We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of our new drug firm, appearing in this issue. Messrs. Johnson & Spalding are proprietors, and are running on a new and approved plan.

The best shipment of stock we have heard of this fall, is that one of the three circle outfit, W. H. H. Cranmer, who shipped 800 head of steers to Chicago and received $40 per head, or $32,000.

Days and nights of restlessness are caused by the use of Baking Powders containing ammonia. Leis German Baking Powder assimilates the food and helps to digest the food we eat. Sold by C. H. Rogers.

Let the people of this county make the success of the fair a personal matter, and turn out, exhibit the fruits of the field, stock, etc., and give themselves and families a holiday. In this case, success is assured.

We are requested to call a meeting of old soldiers at THE TRIBUNE office, on Thursday, October 2d, for the purpose of organizing a G. A. R. Post in McCook. A full attendance of old soldiers is earnestly desired.

The J. B. Meserve mare has been purchased by a Mr. Parmeter, a cattleman of DeWitt, this state. Some of the boys will have to put their bronchos in training for the trotting race at the fair, friend Sibbett must be accommodated.

Those who have subscribed toward the new church are respectfully requested to further aid the cause by calling on W. F. Wallace, Treasurer of the Building Committee, and paying in one-half the amount subscribed and take a receipt for it.

We notice that milk maid sociables are fashionable, and we hope that McCook's charming daughters will soon authorize the announcement of such a social event. Our girls in the habiliments of the milk maid would set the average cow-boy distracted.

Our handsome school building is now almost complete—will be entirely so next week, when we will give a more extended description of the same. Mr. Collins, the contractor, and Mr. Johnson, the draughtsman and designer of the building, are to be congratulated on their work.

It is currently reported that A. W. Huntley, an extra B. & M. freight conductor, who recently had a house completed in West McCook, which he has been occupying for some time, has shaken the dust of our town from his garments, leaving behind him a number of unpaid bills. Departing between days is fashionable, if not honorable.

Remember the musical recital at the Opera Hall, Saturday evening, Sept. 27th, by Mrs. Vincent's scholars from Orleans, Alma, Arapahoe and Indianola, in conjunction with her students in McCook. Much time has been occupied in preparation for this event by Mrs. Vincent and her scholars and a full house will doubtless greet them.

A stout 11-lb. young Scotchman of the Campbell clan put in his appearance at Supt. Campbell's residence, last Thursday night, and the young man has already assumed a position in the household, and laid claim to considerable attention. We feel inadequate to the task of portraying the frame of mind into which the event has thrown our Superintendent.

The plans and specifications for our elegant new school building and La-Tourette's hardware store were drawn by Mr. Johnson, foreman for J. F. Collins, and reflect great credit on Mr. J. as a rising draughtsman, alert and ambitious to excel in his line. Mr. Johnson is now at work on the plans for the proposed Catholic church, and an artistic house of worship is assured.

We wish to call particular attention to the fact that the management of the county fair have designated Friday, the 3d inst., as children's day. It is proposed to have all the children of the county present to meet at the school house in Indianola and form and march to the fair grounds, where suitable program will be enacted. Remember the children, and take them to the fair.

Twenty-two car loads, containing some 400 head of stock, pulled through this station, last Thursday evening. Seven car-loads were destined for Chicago, and the remainder were shipped to Friend and other points in the eastern part of the state, where they will be fed until spring, and then shipped to Chicago. These steers came off the Frenchman range, from the herds of the Paxton Cattle Co., W. W. Fisher, Lou Armacost, E. N. Webster and others.

Having sold my mare I now offer my buggy for sale very cheap.

J. B. MESERVE.

We are informed that there was a gentleman in town, this week, trying to perfect arrangements for building a large skating rink; but, that on account of the high price asked for the lot he desired, the matter was not consummated. As between paying $800 for a lot here, and getting one for nothing at Indianola, he would prefer risking the latter point. 'Tis a pity that nothing short of the whole world will satisfy some.

Prof. Yager, well and favorably (?) known in McCook, engaged his valuable services to the circus, which showed at this point, last Monday a week, and in departing forgot to leave behind a cornet, the property of M. A. Spalding. Constable McCormick followed the Professor down the road to one of the near stations and compelled him to make restitution. Having complied, the constable allowed him to proceed on his way unmolested. So, long, Charles, but we will miss our whistling corner ornament.

The sequel to the Black—Wallin law-suit has occupied the public attention for some days. The ball opened up with music slow and lights red, last Thursday, and continued over until Monday, when, after two juries had failed to agree, the suit was dismissed by J. F. Black's counsel. The question that now agitates the court is, "who shall pay the costs of this prosecution?" And this is also a vital question to the weary jurors, as well. The costs were not secured at the commencement of the trial, and there payment is in doubt.

