

FRILLS FOR WAISTS

THEY WILL BE POPULAR ADORNMENT.

The Plaited Ruffle or Extended Jabot Still Counted as an Important Feature.

The plaited ruffle or extended jabot which began to appear on the spring waist is now one of the most important of the characteristic features of this season's waists. In every sort of material from fine real lace to taffeta and even heavier silks it figures as a necessary part of the new waist's adornments. The plaited ruffles separate from the waist and ready to be basted, pinned or buttoned to any waist in the wardrobe at the wearer's convenience are now sold in all the shops and are as popular as the cuff and collar sets. These detachable ruffles reach from the collar band to the belt and are to be worn with silk or linen waists, according to their quality and material. There are ruffles of Valenciennes trimmed with baby Irish or gullure, Cluny ruffles and hand-embroidered ruffles with insertions and edges of lace. These are for wear with fine embroidered linen, silk or pongee waists and are meant to peep fetchingly forth from between the fronts of fancy jackets of taffeta, pongee, linen or the thin woolen goods. They are extremely expensive if bought ready made, especially, of course, if the lace be real and the embroidery hand work. But the fashion is a particularly good one for those who have fine laces and embroidery which they have stored for years, as even such bits may be successfully utilized to trim the ruffles of fine handkerchief linen and the fashion is not a difficult one for the amateur needle woman to follow successfully.

All that is needed is a double piece of lace-edged material, which may be as simple or as elaborate as one wishes. These pieces are joined up the middle and knife plaited with fine plaitings. The width of the jabot varies to suit individual taste in the style of waist or jacket with which it is to be displayed and so home materials may be better utilized to make these attractive ruffles.

For the simple shirtwaists the ruffles are of slightly heavier linen and are often embroidered with colored dots or with vines and buttonhole scallop edges in color, pale pink, pale blue and lavender being the favorite hues. These ruffles for the heavier waists are also trimmed with narrow edges of colored material and with bands stitched down the middle of the same contrasting hue. These double edges and bands of colored linen decorate the ruffles in much the same way that handkerchief borders are used.

Although the linen employed for the ruffles for heavier shirtwaists is not quite so diaphanous as that used for the very finest and thinnest lingerie waists, it must still be both sheer and fine. Really heavy linen would not, of course, make suitable ruffles. Batiste in very fine qualities, both plain and embroidered, is used for the fine waists. Net and chiffon ruffles are used in the blouses made largely of lace.

BY WAY OF SUGGESTION.

Icing for cake may be prevented from cracking by adding one teaspoonful of cream to each unbeaten egg. Stir all together, then add sugar until as stiff as desired.

When you have a few tablespoonfuls of jam or jelly left over it makes a delicious addition to baked apples, dropping a teaspoonful into the core of each apple before they go into the oven.

Clean hardwood with a flannel wet in turpentine and afterward rub lightly with boiled linseed oil. Take off spots with fine sand mixed in oil. Apply it with a leather and rub with clean leather afterward to bring back the polish.

Right Kind of Bath.

When the body is fatigued or the brain has been overtaxed by excessive mental work it is very wrong to take a cold bath. Such a bath exhausts, and if we add this to the already weak state of the body the result seems rejuvenating for the moment; but very soon the tension becomes too great and the body cannot be forced to do more work.

A warm bath is the only kind to be applied when one wishes to recover from fatigue, and the longer in reason a tired body remains in a bath of, say, 70 degrees the quieter becomes the strained nerves and the easier follows the sought-for rest.

Washing Woolen Stockings.

To wash woolen stockings so that they will not shrink is quite easy. First shred some yellow soap into a small tin saucepan. Cover it with cold water and let all boil slowly on the stove till a jelly. Take some tepid water, and with the boiled soap make a good lather. Wash the stockings in this, rubbing well and using no other soap. Rinse in tepid clear water, wring out, and set in the air to dry.

CHOICE OF TWO EVILS.

Request That Was by No Means a Compliment for Papa.

A New York scientist, the father of a large and growing family, has his troubles. One evening his youngest was holding forth in her best style. The mother could do nothing with the child, so the man of science went to the rescue.

"I think I can quiet little Flora," he said. "There's no use humming to her in that silly way. What she wants is real music. The fact that I used to sing in the Glee club at Yale and sang well, too, may make a difference."

Accordingly, the professor took the child and, striding up and down the room, sang in his best manner. He had not finished the second verse of his song, when a ring was heard. The door was opened, and there stood a girl of 14, who said:

"I'm one of the family that's just moved into the flat next to yours. There's a sick person with us, and he says, if it's all the same to you, would you mind letting the baby cry instead of singing to it?"—Success.

ECZEMA COVERED BABY.

Worst Case Doctors Ever Saw—Suffered Untold Misery—Perfect Cure by Cuticura Remedies.

"My son, who is now twenty-two years of age, when four months old began to have eczema on his face, spreading quite rapidly until he was nearly covered. The eczema was something terrible, and the doctors said it was the worst case they ever saw. At times his whole body and face were covered, all but his feet. I used many kinds of patent medicines, to no avail. A friend teased me to try Cuticura. At last I decided to try Cuticura when my boy was three years and four months old, having had eczema all that time and suffering untold misery. I began to use all three of the Cuticura Remedies. He was better in two months; in six months he was well. Mrs. R. L. Risley, Piermont, N. H., Oct. 24, 1905."

Minister's Methods Likely to Attract Large Congregation.

A resident of Hudson, Wis., was exploring the resignation of Senator Spooner.

