

NEBRASKA.

Corn is safe and a magnificent crop. There is talk of the second skating rink in Lincoln.

Adams county has decided to hold a fair in October. The Harlan county fair will be held October 1st, 2d and 3d.

There are sixty students in attendance at the Hastings college. The pressing need of Grand Island is said to be a first class hotel.

There is talk about fitting up a $10,000 gambling house in Hastings. The Lancaster county fair was the most successful one ever held.

A new passenger train has been put on to run in and out of Beatrice. The Dodge county fair will be held at Fremont October 1st, 2d and 3d.

Norfolk has on exhibition a mammoth squash weighing ninety pounds. The new Congregational church at Fremont is in the hands of the bricklayers.

Fremont claims a population of 7,500, which makes it the third city in the state. The new hotel at Hastings to be one of the finest, if not the largest, in the state.

The proposition to license a saloon in Kenesaw was negatived by the town board. A bigger and better display was made at the Richardson county fair than ever before.

John Earson, of Bloomington, was recently severely shocked by a stroke of lightning. T. H. Head, living south of Harlan, has a fine bearing peach orchard of 600 trees.

A movement is on foot looking to the sinking of an artesian well in North Platte. The Adventists, in their camp meeting at Omaha, will hold forth on the fair grounds.

Those counties that are holding fairs this fall are presenting fine products of the soil. The Israelites of Omaha have erected a fine synagogue, which was dedicated a few days ago.

Rev. H. S. Harrison, of Chicago, has accepted a call from the Congregationalists of York. Gen. Thayer, of Grand Island, has gone to Indiana to stump the state for the republican ticket.

The receipts of the state fair at Omaha were about $30,000, which is $5,000 greater than ever before. Ohio settlers of Lancaster county held a reunion last week. A goodly number was in attendance.

The Sioux City & Pacific will extend their road as far as Fort Robinson by the first of next June. A number of colored people of Lincoln left that city a few days ago for Liberia, their future home.

J. V. Love has sold his Colfax county rancho of 1,200 acres to some parties from England for $28,000. Abner Turner and A. B. Coffroth, of Columbus, have just purchased land in Wyoming for a cattle rancho.

Next year's grand lodge of Knights of Pythias will be held at Lincoln on the second Tuesday in October. James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald, en route to San Francisco, made a brief stop at Omaha.

The anti-monopolists and democrats of the Second congressional district have nominated J. H. Stickle for congress. Mrs. John Yerga, wife of a business man of Omaha, has deserted his bed and board and gone off with another feller.

The school year of the state deaf and dumb institute at Omaha opened last week with one hundred students in attendance. J. A. Bruce, of Elm Island, had his barn destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock in the morning. It is not known how the fire originated.

Thieves are again numerous in Lincoln, and the shotgun which had been temporarily laid away is again being brought forth. It is stated that Fremont was looser by the reunion. A great many more people were expected than put in an appearance.

The Seventh Day Adventists of Iowa and Nebraska will hold a camp meeting at Omaha from September 24th to October 6th. Miss Emma O. Burlingame, of Crete, has mysteriously left home, and her parents are anxious to learn of her whereabouts.

A petition was circulated at Ashland asking for an election to vote bonds for the purpose of heating the school house by steam. The wedding out process has been inaugurated in the Omaha police force. It is found that a number of them are drunkards.

Nearly every town in the state has a skating rink, and those not provided therewith are rapidly making preparations to this end. The prisoners in the Grand Island jail made an attempt to escape, and now measures have been taken for making them more secure.

Milford is organizing to secure the location of the soldiers' home at that place. Other towns and cities are doing the same thing. Democrats of North Platte held a meeting to ratify the nomination of their fellow-citizen, Wm. Neville, for congress in the Third district.

Land Office Commissioner McFarland rules that land office notices must be published in newspapers having good and bona fide circulation. Mrs. Daniel Wertz carried off the special premium at York county fair as the best lady rider. The premium was a silk dress valued at $30.