By bills sent to this office from Orleans we are informed that a soldiers re-union will be held at that place on Thursday, October 2d, and a general invitation is extended to the members of the different G. A. R. posts in the Republican Valley to be present. It is proposed to hold a meeting Thursday afternoon, and to select a time and place for holding yearly re-unions of the old soldiers of the Valley. A number of prominent speakers will be present and the people of Orleans, we are assured, are doing all in their power to insure a good time.

Again are we called upon to refer to the demoralized state of the road leading from here to Indianola. A gentleman and friend started, last week, for the latter town, and by reason of the fencing and moving of the road became entangled and lost, and being unacquainted with the country, spent four or five hours wandering around through the large canyons. Now, if it is intended that this public highway shall remain in this disgraceful condition, we make a motion that a guide be employed by the proper authorities to pilot the weary, wandering travelers along this tortuous road to their destination.

We take this last occasion to remind the people of Red Willow county that the county fair, the success of which depends mainly upon their individual efforts, will be held at Indianola on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, the 2d, 3d and 4th of October, and to further suggest that our people turn out in as large numbers as possible, with the products of the farm, in which they have been abundantly blessed this year, and with their cattle, horses, pigs, chickens, etc., attend this year's fair. Red Willow county, in all probability, never reaped a more bountiful harvest, and never has been in better shape to make a good showing than she is enabled to make at our coming fair, and the opportunity should not be lost, nor allowed to pass unnoticed. So come with your families, and help make this our best fair.

One of the Oberlin freighters indulged in too much "red eye," Monday, and as a result met with an accident that we feel safe in saying will make him wiser if it will not increase his store of material things. He was loading up his wagon preparatory to returning to Oberlin, and had the same pretty well filled with fine furniture, coffins, etc., and indiscreetly left his team standing by the depot platform, while he meandered down the yard. While he was at the other end of the freight track, an engine came by "blowing off" steam. The team started up Main street, scattering furniture, coffins and all pell-mell and promiscuously, and damaging the same considerably. The team were caught in Constable's livery yard. Such is the nature of stimulants of that character, man never indulges in them but to his loss. (To be continued.)

All kinds of blanks kept for sale at this office.

Considerable rivalry has existed between the Arapahoe and Indianola base ball clubs, and each club having won one game, these clubs met at Arapahoe, last Friday afternoon, for the purpose of deciding the championship. Impressed with an unwarrantable desire for gore or glory, and profoundly fearful lest the Indianolas should get away with them, the Arapahoe boys secured the services of Stein and Dallas, the battery of the Hastings "Reds," and proceeded to give the Indianola boys "bait" in the opening inning by allowing them to make 4 runs. But the Indianolas "smelled a mice" and discretely retained their good money in their "jeans," much to the disgust of the Arapahoes, who had hoped to regain the $400 or $500 dropped by them on other occasions, and which Indianola had added to her coffers. Finding the day a poor one for "suckers," the Arapahoes did the club from the county-seat up in the most approved style of the art, making 23 runs to Indianola's 4. We know from observation that the Arapahoe boys enjoyed the occasion highly, but the fact remains to the discredit of that club, that they lacked the principle of fairness—a principle in high repute in this country. The fact that they hired foreign assistance is an unconscious acknowledgment that Indianola's club was superior to their own. The deal certainly was not fair, and was unbecoming boys we know the Arapahoes to be.

An estimate of the quantity of wheat and rye for sale in the Hungarian settlement on the Beaver, in Decatur and Rawlins counties, has recently been taken, and the amount placed at 100,000 bushels. There is, however, no accessible market for the grain, and the need of a railroad is felt more this year than ever before.—Oberlin Eye.

There is no town in the Republican Valley that stands an equal chance of a cross railroad with Culbertson. Situated, as it is, at the mouth of the Frenchman and at the point where the prospective road must pass, we may rest assured that Culbertson is destined to become a place of considerable importance in the near future.—Sun.

Wymore is feeling proud over having a new, large and conveniently arranged depot. It is two stories high. The lower floor will contain a waiting room, ticket office and freight room. The upper rooms will be cut up into offices—one for the road master, one for his assistant and one for the telegraph office.

Where they went and the distance traveled are unknown, but when they arrived in Culbertson about 4 o'clock, Monday morning, the mules were so badly used up that one of them died in about an hour, and the other one was so nearly killed that he will be of little account hereafter.
