health, spirits, everything that can gladden the soul and charm the senses, and yet feel like an ordinary human being when you find a hair in the butter.

At some point in the career of every human soul yawns a chasm that seems impassable. One of these ditches confronts the young wife when she first opens her eyes to the fact that she can't cook like somebody's mother.

There is a power of comfort in having worked for and secured an .ndependent living, but a man is not going to secure one unless he wants it bad, and that 13 the trouble with many of them-they don't wan't it that bad.

Man is never quite satisfied with his condition. There is something within him that spurs him to renewed exertion whenever the goal of one hope is gained and another looms in view; but when he beats a sharper in a horse trade the bird of content is fluttering near him.—Chicago Ledger.

John Phonix's Famous Fight.

A rumor had reached our ears that the editor had arrived. Public anxiety had been excited to the highest pitch to leaves no bad effects. It does not derange the tween us. It had stated publicly that he would whip us the moment he arrived; but, though we thought a conflict probable, we had never been very sanguine as to its terminating in this manner. Coolly we gazed from the window of the office upon the New Town road. We observed a cloud of dust in the distance; high above it waved a whip-lash, and we said the editor cometh, and his driving is like that of Jehu, the son of Nimshi, for, he driveth furiously. Calmly we seated ourselves in the armchair and continued our labor upon our magnificent Pictorial. Anon a step, a heavy step, was heard upon the stairs, and the editor stood before us. We rose, and with an unfaltering voice, said: "Well, how do you do?" He made no reply, but commenced taking off his coat. We removed ours, also our cravat. The sixth and last round is described by the pressmen and compositors as having been fearfully scientific. We held the editor down over the press by our nose (which we had inserted between his teeth for that purpose), and while our hair was employed in holding one of his hands, we held the other in our left, and with the sheep's foot brandished above our head, shouted to him: "Say, Waldo" (the Whig canditate.) "Never!" he gasped. At this moment we discovered that we had been laboring under a misunderstanding. We write this while sitting without any clothing, except our left stocking, and the rim of our hat encircling our neck like a ruff of the Elizabethan era, that article of dress having been knocked over our head at an early stage of the proceedings, and | terms. The I'm-to-be-Photographed Look. It is the hardest thing in the world to get some tolks into any kind of a natural position, or expression of countenance. They will put a kind of I'm-to-be-photographed look on their faces when they come into the gallery and it generally stays there. Then the way some women dress! They have an idea that the more colors they get on, the better they look, and the result is that when they see their photograph and the curious effect produced by the colors, they'll blame the photographer, though we always tell them beforehand. Nearly all persons look better in a picture than in reality, except those having clear complexions. Some ladies, for instance, would be considered beautiful in side view of their features, while a front view is decidedly disappointing. Of course, in photographing them, we take the side view. Some look better with a hat on and some in full outdoor costume. But there is one thing you may not know, and that is very few ladies look well photographed in white, yet the only pictures many have taken are in their graduation or wedding dresses .- Rochester Democrat-Chronicle.

WE, TOO, HAVE TESTED IT.

To the Public:

In view of the harmful results which so frequently attend the use of so-called patent or proprietary cough syrups containing morphia, opium and other equally dangerous drugs, the under-signed, physicians of Maryland, take pleasure in endorsing the official opinions expressed by the Commissioner of Health of Baltimore; Dr. Samuel K. Cox, analytical chemist, of Washington, and other authorities to the effect that the RED STAR COUGH CURE is not only a perfectly harmless, but at the same time an original and most effective remedy, and that it commends itfree from opiates, poisons and narcotics -and for its prompt efficacy, as demonstrated by practical tests.

For centuries it has been contended that a ough medicine to be effective must contain morphia, opium, or some other equally dan-gerous drug, and to-day nearly every cough mixture in the market has for its base some one of these deadly poisons. A purely vege-table and at the same time efficacious cough cure has been considered an impossibility. The barmful and at times fatal results attending the use of morphia and opium cough mixtures are of common occurrence everywhere, and in every part of the Union deaths have, according to the testimony of physicians and coroners, resulted from the use of these dangerous preparations. It is for this reason that medical authorities and leading public men speak so enthusiastically of the importance and value of the discovery of Red Star Cough Cure. Governor McLane and Attorney-General Roberts, of Maryland: Mayor Latrobe and Postmaster Adreon, of Baltimore, and other well-known officials of Federal, State and municipal governments have publicly certified to the harmlessness and marked efficacy of Red Star Cough Cure. Every one will find it a safe, sure cure. It is entirely free from opiates, narcotics, emetics and poisons. It witness the result of the meeting be- system. It is pure, pleasant, prompt. ## A Good Breakfast.

Mrs. E. W. Carpenter, Overlee, Baltimore county, Maryland, writes: I was greatly benefitted by the use of Red Star Cough Cure, when suffering from a severe cold. My cook was seriously ill from a deep-seated cough. She had consulted her doctor without relief. By my advice she used the Cough Cure in onnection with an external application of St. Jacobs Oil to her side. In one night the change wrought was most gratifying and astonishing. The Lucky Man.

Geo. A. Spear, the lucky man who drew the $75,000 in the Louisiana State lottery, was met by the Tribune scribe last evening in the postoffice. He has not changed any since the good news came, with the possible exception that his face is now often bedecked with smiles. The wealth so suddenly heaped upon him has not elevated his head above the common herd, and he talked to the reporter the same as he used to. In answer to questions he said: "I will and bring malaria, dyspepsia, biliousness, torcollect the money through the banks, the same as I would a draft, sending the lottery ticket as a draft. As to my future business, I am not fully decided upon, but I will make no change during this cold weather anyway. I am clerking in the store yet, just as though nothing had happened."—Bay City (Mich.) Tribune, March 21.

Geo. A. Spear yesterday received a New York draft for $74,850, in payment of his claim against the Louisiana State Lottery. The exchange for collecting the $75,000 was $150.—Bay City (Mich.) Tribune, March 27.

is possible, for a short time to the robust, but the majority of refined persons would prefer immediate death to existence in their reeking atmosphere. How much more revolting to be in one's self a living sewer. But this is actually the case with those in whom the inactivity of the liver drives the refuse matter of the body to escape through the lungs, breath, the pores, kidneys and bladder. It is astonishing that life remains in such a dwelling. Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" restores normal purity to the system and renews the whole being.