A Nebraska cattle thief has just been overhauled at Columbus, Ohio, by the sheriff of York county, and brought back to the theatre of his operations. The Brownville Grangers say it is confidently believed that coal, for which boring is now proceeding, will be discovered in that city at reasonable depth.

The Empire state stock and dairy company has been organized at Fremont, with a capital of $15,000. The company propose to start a ranche in Holt county. Two children of Mr. Sutter, of Otoe county, fell into a well containing eight feet of water, and but for the timely arrival of their father would have drowned.

A great deal of fatal sickness has prevailed of late about Juniata. Deaths were principally among children, the mortality among whom has been unusually large. The state convention of the W. C. T. U. will meet in Omaha early in October. Nebraska will this year probably send four delegates to the national convention.

Prisoners confined in the Falls City jail attempted to bore their way through the wall but the jailor pounced upon them before they accomplished their purpose.

The York Democrat says many eastern land seekers have recently visited York county, and so well pleased were they with the outlook that all made purchases.

Perry Dutton was arrested at Alnsworth by Deputy Sheriff Brahmstedt, upon charge of stealing a horse belonging to John Fowler. He was taken back to Valentine for trial.

John Croft, 80 years old, living in Adams county, has wandered from home, and his people are anxious to find him, more particularly because he is often not in his right mind.

A Lincoln woman who stood the abuse and cruelty of a drunken husband as long as she could, started out to earn her own living, but was taken sick, and is now a subject for charity.

Mrs. Rosakrans, an aged lady at Tecumseh, while ascending a long flight of stairs, was attacked with a fainting fit and fell backward to the bottom, sustaining injuries from which she died.

A seventeen-year-old girl named Matilda McCullough, living with a farmer in Nuckolls county, attempted to take her life by means of bed-bug poison. She was saved by a stomach pump.

The English Lutheran church, at Omaha, now undergoing completion, is one of the handsomest church edifices of the west. It is having a mammoth organ with 104 pipes at a cost of $3,000.

The young lady at Columbus who won the $1,000 piano at the state fair has presented Mr. Mueller, of Council Bluffs, with a beautiful cushion made from the crazy quilt which she had on exhibition.

Tom Rogers and Bill Turner, Lincoln, had a difficulty, when the former shot the latter in the leg, painfully but not dangerously wounding him. Turner had interfered with the domestic affairs of Rogers.

The B. & M. company has put in stock and feed yards near the round house at Hastings, and all stock shipped from Benkelman and points east of that station will be unloaded and fed and watered there.

Two bootblacks entered the store of J. D. Jackson, North Platte, and stole fifteen pocket knives, some pipes, plug tobacco, and 150 cigars. The thieves were captured and all the stolen property recovered.

About thirty crooks were arrested at Omaha during fair week, some of whom will be held for trial. All accounts agree that the thieves who put in an appearance on the occasion of the fair were not very successful, on account of the newspapers having sounded the note of warning.

An Iowa farmer had a team stolen and went to Omaha to look for the same. Here he fell in with a stranger who claimed to be able to find the stolen property. Finally he offered the Iowa man a drink of whisky from a flask, after partaking of which he lost his senses and all his wealth, some $140.

Mrs. Briggs, the wife of a hard-working brick mason of Lincoln, got washed on another fellow, and the other day "lit out," taking their baby, the only child, and stripping the house of furniture. Briggs don't care about the woman's return, but he wants it understood that he is going to get the child—and don't you forget it?

The Lutheran Synod, at its recent convention in Ponca, appointed an educational committee. Measures will be taken to found a classical institution of learning west of the Missouri river. A suitable place will be looked after and inducements considered. Eleven newly organized congregations upon application were received into connection with the Evangelical Lutheran Synod of Nebraska.

The Utica Record sums up the harvest: "Now that the threshing is nearly over in this vicinity farmers know how much they have been repaid for their labors of the season; as a rule the yield of all kinds of grain is satisfactory, and while not yet quite up to last year the quality is excellent, whilst the corn is very good, and the weather very favorable to its ripening up in time to be out of the way of frost."

