THE WOODMANSE.

This mill is a "solid wheel" and the best self-regulator made. The Woodmanse No. 6. Pump is the best single acting force pump in the market. Will work in wells from 10 to 200 feet in depth, and has back attachments to force water into elevated tanks. Can be used by hand or windmill. Parties contemplating the erection of a Windmill will consult their best interests by calling at my Homestead, 1 1/2 miles northwest of McCook, or at B. Johnson's, 5 miles southeast, and examine the working of the Woodmanse.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 14, '84.
The class of people who will be more affected than any other by a change of administration at Washington, are the small shop-keepers who have been in the habit of giving unlimited credit to the Government clerks. Up to the very day of election, the continued ascendancy of the Republican party was so assured that one dealer here increased his outstanding accounts $5,000 in one week, and now he is trying to get a settlement for at least a part of the $75,- 000 marked "doubtful" on his ledger.
The clerks, as a rule, are beginning to practice a little more prudence in the husbanding of their resources, and naturally enough they think that the payment of honest debts is a poor way to economize. They therefore laugh at their creditors and simply tell them that judgment day is a good day to settle up, and if that is to busy a day, the day following would do.

The last session of Congress adjourned leaving any number of appropriations for any number of public buildings to be erected here, there and everywhere. The general craze not only among Congressmen but among their constituents is for public buildings, and the more expensive the better. On the calendar now at this session are bills for expending seventy millions for Government structures, the most of which there is not now, and will not be for many years, any earthly use for, but by the paternalistic tendencies of the Government, they must be expected whether they are needed or not. A town out in Texas wants a two hundred and fifty thousand dollar building for its postoffice, although the office fails by a considerable amount to be self-sustaining, and what is true of the Texas town is true of almost every place that is now clamoring for a public building.

Two events that are calculated to cause a sort of social earthquake, transpired here in one day, last week.
One was the suicide of Prof. DeWolowski, who had the musical tutelage of all the best families of Washington, and who was also confronted by his own daughter with a charge of incest.
And the other was the elopement of the affianced bride of a New York banker with an office clerk. The last named event creates some sensation because the female partner in the elopement is of the upper strata in Washington society, and the circumstances of her flight peculiarly cruel, because fifteen hundred invitations had gone out for one of the swellest of the swell weddings of the capital, which was to have taken place on the 11th inst. The treachery of the girl in the case was brought about by the attempt of the old folks to saddle a husband upon her whom she did not and could not love, and the verdict of the jury is that she served them right.

One of the first things that the new Democratic administration should do upon its accession to power, is the unceremonious bouncing of the landscape architect around the capital, whose abominations abound on every hand. In the outrageous devastation that has been wrought here under the name of improvements, the once beautiful plats of ground both east and west of the capital have been transformed into an unsightly and incongruous field of concrete walks with small patches of shrubbery here and there that have as little attraction as the burdock plants that line a country road. The large and magnificent trees whose foliage made the west entrance to the capital a really superb resort for the stranger and an attraction to everybody, have all disappeared under the blighting edict of this taste-forsaken architect, and their places are supplied by walls, walls, walls, some with a purpose, but more without any other purpose than the expenditure of money and a contribution to the inevitable contractor. If the dignified character of the capitol and its surroundings must be preserved, we must get rid of the landscape idiot who would reject the stately trees in these grounds as beneath his ideal of landscape beauty. DOM PEDRO.

THE late Peter Cooper once said:
"In all the towns where a newspaper is published, every man should advertise, even if it is no more than a card telling his name and business engaged in. It not only pays the advertiser, but lets people at a distance know that a prosperous set of men do business in the town in which you reside.
As the seed is sown so the fruit recompenses. Never pull down your sign while you expect to do business, for it often indicates that your grip, commercially, is broken. The judicious advertiser will receive in return ten dollars for everyone invested in the columns of a paper."
