The indications for a storm were quite portentous, Wednesday evening, but after a brilliant display of heaven's artillery and fire works, and a slight rain, all was serene.

A drunken individual from Eckley, for some reason unknown to us, shot a hole through the front door of Braun's saloon. He was fired from the premises p. d. q., sans ceremony.

We have good reason to believe that the B. & M. railroad to Cheyenne will make its junction with the main line here at Brush—the survey made from this point having proved satisfactory.—Lariat.

We noticed the arrival of another fine stallion in this section. The horse was brought from Washington county, Kansas, by C. W. Yocum of Cornell on the Driftwood. Scrubs and bronchos are being rapidly superseded by fine, blooded animals.

Cholera infantum is prevailing extensively in our town, and parents should be most careful what their children eat. Due care in this direction may save many hours of pain and forestal more serious results. Be very careful what the little ones eat!

A gentleman by the name of Boardman of Missouri, together with a number of other men of capital, are starting a town named Odell, down in Rawlins county, Kansas. The site is near the center of the county, and is destined to be the county-seat of Rawlins. Lumber for the erection of buildings is being hauled down from this place.

Right Reverend Bishop O'Connor of the Catholic church administered the sacrament of confirmation to twelve applicants at this place, Saturday morning. On Sunday morning the Bishop confirmed eleven at Indianola.

The village pound has been moved from the old Dunbar livery stable yard to the rear of Olcott's barn. We give this information for the benefit of the boys, who can make some spending money by driving in astrays, and they are quite numerous betimes.

A choir from our town, consisting of the following named persons did the singing at the services conducted by Bishop O'Connor at the county-seat, Sunday: Mrs. Farley, Mrs. Menard, Mrs. Bosley, Miss McCotter, Misses Edith and Dell Menard, Prof. Yager and F. L. McCracken.

We are just advised as to the death of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Babcock's little boy baby, which occurred at the residence of Mrs. Babcock's mother in Rockford, Ill., where the mother and child had been visiting for some time, July 6th. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of this community in the loss of their little one—their only child.

There are two civil engineers from Lincoln in town, who, in connection with George Irving, are mapping out more water mains. We understand that a main will be laid along Railroad street, running east and west, also that the company will put in a fire-plug at the corner of Main avenue and Railroad street, a precautionary measure against fire.

The wash-out near Stratton, which occurred last week, was more extensive than was at first reported. Five spans of the bridge or trestle work were taken out, requiring the efforts of a large force of men to repair temporarily by Friday evening, when the excursion train which had been laying over at this point, went on her west-bound trip rejoicing.

Mrs. Thompson, who has been drilling the small children of our town for the past week, gave one of her Happy Hours concerts in the Opera Hall, Tuesday evening. Considering the shortness of the time for preparation and other disadvantages under which the children labored, they executed their part of the program very creditably—and amusingly betimes. The audience was fair.

J. B. Meserve returned from his trip to Paxton, Ill., Friday evening. During his absence he formed a cattle company under the head and style of the Paxton Cattle Co., with George Wright, President; O. D. Sacket, Vice-President; C. H. Frew, Secretary and Treasurer, and J. B. Meserve, General Manager. The company will add a few steers to their herd this fall, and stock up largely in the spring.

"Fly foo" is the name of a new gambling game. The players sit around a table, each one having a lump of sugar in front of him. Then each player puts a dime or a quarter into the pool, and the man on whose sugar a fly first alights rakes in the wealth. Flies come high but they must be had. If a premium were added for the largest number of flies and the game played in the rear of Hayden's store, the game would be most remunerative.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the past week were among the liveliest McCook has seen in a long while. All trains were delayed here from six to eight hours and the dusty travelers thronged the Eating House and the restaurants for food and drink, and the regular boarders approached their respective eating places with fear and trembling, and great luck was to them if they were able to get a seat at the table. Wet groceries were in brisk demand.

A number of the "Bee line—Rocky Mountain" excursionist, who were detained at this station all day Friday, by reason of the wash-out near Stratton, called at this office during the day. The major portion of the excursionists, (who numbered about seventy-five,) came from Cleveland. Their surprise at finding a town like McCook, "away out on the Nebraska frontier" was genuine, and we might add, altogether reasonable, and their ideas of cow-boys and the like were mirth-provoking indeed.

TO THE HOUSEKEEPER.—Insist on getting DeLand's Soda, and don't let your grocer argue you out of it. It will pay you in the end and you will use no other.—Sold by Hayden & Co.

The eagerly looked for Leap Year Ball was given by the young ladies of our burg in the Opera Hall, Wednesday evening, and if the energy and zest with which these present entered into the same be considered a criterion, the evening was most thoroughly enjoyed. The threatening, lowering state of the weather in the early part of the evening kept many from the dance, but by 10 o'clock a goodly number of dancers had arrived, and the ball was opened up, and the young ladies commenced selecting partners, (in person, the more timid by proxy.) The party disbanded about 2:30, with pleasant memories flitting through their brains—to disturb the limited slumber left them before the coming morn.

We assure our readers who complain of not getting their papers that every package of our mail is carefully put up about midnight, Thursday nights and all are in the post office early in the morning ready for the mails going in the various directions. We believe Mr. Callahan takes great pains to see that they are all off on time, but there is certainly crookedness some where and the peculiar thing of it is, that the complaints all come from one direction.—Frontier County Faber.

