the state's coal mine. Some of The Star's exchanges have been so base in their ingratitude to nature for this solitary gift as to declare that Nebraska is a state without a mine. In politics such assertions would be called "canards." In material things they are gross misrepresentations which demand the speedy remedy of retraction and correction.

Nebraska has a mine, and it is no longer a one-man mine. The small tunnel near Peru may have been a joke a few months ago, but in its depths six men are now working, and the mine is supplying a large portion of the fuel used in the two towns of Peru and Auburn. We have it on the word of a reliable Auburn newspaper that "Auburn people are now burning Nemaha county coal, mined in Nebraska's only coal mine." Let this statement set at rest the false gossip about Nebraska being a commonwealth without riches below the surface.

It is a good mine, the coal is of excellent quality, it comes out in large chunks, the black seam is of good width and the supply, for all its owners know, may be inexhaustible.

The operators hope to have the mine developed so that by next winter they will be able to take out thirty or forty tons a day. The mine has given so much encouragement that there probably will be much prospecting in southeastern Nebraska, in the hope that more deposits of fuel may be uncovered.—Lincoln Star.

A Beautiful Framed Picture

The-a-Week Republic, of St. Louis, Mo., is giving away a beautifully framed picture, size 5 1/2x7 1/4 inches to every one sending $1 for a year's subscription to their great semi-weekly paper and Farm Progress, a monthly agricultural paper published by The Republic.

This offer is open to both new and old subscribers. If you are taking the paper at present, send in your dollar and have your time marked up for one year and get one of these beautiful pictures without any extra cost.

The pictures are genuine works of art, done in nine colors. Two of them are heads of beautiful girls. One wears a black picture hat and has two roses pinned to her pink bodice. If this one is desired, order No. 10, "The Spring Girl." No. 11, or "The Summer Girl," wears a light brown picture hat, trimmed with light green. She also wears a white and green waist, with a bunch of very pretty flowers at her breast. The remaining picture, or No. 12, is a three-quarter length picture representing "The Winter Girl," with a long coat, boa about her neck and a muff.

The frames are made of rounded metal and are all black. To tell them from real ebony it would be necessary to take them from the wall for examination. The pictures and frames are neat and pretty enough to grace the walls of a millionaire's home. There is nothing cheap or shoddy looking about them. They cannot be duplicated in the retail stores for less than 50 cents. The best recommendation that we can give them is to say that if you are not thoroughly satisfied with your picture they will refund the money for your subscription and pay the postage for returning the picture to them.

If you are already a subscriber to the Twice-a-Week Republic, or if you want only the agricultural monthly, Farm Progress, send a silver dime for one year's subscription to this big sixteen-page farm and home paper. The Twice-a-Week Republic is the oldest and best semi-weekly family paper in the country, and Farm Progress is the fastest growing farm monthly in America. Remember that you get both these splendid publications for a year and one of these handsomely framed pictures, all for only $1.

Remit by post office or express money order, registered letter or bank draft. Do not send personal checks. Write name and address plainly. Address all orders to the St. Louis Republic, St. Louis, Mo.

TECUMSEH, Nebr., Feb. 3.—Word comes to Tecumseh that "Reddy" Williams, a former well-known character of Auburn, has been sentenced to twenty years in the Idaho penitentiary. It is said the charge was forgery and another story is to the effect that Williams attempted to wreck a train in the northwest. It is also said that Williams, since receiving his sentence, has confessed to be the guilty party in the somewhat famous "bloodhound" burglary case of Auburn. A residence was burglarized in that town on the night of July 4, 1903, and the next morning bloodhounds were put on the trail of the burglar. The dogs went from the burglarized house directly to the home of George Brott, then a resident of that town but who now lives in Tecumseh. Brott was arrested and tried in the district court of Nemaha county and was sentenced to the Nebraska penitentiary upon the "bloodhound" evidence only. The man always maintained his innocence, and through the efforts of his attorneys, J. S. McCarty and H. A. Lambert, his case was taken to the supreme court. That court decided that "bloodhound" evidence alone was not sufficient, and Brott was sent back to Auburn for another trial. Arrangements were made by the prosecution for Brott to give his own bond in the sum of $200 to appear for trial. This he did and he was never again tried. Brott served nearly two years in the penitentiary and after being given his freedom he returned to Tecumseh, his former home and the home of his parents, where he went to work at the printer's trade. He is aged about forty years and has a wife and two children.

Brott has secured legal advice and announces his intention of bringing suit for damages in the sum of $10,000 against the Auburn parties who caused his arrest and prosecution under the "bloodhound" evidence. Some interesting developments are promised.

The proposed county option law is entirely just and equitable. For that reason it should not fail. Under our present regulations the question of granting license to liquor dealers is entirely with the residents of municipalities. The farming community whose interests are vitally involved for good or evil, has nothing to say, or at least no vote in deciding whether the boys shall or shall not be subjected to the temptations and demoralizations of the legalized jag factories. It will be mightily to the credit of the present legislature if house roll No. 5 is passed. Stand up for Nebraska.—Bix, in State Journal.

While he was engaged in trimming hedge on his place in Bedford precinct, last Monday, Herbert Weatherfield met with a painful accident.

He was wielding a sharp ax and in some manner the keen edged tool slipped and hit his foot.

It cut a deep gash in his instep and also severed an artery. The wound bled very freely as a consequence and he was weakened by the loss of blood. He made his way to the house and a surgeon was summoned who dressed the injury and the victim is getting along nicely. He will be laid up for some time.—Republican.

Neighbors Got Fooled

"I was literally coughing myself to death, and had become too weak to leave my bed; and neighbors predicted that I would never leave it alive; but they got fooled, for thanks be to God, I was induced to try Dr. King's New Discovery. It took just four one dollar bottles to completely cure the cough and restore me to good sound health," writes Mrs. Eva Uncapher, of Grovertown, Stark Co., Ind. This King of cough and cold cures, and healer of throat and lungs, is guaranteed at Hill Bros. drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Senator Burkett and Congressman Pollard both voted against the increase to $7,500 per year for congressmen and senators. And they are being patted on the back by even the democratic papers for so doing.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by all dealers.

According to the views of the old rivermen we are to have plenty of high water during the coming spring for there is lots of snow up north. One or two of them are inclined to the belief that we will have more of a flood along the Missouri river than we have had for many years.—Neb. City News.