Resolutions by the State Fair Managers. Before adjournment the board of managers of the state fair adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That in behalf of the public at large, the board thank all railroad and express lines leading into Omaha for accommodations and conveniences rendered visitors and exhibitors attending and exhibiting at the state fair.

Resolved, That the thanks of the board are hereby tendered all class superintendents and committees who have so faithfully and satisfactorily performed the duties devolved upon them.

Resolved, That the general and assistant superintendents, heads of divisions, police and other forces employed by the board, merit and are hereby tendered special mention for the satisfactory manner in which their difficult duties were performed.

Resolved, That special and unreserved thanks are due and extended the press of the state for the very liberal aid in making this fair a grand success, and especially to the press of Omaha for the extended, fair and impartial and unreserved presentation of the exhibits and doings of the exposition.

Resolved, That the thousands of exhibitors who, at great expenditure of time and money, have labored hard and long, and who will ever be held in grateful remembrance by both the board and the people of the state.

POLITICAL NOTES. John J. Ney, of Independence, Iowa, was nominated by the democrats for circuit judge of the eighth judicial district.

Regarding Folger's successor it is stated that no one but the president himself knows who has been decided upon, but those who have talked with him upon the subject say that Postmaster General Gresham and Assistant Secretary Coon appear to be the only ones on his mind.

The Colorado republican state convention completed the list of nominations of state officers and presidential electors. The platform endorses Blaine and Logan, asks that import duties imposed by the act of 1867 on wool be restored, and demands the removal of the Southern Ute Indians from the state.

Chairman King, of the Maine republican state committee, has sent a telegram to the chairman of the national republican committee, of which the following is an abstract: Four hundred and sixty towns and plantations in Maine give republican majority, 16,592; plurality, 20,230.

The prohibition party of Boston and vicinity held a rally in Tremont temple. Among the speakers was Mr. Daniel, the party nominee for vice-president of the United States. He asserted that there were more prohibitionists among the democrats of the south than among the republicans, and that prohibition had really a stronger hold in southern than in northern states. He believed that no issue would exert so strong an influence in uniting the two sections of country as the temperance issue.

Colorado prohibitionists passed a series of resolutions declaring in favor of the principle and policy of legal prohibition, pledging support to only pure men for position of official trust, declaring for unity with and allegiance to the national prohibition party, and pledging a cordial support to St. John and Daniel.

A committee of fifteen was appointed, with instructions to place a state ticket in the field, of either of the candidates of the other parties or new men.

BRIEFLY TOLD.

Hog cholera is raging in many counties in New Jersey. McCullough, the actor, is said to have been comically demoted.

It is estimated that the losses in the Cleveland fire will reach $30,000. Coke manufacturers threaten to put out the fires in consequence of low prices.

Forest fires have broken out in Michigan and are doing a good deal of damage. Baron Alvensteben, the new German minister to this country, has arrived at Washington.

Seven hundred cigar rollers at Binghampton, New York, are on a strike for higher wages. Isaac Jackson was hanged at Chicago on Friday for the murder of George Bedell in April last.

Both of the Lander brothers, the Philadelphia bankers who suspended payment, have been arrested. The extensive works at the Granby mining and smelting company, at Oroonoo, Mo., were destroyed by fire.

Stafford & Co., of Providence and Fall River, cotton goods manufacturers, have failed. Liabilities $250,000.

Portions of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana and Ohio were shaken by earthquake on the 19th. No damage was done.

The annual reunion of the society of the army of the Cumberland convened at Rochester, N. Y., on the 17th.

A movement is on foot for making faster time between Philadelphia and New York—190 miles in three hours.

Bill Taylor, a negro, who assaulted Mrs. Flipper in June last, was taken from the officers at Dallas, Texas, and hung.

Mayor Samuel Robinson, of Charlotte, Michigan, was shot by a tramp at night at his home, and is now in a critical condition.

