An Attempt to Rob the State Treasury of Nobraska in Broad Daylight--One Man Killed and Another Captured.

A Lincoln (Neb.) special of the 28th gives the following account of an attempt to rob the Nebraska state treasury: Legislative and state officers were thrown into a state of excitement about 2 o'clock this afternoon by an attempt to rob the state treasury, which resulted in the death of one of the robbers and the capture of another, while a third escaped.

The men came in at the front door of the treasurer's office, and presenting their guns at eputy Treasurer Bartlett told him to throw up his hands. He asked them if they were in earnest, and being assured that they wanted no fooling he complied with their demand to hand out a bag containing about $300, which one of the men took, and two of them walked out of the office face first and the other backed toward the door, covering the retreat by holding his pistol down on Bartlett.

It seems that two detectives of Lincoln, Pound and Davis, had in some way learned of the scheme and were on watch at the state house. When the two first men came out of the door they were commanded to halt and one of them halted. The other ran and was shot by Pound with a charge of buckshot from a navy revolver. He fell upon the stone steps mortally wounded and died in a short time. The third man, when the shot was heard, had just reached the door going out of the auditor's office. He slammed the door shut, ran back through the auditor's office, jumped out of a winder sale account of a winder sale account of a winder sale account.

out of a window and escaped.

The man who was killed was carried inside, and proved to be Jim Griffin, a notorious character who has been around Lincoln for several years, and three years ago killed Jesses Campin in an altercation, a crime for which he was acquitted on the ground of self-de-fense. His back was filled with fifteen or twenty buckshot, one or two of which passed through the body.

The captured man is Alvin Maguire. He has been before the courts frequently and has served a term in the penitentiary.

Jim Griffin died at 4 o'clock tuis afternoon

A week ago a man who escaped gave away the plan of the robbers to the detectives. They saw the governor, who told them to let the plan be matured and capture the robbers in the attempt. The day originally fixed for the attempt was Thursday. Just as they were coming in Thursday, Deputy Bartlett stepped to the door and looked out. Maguire weakened and the attempt was given up for that day. The missing man, whose name is said to be Walker, then informed Pound that another attempt would be made to-day. Detective Pound concealed himself in a back room, from which a door opened into the hall. Thompson, another detective, stood at the door in Bartlett's office. When he heard the robbers hold up Bartlett, Thompson signalled Pound, wh stepped out of the door and covered the robbers with his shotgun. Pound says he halted both. Maguire stepped aside and threw up his hands. Pound thought he had a gun and pulled the trigger of his own gun, but when he saw Maguire had no weapon he threw up his own gun, firing over Maguire's head, Pound then halted Griffin again, when Griffu turned and snapped a revolver at him. Pound then shot him.

Many citizens severely citicise the detec-tives for not making complete arrangements for the capture of all concerned alive instead of laying in wait ten days to kill a man, Some go so far as to intimate that the job was put up by the detectives simply to make a reputa-

LATER.—The coroner's inquest upon the body of Jim Griffin, killed by Detective Pound Saturday afternoon in the attempt to rob the state treasury, was held on the 2d at Heaton's undertaking rooms. Testimony was given by J. Milton Hoffman, the governor's private secretary, J. L. Caldwell, Willard and Maguire. The latter testified that Jim Griffin worked the scheme up. He came to Maguire several times and told him they had a soft thing, and persuaded him finally to go into it. He testified that when they were in the office Grffin wanted to gag Bartlett, but Maguire said they had not time and they gave it up.

The examination of the body of Griffin showed seventy-nine shot in his arms and. back. As these shot were double B's, of which about fifty make a load, it seems evident that he must have been hit by both charges which Pound fired. Pound's testimony was that he was going to fire at Maguire, but when the latter threw up his hands he (Pound) elevated his gun and fired over Maguire's head; that then Griffin came out, and that after he had hailed Griffin and the latter had attempted to shoot him, he fired at him. If it is a fact, however, as the number of shot indicates, that Griffin was struck by both charges, Pound must have shot him before he drew his pistol on Pound at all.

THE CORONER'S VERDICT.

On the 28th day of February, A. D. 1885, at the hour of 2:30 p. m., in the county of Lan-caster and state of Nebraska, the deceased, James Griffin, came to his death by means of gunshot wounds inflicted by one A. L. Pound, whose first name to the jurors is unknown; and the weapon used in the infliction of the wounds which caused the death of the deceased was a double-barreled shotgun, loaded with powder and leaden balls, and then and there by the said A. L. Pound held and discharged at and against and into the body of deceased, and we further find that the killing was felonious. In witness whereof we hereunto set our hands this 1st day of March, A. D. 1885. CHARLES O. WHEDON, AUSTIN HUMPHREY.

We, the undersigned, believe the killing was A. D. BURR, C. L. BAUM, unlawful. W. C. LANE.

I, the undersigned, believe the killing was not felonious. George Basse Attest: N. J. Beachley, Coroner. GEORGE BASSELMAN. GREETING THE NEW PRESIDENT.

A Stream of Visitors Into the White House to Shake Hands With the Incoming Chief Executive.

The white house presented a busy scene on the 5th. A stream of visitors poured into the mansion from the hour the doors opened until late in the day. Cleveland breakfasted early completed the cabinet and directed their names be sent to the senate. A number of organizations visited the white house before noon. The justices of the United States supreme court, headed by Chief Justice Waite, called about 12, and were received in the blue parlor. The members of the national democratic committee were next received. Many other prominent persons called to pay their respects and kept the president busy the entire day. No changes are yet made in the force employed at the white house, except that of the office of private secretary. The presi-dent's mail is very large, consisting principally of congratulation. Some referred to appoint-

The democratic phalanx of Albany called on the president in a body. They were followed by detachments of clubs from Ohio, New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Kansas, Missouri and elsewhere. The president then gave no-tice he would receive all who might choose to call between 2 and 4 o'clock, and during that time thousands of strangers paid their re-spects to the chief magistrate. The president received them in the cast room and shook hands with all. The president recognized many in the throng and greeted them by name. There was a large number of colored people present. The visiting militia and civic organizations, which had not previously called in a body were all represented. All the members of ex-President Arthur's cabinet with the exception of Secretaries Frelinghuysen and Teller occupied their usual desks and attended to all business requiring action at their hands. Secretary Frelinghuysen was detained at home by ill health and Senator Teller (whose resignation as secretary of the intetol. Those on duty received many callers and
