PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, A joint resolution was adopted by the legislature of the state of Nebraska, at the eighteenth session thereof, and approved February 27th, A. D. 1883, proposing an amendment to section one (1) of article five (5) of the constitution of said state, and that said section as amended shall read as follows, to-wit:

"Section 4.—The term of office of members of the legislature shall be two years, and they shall each receive a salary of three hundred dollars for their services during said term, and ten cents for every mile they shall travel in going to and returning from the place of meeting of the legislature, on the usual route. Provided, however, that neither members of the legislature nor employes shall receive any pay or perquisites other than their salary and mileage. Each session, except special sessions, shall not be less than sixty days. After the expiration of forty days of the session no bills or resolutions shall be introduced, unless the governor shall, by special message, call the attention of the legislature to the necessity of passing a law on the subject matter embraced in the message, and the introduction of bills shall be restricted thereto."

The ballots at the election at which said resolution was submitted shall be in the following form: "For proposed amendment to the constitution relating to legislative department." Against proposed amendment to the constitution relating to legislative department."

WHEREAS, A joint resolution was adopted by the legislature of the state of Nebraska, at the eighteenth session thereof, and approved February 28th, A. D. 1883, proposing an amendment to section one (1) of article five (5) of the constitution of said state, and that said section as amended shall read as follows, to-wit:

"Section 1.—The executive department shall consist of a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Attorney General, Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings, and Board of Railway Commissioners. The officers named in this section shall hold their offices for the term of two years from the first Thursday after the first Tuesday in January next after his election, and until his successor is chosen in the same manner and at such times, and shall hold their offices for such length of time as may be provided by law, and shall perform such duties and receive such compensation as may be provided by law. The Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of Public Accounts, Treasurer, Commissioner of Public Lands and Buildings, and Attorney General, shall reside at the seat of government during their terms of office, and keep the public records, books and papers there, and the officers herein named shall perform such duties as may be required by law. The ballots at the election at which said resolution was submitted shall be in the following form: "For proposed amendment to the constitution, entitled, 'Executive Department.'" Against proposed amendment to section one (1) of article five (5) of the constitution, entitled, 'Executive Department.'"

Therefore, I, James W. Dawes, Governor of the State of Nebraska, do hereby give notice, in accordance with section one (1) of article five (5) of the constitution of said state, that the election of an act entitled, "An act to provide the manner of proposing amendments to the constitution and submitting the same to the election of this state," approved February 27th, A. D. 1883, and that said proposed amendments will be submitted to the qualified voters of this state for ratification or rejection at the general election to be held on the 4th day of November, A. D. 1884.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Nebraska.

[SEAL.] Done at Lincoln, this 18th day of July, A. D. 1884, the eighteenth day of the month of July, in the second year of the independence of the United States the one hundred and ninth.

By the Governor,
JAMES W. DAWES.

Attest:
EDWARD P. ROGGEN, Secretary of State.

The Oberlin Eye was purchased by Mr. Borin, a former journalist of Red Cloud. Editor Hand will proceed to Ludel to make a warm county-seat fight in Rawlins county.

SITTING BULL and half a dozen other Indians are now being exhibited in the east by an enterprising showman, who obtained permission of Secretary Teller of the interior department to take the famous chieftan on a tour through the country for "educational purposes."

In electing General Manager Thomas J. Potter the first vice president of the C. B. & Q. railroad the directors have put a first class man into a position which he will adorn.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL GRESHAM, having declined the secretaryship of the treasury, will be appointed United States circuit judge at Chicago, to succeed Judge Drummond, and will probably enter upon the discharge of his duties on the 1st of October.

NO FOREIGNER can vote in Nebraska unless he takes out his declaration papers thirty days before the election. The time for doing this expires on the 5th of October. Those who desire to exercise the privilege of voting for the next president should not fail to take out their papers at once.

MR. JAMES W. DOLAN has been nominated by the republicans of the 30th senatorial district. Dolan's record in the past legislature was that of a pliant tool of the monopolies. He is an unsafe man to trust with the concerns of this state, and should never be returned to the legislature. Keep him at home.—Omaha Bee.

We are sorry for you Rosey but we are afraid we cannot accommodate you in this matter. Mr. Dolan was unanimously nominated, and will be elected by a handsome majority.

The Illinois state fair proved a financial failure. It was a six-days fair, and the state board had to meet a deficit of $10,000. Nebraska ought to congratulate herself on the fact that her fair was a success, and that a surplus is found in the treasury. It is certainly gratifying to know that Nebraska people patronize their state fair more liberally than those of the great state of Illinois support theirs.

The funny editor of Harper's Monthly has cribbed the old story about the first Napoleon to whom an inventor of a bullet-proof armor came, and who fled forever from the imperial presence when the Little Corporal told him to put it on and stand up while he sent for a firing party to test it. The fellow who cribbed this old story now substitutes the Duke of Wellington for Napoleon. The next thing will be, we suppose, an account of how the Iron Duke seized the flag and held the bridge at Lodi.

