MAYHAP our people observed the shock discernible throughout this commonwealth about the time of the convening of our Legislature. The public is respectfully referred to the Hon. E. Rosewater, who is currently reported as having taken a tumble to himself about the above date. The way the legislature sat down on Edward must have been severe, as Rosey has not cracked a smile since.

AMERICA S are worshipers of success, as exemplified in successful men. and too infrequently do they stop to in quire, by what means the success has been attained. We have an instance in our state, (which is still in its plastic condition,) in the case of the hero of Nemaha county, the Hon. Church Howe. Church is an example of suc cess, but we destroy the most beautiful tints of the delusive picture when we inquire further. We sue for peace-a

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11. '85. The dedication of the Washington Monument which is soon to precede the R. inauguration ceremonies, promises to be J.W Well-oru services and mileage in conrather tame affair at best. Mr. Winthrop's oration has been prepared some time but the orator will hardly be able the year bas to deliver it in person, while the proposition that Mr. Winthrop's son should read it is far from being satisfactory. Hill Monument was laid on the 17th of June, 1825, Daniel Webster was the orator, and his magnificent address on that occasion was inspired not only by the presence of LaFayette but by hundreds of the old veterans of the Revolution themselves who occupied seats directly thers, Gerver. JUSTICES :-- Clark Ward, Indi anola ; Royal Buck, Red Willow. in front of the orator. On the 17th of June, just eighteen years afterward, the capstone of the monument was lifted to ts place, and Mr. Webster again delivered the oration, this time with President Tyler and his Cabinet among his auditors, and still hundreds of the Revohands to their ears, drinking in the sublime eloquence of the country's greatest orator. It was this occasion that brought forth the familiar quotation : "Venerable men ! You have come down to us from a former generation," &c., which was not in Mr. Webster's prepared speech at all, but was suddenly inspired by the surroundings and circumstances of the occassion. The writer of this, though a mere boy, was present on that occasion and can never forget the scene archs wept like children at the thrilling at 2 o'clock, P. M., at which time all bids wi words of the great orator.

The folly of both houses originating tle soiree to which everybody will be bills upon the same subject is to be somewhat sadly demonstrated in the prospective defeat of both the Cullom bill in the to their respective gin factories. This | Senate and the Reagan bill in the House affair and the movements of the two which provide for the regulation of inhonorables will be chronicled by tele- ter-State commerce. The Cultom bill graph and published in papers all over will pass the Senate to-morrow, and the the United States, and they will gain Reagan bill will pass the House some all the glory and shekels they could day this week. There is not much similarity in the provisions of the two biils, so that it is not more than likely that the Senate will pay the least attention to the Reagan measure, than it is probable that the House will take notice of the Cullom production. The upshot of the business will be that neither bill will be reached, and the railroads as usual will come out first best. So far as the House could accomplish it, there is to be a Department of Agriculture and a Cabinet minister to look after the beans and potatoes of the country. Is it possible that Congress sup-Mr. Rosewater's gall is also divided poses that any Cabinet minister is going stinson & co., Port and, Maine. into three parts. One part is devoted to make a specialty of advancing the agricultural over any other of the many interests of this prodigious country? And if such a Cabinet minister were disposed to make a specialty of playing into the hands of grangers as the high muck-amuck of officialism, how long will it be before the iron interests of Pennsylvania, the codfish interests of Massachusetts, the wooden-nutmeg and brassclock interests of Connecticut, and the Saddle Rock cyster interest of Virginia and Maryland, will be howling for places in the Cabinet? The resident population of Washington have taken it upon themselves to inaugurate Mr. Cleveland in a style entirely becoming to the kind of a President who gets a chance to be inaugurated but once in a quarter of a century. There is to be more of a military display perhaps than comports with the Republican simplicity that we boast of, but what kind of a demonstration would we have without the blaze of buttons and the blare of trumpets ? The ground floor of the new Pension Office is to be set apart for Mr. Clevelaud's ball, and the elegance of the raiment to be worn on that occasion I shall describe to you as minutely as I shall possibly dare to. ALL the mangy little curs in these United States have, "like good citizens," joined in barking at that noble old battle-scarred veteran, Gen. Grant. Although some kindly criticism were not unmerited, this cowardly hue and cry that has been raised with such astonishing manineity by those who could scarcely find terms to express the fulsomeness of their praise, when the object of their present spleen was in the enjoyment of the meridian of his glory, is one of the most contemptible and unmanly-and ungenerous exhibitions by American we have ever noticed. The General refusal of a large sum of meney meent ly offered him by friends, and the pledging of his souvenirs to Vanderbilt have the true ring of the old commander.

THE senatorial contest in Illinois as sumes an aspect of almost national in. portance, as upon the selection of a democrat or republican may be based the complexion of the senate for a number of years. Should the republicans gain two senators in the 49th congress and costs. and at the worst lose only one, the situation would not be critical, but the chances are that in the election to be made for the 50th congress the repub the democrats. The Chicago Inter-Ocean cautions Illinois republicans to work together without the slightest bickering and says:

SENATOR DOLAN has introduced a bill designed to change the present law as to the population required by villages to incorporate as a city of the second class. Ilis amendment to the present law makes the required number 1,000 instead of 1,500. Shall this bill pass, McCook can incorporate as a city of the second class, which will give us a much better organization. Village organiza tian is a nonentity.
