SENATOR EDMUNDS introduced a bill recently in the United States Senate providing that the manufacture, sale, or use of explosive compounds for the injury or destruction of property shall be punishable as a felony.

JEFF. DAVIS writes to a confederate society in Baltimore that his respect for constitutional liberty is increasing ever. If there is a man on the face of the earth who ought to feel love as well as respect for constitutional liberty, it is Jeff. Davis. To the superstitious veneration in which it is held by the American people he owes his forfeited neck.

It begins to appear that Gartland of Arkansas will certainly be in the new cabinet. He is now in Albany holding a second consultation with Cleveland. Bayard has declined a place that was never offered him, on the ground that he couldn't afford to hold it owing to the amount of money he would have to spend in sustaining the dignity of the position.

THE grand jury of Cook County has finished its labors and find that there were only 259 dishonest judges of election in Chicago at the November count. The jury seems to feel greatly relieved because it is able to report that in only 164 out of the 171 precincts in the county was there any stuffing of the ballot boxes or other violations of the election law on that occasion.

INSPECTOR BYRNES of New York, who is a chief of detectives according to the dispatches, is of the opinion that the parliament house and the tower of London were blown up by somebody very near the throne, and that the British police are on the wrong track entirely. From the sound of the name of Mr. Byrnes, we had immediately suspected that he was a countryman of Machiavelli and Cavour. The depth of his insight shows that he is a true Italian.

DAKOTA'S capital has had an unpleasant sound to the average American citizen ever since the German chancellor made war on the American hog. Why should the seat of government of a future sovereign state be called "Bismarck?" But the proposed change, since the capital removal bill has been amended by striking out "Pierre" and inserting "Ordway," as the site of the next venture, gives no better satisfaction. Ordway is not a name that Dakota desires to hand down to posterity.

THE London Times in an article on the Nicaragua treaty, readily admits that the treaty should be judged in America without reference to English interests, but England, it says, holds a position of almost impregnable strength and will protest against a policy which violates rights covered by the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. It believes that the better class of Americans will not favor the scheme, but thinks it rash to predict the result in Congress. It is possible, the Times says, to construct and manage a canal in accordance with the Clayton-Bulwer treaty while giving America ample security through pecuniary or other interest in the work, but even then it is doubtful whether a plan could be made pleasing to the American people. It is England's duty, the Times declares, to preserve the freedom of international trade.

THREE disastrous explosions occurred yesterday in London. The first was in Westminster Hall. A lady called a policeman's attention to a package upon the steps outside the crypt. The policeman picked up the package, which exploded, badly injuring four persons. The great ornamental gates leading to the crypt were shattered and the statues of William IV. and George IV. were overturned. The second explosion took place three minutes later under the strangers' gallery in the House of Commons. The lobby was wrecked, the gallery torn down, the speaker's chair destroyed, and the massive stonework displaced. The third explosion occurred at the Tower of London. One of the buildings known as the White Tower was badly damaged. At an early hour in the evening sixteen persons had been officially reported injured at the Tower. Of these many were children. No one was mortally hurt. It is suspected that the dynamite which unquestionably caused the explosions was conveyed into the buildings by women. London is in a frenzy of excitement.

OUR EXPOSITION LETTER.

The different States exhibits are all located together under one roof, which covers sixteen acres, and while each state has her separate exhibit the varied production indigenous to the United States combined, forcibly impress one with the unlimited resources of our fair land.

Virginia, the mother of states, has for commissioner, Hon. W. W. Finney. The old state is up to the average in display, and with even a few of the staples common to her soil gives evidence that she improves by age. Her two principle productions are peanut and yellow leaf tobacco. The peanut had its birth in this state and almost the entire crop is grown on her coast. Richmond the capital, Danville and Lynchburg, the rival tobacco cities, send many creditable specimens.

Montana is yet a territory with hopes of an early admission to stateshood. Col. Harris is the commissioner, and he brings a splendid display of her natural productions. Although, Montana is noted for growing cattle and sheep, her principal interests are mining, and the display of ores is superb and attracts universal attention. The arranging of this exhibit was done by John Nye, an old pioneer of the mining country, who knows rock where he sees or handles it. Some ornaments of Indian origin attract much attention. In this display there are some fine taxidermy specimens shown.

South Carolina, with A. P. Butler as commissioner, has gotten up its exhibits in good shape. The guano manufactory of Wilcox, Gibbs & Co., who show a pyramid some twenty feet from the base constructed of phosphate rock, is an enterprise that has done much to enrich Charleston. The agricultural productions and fruit displayed, keeps the little Carolina to the front in this line. Though it does not claim to be an extensive manufacturing state, it has some very creditable displays of home productions. In cotton it produces a fine staple, notably the Sea Island, which always commands a good price. Specimens are on exhibition.

Many of the relics of the Greely relief party have been placed on exhibition in the State department. Dummies are dressed up in clothing worn by the men, and the old tent they used is erected, while the entire camping outfit is on view. The small boats from the Thetis and Bear, which first reached the Greely sufferers have been placed with these much-viewed curiosities. It is hard to realize in a land where snow is unknown what suffering and death the Greely relief exhibit represents.

On Sundays the Exhibition is largely attended, the entrance fee being then reduced to 25 cents. On a fine day there are liable to be fifty thousand present. There is everything to see as on any week-day, except the working of the machinery, which is always shut down on Saturday night till Monday morning.

The Commissioners and members of the press are unanimous in urging their respective legislatures to make extra appropriations to carry out the successful exhibit of each state and territory. The necessity for money is evident to keep the exhibit up to its present standing as many articles are perishable, consequently the pride one has in his state or territory should encourage each and all to advocate the contribution.

When you take into consideration the fact that the different buildings cover 92 acres, or one third more than the Centennial and that the Park in which they are located and which is now enclosed composes about 500 acres. You can see how hard it is to estimate the daily attendance, and the management refuse to make public the daily receipts, for what reason your correspondent is unable to state.

At first it was feared that the means of transportation between the grounds and Canal street, the centre of the city, would not be adequate to accommodate the public, but so far no inconvenience has been experienced. By certain lines you can go the whole distance for one fare—5 cents—while by other lines it costs two fares—or you can buy a round trip ticket over the different "Rapid transit" lines on the river for 15 cents, and extra boats and cars will be added as the travel demands.

THE Yukon river, in Alaska, is so long, says Lieut. Schwatka, that if its source were in Salt Lake its waters might empty into New York bay and its mouth is so wide that New York would be on one side and Philadelphia on the other. Alaska has a coast line greater than that of all the rest of the United States, adding together the Atlantic gulf and Pacific seaboard.
