A man that can milk a cow in fly time without getting out of humor is certainly entitled to be classed with Job.

Miss Jennie Cummings of Crab Orchard, Nebr., came in to Nemaha last Friday and is visiting Miss Alice Peabody.

Kindig & Peabody write cyclone, tornado, and windstorm insurance at lowest rates. Loans negotiated at lowest rates.

Mrs. J. W. Sapp, who has been visiting in the western part of the state for two or three weeks, returned home last Friday.

Miss Lillie Clark returned home Wednesday afternoon, after several days' visit with her aunt, Mrs. J. D. Rainey, of Auburn.

The state holiness campmeeting at Lincoln begins July 9th instead of the 19th as we had it last week, and closes on the 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rider came in from Howe Thursday to visit Mrs. Rider's mother, Mrs. Kittle, who is quite sick with heart disease.

Mrs. Theo. Hill is having a new floor put in and other repairs made in the building recently occupied by J. E. Crother's harness shop.

C. W. Roberts was the last man to cross the raging Nemaha Tuesday afternoon. The water ran in the wagon box and there was quite a swift current.

F. L. Woodward cut some of his timothy hay Tuesday, on his farm south of town, but was saved the expense of putting it up, as the high water took it.

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Chapman and children of Pleasant Dale, Nebr., came to Nemaha Saturday on a visit to George's mother, Mrs. S. Yates. They went home Thursday.

M. H. Taylor has sold his interest in the drug store at Shubert to his partner, Will Lesley, and we understand will move to Peru to give Miss Gladys the benefit of the Normal school.

Wm. Filmer is staying at St. Deroin this week. Mrs. Filmer is looking after the store in Nemaha.

Mrs. W. N. Faris went to Peru Saturday afternoon and visited her parents over Sunday. Walt went up Monday morning, both returning in the evening.

The government steamboat, the James B. McPherson, passed up the river Saturday morning. The boat tied up opposite Nemaha and a man started for town, but came to a place where he would have to wade water, so turned back.

Misses May Noah, Opha Key and Edna Gainsforth of Burwell, Nebr., who are attending the normal school at Peru, were guests of Mrs. Frank Hawxby from Saturday evening until Monday morning. Miss Noah is a niece of Mrs. Hawxby.

Pitching horseshoes is again a popular amusement. The cyclone scared the fellows addicted to this game so bad that it was just two months before another game was played, and then it was started by the railroad men who laid over here on account of high water.

John M. Stephenson came down from Lincoln last Friday and spent the 4th with his parents, returning to Lincoln Monday. He had to go by way of Omaha to get there, and at Havlock had to take a street car the remainder of the way, as no trains were running into Lincoln.

Arthur Strain received a postal the first of the week from his brother-in-law, Lloyd Morris of Humboldt, saying that the latter's daughter Mary had died last Sunday at the home of an aunt in Burchard, where she had gone a few days previous on a visit. She was about twelve years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf B. Kinton and three daughters and Miss Mattie Fisher started for Portland, Oregon, Thursday, where they will visit Alf's brother, George Kinton. They will then visit Mrs. Kinton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fisher, and friends in California. Returning, they will stop at Salt Lake City, Utah, the Uncompahgre Valley, Colorado, and other places of interest. They do not know how long they will be gone but will make an extended visit.

Shortly after the cyclone, in which Rev. G. W. Ayers lost his driving horse, his father-in-law, living near Surprise, Nebr., presented him with a fine mare. Mr. Ayers and Irvin started for Surprise Monday to bring the mare home. They will drive home.

Mrs. Earle Gilbert started for Lincoln Monday morning but got only as far as Nebraska City when she found she could not get through on account of a section of track at Unadilla having been washed out by the storm the night previous. She came back home.

A petition has been circulated and signed by those dissatisfied with the action taken by the annual school meeting in instructing the school board to hire a fourth teacher, asking that a special meeting be called to rescind that action. The meeting has been called for Tuesday evening, July 21.

Jas. A. Stephenson says there are some rattlesnakes in the country yet—at least there was one Thursday, but he is a dead one now. Jimmy was walking along the railroad track this side of Bracken Thursday, with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rider, when Mrs. Rider almost stepped on a snake. Jimmy killed it. It had five rattles and was not very large around but was about three feet long.

During the storm a week ago Saturday night Jas. A. Stephenson had a horse killed by lightning—the third horse that he has lost this spring and summer. This one was one of a span of beautiful sorrels with light mane and tail, almost perfect matches in every way. They were three years old. Mr. Stephenson raised the one that was killed and had considerable difficulty in matching it. He will pay $200 for a match to the one that is left.

J. C. Broady says that during the past six years the overflow of the Missouri river has filled in six feet and in some places much more than this in the low places on the farm northeast of Nemaha where he is living, owned by his father, J. H. Broady. Six years ago Cal built a fence, the posts being six feet above ground. These posts are now entirely covered. The filling in has been especially noticeable this year. The soil deposited is a rich sandy loam.

J. F. Ebnother Has a Runaway

J. F. Ebnother got badly bruised Tuesday forenoon. He had been cutting wheat and stopped to oil the machine. He was in front of the binder when the horses started. He was thrown down and the binder went over him, badly bruising one arm and both legs. The ground was very soft, otherwise he would likely have sustained serious injuries. The horses ran down a hill and the machine got tangled up in some sarlings, which stopped them until Jim Shiveley, who had heard the racket, ran and caught them. If they had gone a few feet farther they would have gone down a steep embankment. The horses were not hurt but the binder was badly broken.