News from Peru chronicle the complete defeat of General Carceres, the principal revolutionary leader, which occurred at Lima on 27th ult.

The Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe road gave Commissioner Daniels notice that it would withdraw from the Colorado and Utah pools, September 30.

John Nelson, a printer of St. Louis, was shot and killed by Mrs. E. G. Stewart while attempting to enter her home during her husband's absence.

Oliver Normald, a Buffalo fresco painter, will go to Niagara to perfect arrangements for going over the cataract in a thick rubber ball fifteen feet in diameter for a purse of $1,000.

Sam Jackson, who outraged and murdered a white girl aged 13, seven years ago, and who was recently captured, was taken from the Hamburg (Ark.) jail by a masked mob and hung to a tree.

The St. Paul directors have declared a regular dividend of 2 1/2 per cent, payable October 21. The books will close September 29 and reopen October 23. The meeting was harmonious and a full board present.

The eight-day bicycle-horse contest at St. Louis resulted in a victory for the horses. The final score stood: Morgan 445 miles, Armand 381; total for the bicycles 836 miles. Anderson and the horses, $39 miles.

Payne and the Oklahoma boomers have arrived in Wichita. They were indicted by the United States grand jury. A meeting was held at the skating rink at which Payne and several others denounced the government for arresting them.

Harry Taylor, Wm. P. Campbell and Miss Maud Reed, of Colorado, were drowned while crossing Grand river near Grand Junction. They were all interested in stock raising and were returning to their ranges when the accident occurred.

The Japanese government has proclaimed neutrality during the Franco-Chinese war. It is expected a revision of the treaty between Japan and foreign powers will be concluded in October and new and important privileges will be granted foreigners.

The failures for the last seven days, reported to R. G. Dun & Co., were 220 as against 213 last week. Kiernan's agency reports the failure of Stafford & Co., of Providence and Fall River, cotton goods manufacturers. They are said to owe $250,000 in Providence.

Dr. Robert M. Williamson, a druggist at Shelbyville, S. C., contemplated getting out a life insurance policy. Finding his pulse too high to pass the physician's examination, he sought to reduce it by taking twenty-five drops of aconite, but with fatal results.

The vicinity of Springfield, Mo., is considerably excited over the fact that the multitudinous caves of southwest Missouri frequently abound with guano, the product of bats. A Lamar company is already shipping two car loads of guano per week from Roark Cave, near Ozark, to Atlanta, Ga., which brings $65 per ton.

Two passenger trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway collided near Freeport, Ill., and both were badly wrecked. One of the engineers had a leg broken. The passengers all escaped without serious injury. Among them were half a dozen Indians from Dakota, including Sitting Bull.

President Seelye, of Amherst college, has declined the nomination for governor of Massachusetts by the prohibition party. He told a reporter he was very much surprised when informed he had been nominated, as he had previously answered every inquiry on the subject that he could not accept either the nomination or the office.

Lehen Fry proposed marriage to Mrs. Fenore Garmon, a widow living near Homer center, in Medina county, Ohio. Being rejected, Fry drew a revolver and shot Mrs. Garmon in the head, inflicting a severe but not necessarily fatal wound. Supposing he had killed her he went to a neighbor's, procured a shot gun, put the muzzle to his mouth and blew his head off.

CRIMINAL. The Mollie Maguires are again coming to the front in Pennsylvania, and are charged up with several murders.

Isaac Jacobson was hanged at Chicago on the 19th. The prisoner passed a quiet night, retiring at 10 o'clock and sleeping until 5, when he arose and ate a light breakfast. He walked composedly to the scaffold. No hitch occurred in any of the sheriff's arrangements. The condemned man's neck was broken in the fall.

Moses P. Brown, the Philadelphia colored man arrested for attempting to wreck trains on the Philadelphia & Atlantic City railway, was sentenced to imprisonment for twenty-one years at hard labor and pay a fine of $2,100. Brown stated the motive of his crime was to get square with the railroad company for being put off the train for not paying his fare.