From the above article it doth appear that Bro. Powers of the Frontier County Faber is afflicted in about the same manner THE TRIBUNE is and has been for sometime, namely in his subscribers not receiving their papers regularly and as soon as they ought. THE TRIBUNE, ("I repeat it, sir," is always in the postoffice at this place every Thursday evening—and never has failed in the past nine months. Now our subscribers up the Willow complain that they do not receive the paper until Tuesday evening, and why this is so, we are anxious to know. The train carrying the mail leaves McCook at 6.15 and arrives at Indianola at 6.34, A. M., and as we are authoritatively informed the mail carrier OUGHT to start not earlier than 7, A. M., there are 26 minutes elapsing between the time the mail reaches Indianola from McCook, sufficient time for the same to be sent up the creek in the mail which goes up that morning. The same is practically true of the Beaver subscribers. Sometimes they get their papers Friday and most of the time, Tuesday of the following week, when the news has become old. This state of affairs is a gross injustice to our subscribers as well as ourselves, and ought not to be, and we think will be sooner or later, rectified. This business ought to be pinned where it belongs.

This community was pained and shocked at the announcement of the death of John Lee, one of the first and most favorably known citizens of our town, which occurred at the residence of the deceased, Wednesday morning. Mr. Lee had been unwell ever since shortly after the fourth, having taken cold during a trip into the country, and was confined to his bed two or three days, when he got up and was around again, although unable to do any work. On Sunday he became much worse, and a doctor was called, but the patient became rapidly worse, the disease spreading from the larger to the smaller bronchial tubes, assuming the form of acute capillary bronchitis, and other physicians were called in consultation, and although every medical attention was given, they were powerless to stay the fell destroyer, whose deadly fingers were laid with such powerful grasp upon his victim, and about 10 o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, the spirit of the sufferer parted company with its earthly tenement. Death, even under its most mitigating circumstances is full of terror and sadness to the human family, and when a person is cut down in the bloom of manhood, it is doubly so. The bereaved wife and fatherless children have the deepest sympathy of our people.

The funeral took place from the residence of the deceased, Thursday afternoon, Rev. Dungan of the Congregational church conducting the services. After services at the house, the remains were followed to their lasting resting place by the Band, of which he was a member, and a large concourse of people.

John Hughes of Blackwood came very near climbing the golden stairs, recently, while breaking a wild horse. He was saddling the wiley broncho, and incautiously passed around the animals' heels, which saluted John in the pit of the stomach, rendering life a burden for some time. He is able to be about as usual again.

Our teacher and Miss Lettie Boughton, who were in attendance at the Teacher's Institute, last week, have returned with a favorable report of the proceedings.

We still have two more weeks of school. We think our school boards should arrange to have the schools begin earlier—so as not to run so far into the heated season.

A number of our citizens were down to hear Captain Seeley tell of his southern prison life and of the battle of Gettysburg. They pronounce the lecture quite interesting.

H. B. Duckworth passed through this place, last week, with a fine lot of cattle, which he was taking from Indianola to his ranch on the Beaver. He is one of the prosperous farmers of that section.

We hear a gentle murmur from the distance. It bears the news: "A wedding is on the tapis. A school-marm about to leave the ranks." Consolation, where art thou? But then we'll not despair yet, 'tis only a rumor.

Some of the neighboring farmers have become very industrious of late, so much so that they are not satisfied with six day's labor in one week, but profane the day of rest, also. In more civilized countries such violations would be dealt with by law, but here those who do wish to observe that day aright are obliged to bear with such disturbances and politely say nothing.

PHILO.

A Card.

I take this opportunity and means of returning my heartfelt thanks to my neighbors and friends for the kindness and assistance rendered during the late illness and at the funeral of my wife.

ROBERT JOHNSON.

A NUMBER of the papers of the state are making a sensible and timely move toward having the state laws published in the county papers. "Ignorance of the law excuses no one," and yet the laws are made known only through the statutes, and but a few copies of this book are allowed to each county.

We have no patience with the scandal-mongers who are trying to make this campaign a campaign of smut and vile personal abuse. We do not believe that any party or its candidate for the presidency can be benefitted by the use of the muck-rake.

The word "Sundayed" is frequently used by certain journals in this state. Will one of those papers give us the etymology of the word. Like to hear from the Norfolk Journal. How is it, Colonel?

Auditor Dorman of the B. & M., wife and party were in town, last Thursday.

THE Napoleonists in France are having a high old time in participating in the quarrel between Plon-Plon, the heir apparent, and his son Victor, who ranks as prince imperial. Victor has for some years been photographed as a very virtuous and high-minded youth, who inherited none of the traits that have made his father Jerome unpopular. But the friends of the old man now accuse him of all sorts of villainies, among the most venial being the fact that he is a habitual liar, and that he receives his financial backing from a notorious courtesan, one Mme. Gabrielle. They nickname him now "Gabrielle's darling." Paul de Cassagnac is a partisan of Victor and helps to vilify Plon-Plon in turn. Upon the whole, the imperialists are rapidly making themselves the laughing stock of France. But they have much sympathy in Europe outside, in all aristocratic circles, where it is hoped that they may sometime overthrow the republic.