"The senate can't afford to lose a mind like that," he said. "I know the man well. He practiced law in this town for 15 years or thereabouts. He won every case he set his hand to."

"It was no surprise to us Hudsonites to find that John C. Spooner was the finest legal mind in the senate. When he had a case on, we used to go in droves to hear him plead."

"I remember to this day a story that he once told in court in a case where he was showing how, with a good motive, one might still do a lot of harm."

"He said that two aged Scotch ministers sat talking one day over their church warden pipes."

"'Last Sabbath,' said the younger of the two old men, 'only three folk cam' to my kirk, and, since it was an awfu' cauld, snawy, stormy mornin', I just took them over to the manse, read a chapter, gied them a prayer, and then, to ward off the rheumatism, a guid stiff glass of the best whisky.'"

"The other minister smiled."

"'Aweel,' he said, 'ye will hae a fine congregation, my brither, the next stormy day.'"

Whole Outfit in Harmony.

"You've seen that new dress of mine," said Miss Dowdey, "now that I want to get a hat to match what would you suggest?"

"Why not get a slouch?" remarked Miss Knox.

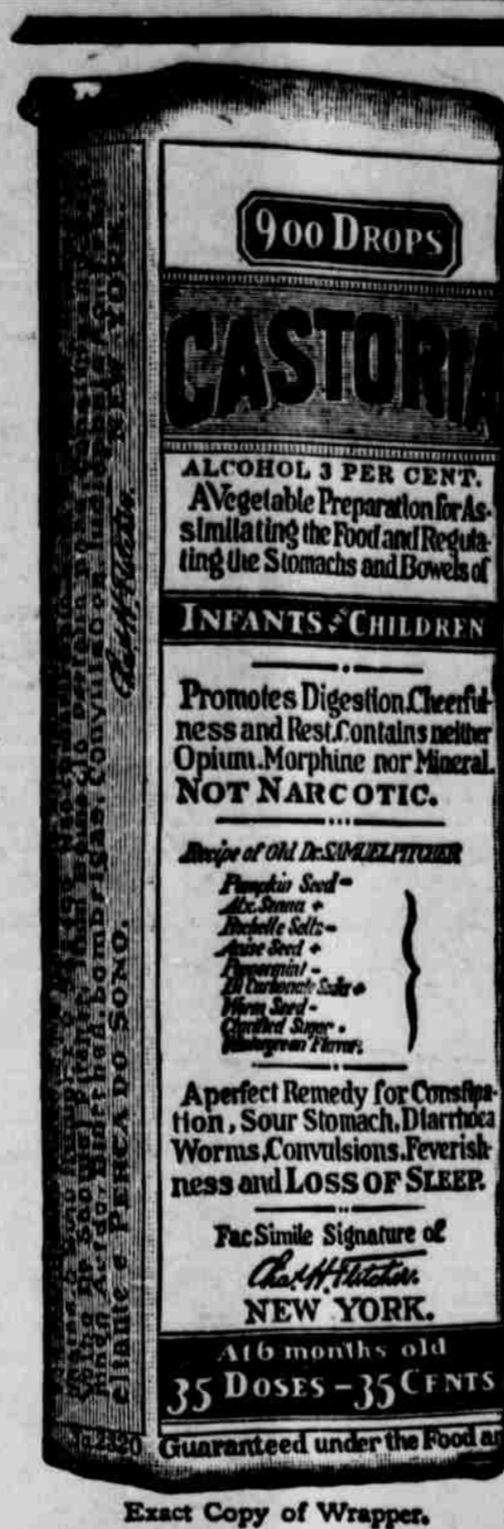

Some men try to convince you that they are good by boasting of how bad they used to be.

AN OLD EDITOR

Found $2000 Worth of Food.

The editor of a paper out in Okla., said: "Yes, it is true when I got hold of Grape-Nuts food, it was worth more than a $2000 doctor bill to me, for it made me a well man. I have gained 25 pounds in weight, my strength has returned tenfold, my brain power has been given back to me, and that is an absolute essential, for I am an editor and have been for 25 years."

"My pen shall always be ready to speak a good word for this powerful nutritive food. I had of course often read the advertisements regarding Grape-Nuts, but never thought to apply the food to my own use, until, in my extremity and sickness the thought came to me that it might fit my case. The statements in regard to the food are absolutely correct, as I have proven in my own case. One very fortunate thing about the food is that while it is the most scientifically made and highly nourishing, concentrated food I have ever known, it has so delicious a taste that it wins and holds friends." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pgs.

Our Queer Sense of Humor.

"Americans have a strange sense of humor, don't you know," began the Englishman. "The othah day, for example, I went into a restaurant with a friend and he awsked for sinkahs. I was surprised to see them bring him three biscuit of some sort or othah. Again at anothah time I dined with him at a table d'hote cafe. He said to the waiter, 'Bring us a couple of bottles of pink ink.' What the waiter brought him, don't you know, was two bottles of red wine."

"Really, it is very strange, the American sense of humor. You catch onto my meaning?"—N. Y. Press.

The extraordinary popularity of fine white goods this summer makes the choice of Starch a matter of great importance. Defiance Starch, being free from all injurious chemicals, is the only one which is safe to use on fine fabrics. Its great strength as a stiffener makes half the usual quantity of Starch necessary, with the result of perfect finish, equal to that when the goods were new.

His Usual Nightly Stunt.

"I must not listen to you, Mr. Penyaline," protested the blushing girl, with eyes downcast. "You are only trifling and—and, besides, it is getting late."

"Please hear me out, Miss Helen," pleaded the infatuated young reporter; "I'll cut it down to 250 words."—Roseleaf.