A Wreck at Sea. Captain Hazleton, of the bark Hollinside, from London July 29th, states on July 31, while off Portland, G he saw a large number of live cattle swimming in the sea, also a quantity of wreckage. He picked up a boat with a gold streak running round the rim and marked "Britannia" of Newcastle. On the stern of the boat it was cut down on the port side as if done by a collision, but a boat in search, but could find no trace of any living person. The captain believed it to have been a steamer wrecked in a short time, as the cattle seemed quite lively.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Advices from Warsaw state that arrests of nihilists are of daily occurrence. Reports from sixteen towns in south France make a total of thirty deaths from cholera in twenty-four hours.

It is rumored that the German colonization society are about to send an expedition to make extensive acquisitions of land in West Africa.

Two thousand French troops landed at Kin Poi Pass on the Min river, below Foo Chow, and attacked the Chinese. The latter were defeated with heavy loss.

A Hong Kong dispatch says: Chinese officials claim that they first fired over the British gunboat "Zephyr," and fired directly at her afterwards, because she refused to stop at the first shot.

M. Patenotre, French minister to China, is at China, intriguing with the peace party among the Chinese. His hope is to bring about a revolution at the palace, and a consequent overthrow of the war party.

The police of Naples are ordered, if necessary, to forcibly prevent any further religious processions, which it is officially declared are promoted for sordid speculation. Barracks are being erected in Campo Marto to shelter the most indigent families now in the pestilential garrets.

Advices from China state that the Chinese have no intentions of blocking the Woo Sung river, on which Shanghai is situated, unless the French make an attack. Hundreds of stone-laden boats are in position to be sunk on the approach of the French fleet. It is believed that the neutral powers will seriously object to closing this river unless a formal declaration of war shall have been previously made.

Informers Casey and Philbin, who have claimed they were falsely accused by Myles Joyce in connection with the Marmatrasna murder case, are again talking. Casey declares there were seven men concerned in the murders—himself, Michael Casey, Patrick Casey, Patrick Joyce and three others. One of these was a wealthy farmer, still living near Marmatrasna. This man instigated the massacre, and held the lamp while the family were murdered. It was he, too, who compelled them to return and murder the aged grandmother.

CAPITAL BRIEFS. The acting secretary of the treasury has issued a warrant for $16,666 in favor of the directors of the New Orleans exposition, being the second installment.

The president has appointed Harry Kinslingbury, a son of Lieutenant Kinslingbury, who lost his life in the Greeley expedition as a cadet at large to the naval academy at Annapolis.

The commission appointed to visit Central and South America, will leave on the 10th of October, for the City of Mexico, from whence they go to Central America and afterwards visit the principal countries of South America. The commission expects to be gone six months.

THE CHOLERA SCOURGE.

The Plague Holding Relentless Swoop Ever Naples—Alarming Increase in the Death Rate.

A London dispatch says: The exodus from Naples during the past week has been so great that lodgings in neighboring villages are obtained only at fabulous prices. Sometimes as high as $50 francs a month for a single room is demanded. The better sections of the town are deserted, and the shops in Toledo are closed at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The theatres are all shut, and many of the poorer streets are as silent as death.

Even the cafes are closed, and the sign of life is to be seen only in the streets where the living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere. In some of these streets absolutely everybody is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

Meanwhile the doctors are doing the best they can. The archbishop has had the effect somewhat of dispelling the superstitions about persons who die alone. The terror of living joiners hammering round coffins everywhere is either dead or sick. In one street, the Via Duomo, the smell of burned sulphur is everywhere, and the wretched people of the poorer classes are either stupefied or frantic.

BLAINE'S LITTLE LETTER.

Proceedings in the Court at Indianapolis—A Letter From Mr. Blaine to Walter

Made Public. In the United States court at Indianapolis, attorneys for Mr. Shoemaker filed a bill of discovery in the Blaine-Sentinel suit. The bill begins by citing the fact of Blaine bringing