The English government is trying a novel experiment in life insurance. Policies for sums not over $125 are now granted at any post office savings bank without any medical examination. If, however, an insured should die before the second annual premium becomes payable, the amount of the first premium, and no more, will be paid to his representative; should the insured die after the payment of the second, but before the third premium becomes due, the representatives will be paid only half the amount of the policy. In case of death from accident, however, the full amount is paid. After the payment of the third premium the policy is entitled to full benefit.—Bee.

In the Blaine libel suit the court sat on the 13th inst. to hear arguments on the motion made by the defendant asking for a ruling of the court as to whether Mr. Blaine should be compelled to answer the interrogatories filed by the defendant. The judge stated in advance that interrogatories had long been prohibited in the United States courts, and though he personally would like to see the rule changed, he would not take the liberty to set it aside. Thereupon the counsel for Mr. Blaine, Senator Harrison, volunteered the statement that no argument in favor of the rule would be offered by his side, but that Mr. Blaine would answer the interrogatories without any rule. So that cock won't fight, and the valiant Shee-maker will have to think of some other device to raise a sensation.—Journal.

The ravages of cholera continue with awful fatality in the city of Naples. Since the 20th of August over two thousand deaths have occurred. The scenes in the stricken city are heart-rending, and the superstitions of the ignorant people lead them to commit deeds that are a disgrace to this enlightened age. King Humbert, however, continues to bravely do his duty by remaining in the city and personally visiting the hospitals and patients without any fear of his own safety. He occupies his time in distributing aid and words of comfort and encouragement. His example has done much to allay the popular excitement and it has induced others to remain at their posts and perform their duty. The heroism of King Humbert excites the admiration of the world, and it is truly said that "it is the most welcome royal picture Europe has looked on for years."—Bee.

BLACKWOOD.

September 9th, 1884.
EDITOR TRIBUNE:—Crossing the divide, today, from the Willow to the Blackwood, I saw that which left an impression on my mind never to be effaced. I had entered a canon, when from a pocket just ahead of me dashed a calf closed pursued by two powerful wolves. A few bounds more and both had fastened on the calf. The poor creature sprang about trying to tear loose from those cruel fangs, and as it fell and rose it sent forth a piteous cry. I was about to dash forward, but checked my horse as there came an answering call; and a moment after, a small yellow Texas cow sprang into view. She seemed to take in the situation at a glance. Never slacking her speed, but with lowered head and those long sharp horns well pointed, uttering a loud bleat as she came on, that, live as long as I may, I shall ever think meant, "Courage my child, I am coming." The bleeding calf was down, but it heaved, struggled to its feet and strove to reach its mother. During these years upon the border I thought I had seen wild cattle run, but never have I witnessed such an exhibition of speed as this wily little cow made. She fairly flew over the ground, sweeping the space that divided her from her calf almost at a bound. Like a thunderbolt she struck the wolves tearing loose their holds sending one full 200 feet into the air, where he split asunder and fell to the earth with a sickly thud. The other struck the earth about 30 yards away, as though hurled from the clouds and went pitch poling over the knolls, filling the air with a cloud of dust and hair. A log could be described from out the whirling mass. The momentum of the cow was so great that she struck the walls of the canon with such force as to bury her from my view, only the end of her tail protruding. I rushed forward, seized on that appendage and pulled with all my force. "Two vain: her eyes were already glazed and sunk in their sockets. The tazzards were flitting about searching for carcasses. The winds swept fitfully down the gulch, and a mournful feeling surged up in my breast furrowing my thoughts as I rode away.

Blackwood, Sept. 10th, 1884.
County settling up fast.—The largest hay crop ever cut is now in stack.—Some late arrivals are yet putting up hay.—Steve Bailey and family have moved here from the Willow.—The Bailey boys are preparing to fence quite a tract of their land: posts already cut.—Grandpa Bailey and wife, owning property in McCook, will make their home there.—Many buildings going up on stream and divide.—Curtis sold out his ranch and about 60 head of cattle to John Hughes. Will soon make his home in Hastings.—Round-up boys had quite a skirmish with the fire fiend on Tuesday last. A pipe lit, a match dropped in to the grass, and it took the united efforts of all the cowboys, fighting with saddle blankets, to put it out, and then until the fire had run three-fourths of a mile.—Wednesday a fire came sweeping down from the Platte country. Was on head of Willow and Blackwood when last heard from. Stockmen were turning cattle in toward the creek and preparing to fight it out. The face of the fire was about 40 miles in extent.—LATER.—Wind changing, the cowboys were enabled to put out the flames. W. D.

Culbertson, Sept. 12, 1884.
Near this office, just at dark last night, a steer and his hand fell out and leaping to the ground were soon rolling in the dirt in the shape. Gaining their feet the cowman drew a knife and but for fleetness of foot we would have to chronicle the death of a cowboy. W.
