How the Funned Biblical City Looks at Present Day.

Other pillars are broken in two, lie prostrate, or are utilized in the construction of stone walls. We counted nearly 100, and Mr. Floyd says that the great majority have either been destroyed by the natives or carted away to Europe to occupy niches in museums. The level place at the extreme top of the hill was adorned by sixteen very large columns. It was doubtless in this general inclosure that the temple of Baal stood, which was utterly destroyed by Jehu, after he had received the heads of gate of Jezreel, and mercilessly slaughtered all the priests of Baal, as recorded in the 10th chapter of the 2d Kings.

What terrible agony there must have been in Samaria during that memorable siege of the indefatigable Benhadad. After having traveled through the Orient it does not seem at all incredible to me that the people resorted to doves' dung for food, until it actually became a costly luxury (II Kings vi., 25.)

Not only did Elijah and Elisha work wonders in Samaria, but even the Apostles wrought miracles and preached there. The revival which was started by Philip, who far eclipsed the witcheries exercised by Simon the Sorcerer, induced the Apostles who had remained behind in Jerusalem to reinforce him first impulse of an oriental when he which, it is claimed, the beloved disciple met his death. Mr. Thompsoh's African Travels. Sir John Kirk has sent from Zanzibar a long telegram to the Geographical Society, supplementing with valuable details the information we have already given as to the African expedition under Mr. Joseph Thompson. We are able to give the following details: Mr. Thompson left Taveta last July in company with a Pangani caravan, after his first ineffectual attempt to penetrate into the interior. Travelling in a northerly direction and passing Rombo, he reached the dreaded Masai country, and crossed the headwaters of the Tzavo; thence his route was more westerly, across the a weed"-and finally make him think great sandy plain, the bed of a dried-up he is a giraffe. Here Mr. Thomson left the Kaptei plateau and reached next the northern end of Lake Naivasha, in latitude 0 deg. 43 min. 30 sec. south, longitude 36 deg. 4 min. east. Lake Naivasha lies in a trough-like valley, which extends to 1 deg. north latitude and divides the plateau. Lakes Nakola, Bahringo, and numerous hot springs lie in the trough. Mr. Thomson visited South Naivasha, Doenyo Susiva (Sus), 8000 feet high, a wonderful volcanic crater, and Buri (D. Mburo). The Moisa here were numerous and harass-
