Perhaps The Republican was thinking last week of its vilification act in last year's campaign for district judges, as an inspiration for the article that it didn't pay to misrepresent and vilify candidates.

"More Misrepresentation."

Having acquired the habit and practiced it so tenaciously in the campaign just closed, our contemporary cannot break away from its endeavors to misrepresent facts and deceiving its readers since the ballots have been cast and counted.

At the time he offered the certificate of nomination of Butler for filing "the editor" was informed by County Clerk Reece that it was not legal but that he would have the same placed upon the ballot if no one objected, and Mr. Reece did not lay the matter before Mr. Pettijohn or intimate to him what had been done.

The following were named a committee to nominate a county commissioner: El Satterlee, F. Rothleutner, Herbert Greene, Wm. Butler and Ira Johnson.—Valentine Democrat, May 19, 1904.

The Republican claims to keep a file of THE DEMOCRAT. In another place this pharisee speaks of "the editor's intended candidate."

It has been customary for the county clerk to receive nominations which contain little irregularities and he has placed names of nominees on the ballots when it was known that the intention of the party was to such effect.

Honesty and square dealing is the better policy to pursue in all things, but if one has not sufficient moral courage to refrain from trickery and dishonesty, they should not squeal when caught and make a bad matter worse by attempting to besmirch those who do their plain duty honestly and fearlessly.—Valentine Republican.

We challenge the author of this article to show wherein THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT misrepresented facts for the purpose of deceiving its readers. No one believes that we have at any time told or described an occurrence without knowing some of the facts.

The sorrowful heart, the quarrelsome spirit, the babbling tongue, the disgraceful scars, the inflamed eyes, these are the loathsome credentials of a person stung by the adder and torn by the fangs of intemperance.

It is also strange that THE DEMOCRAT would have nearly twice the circulation of The Republican, if "it is no wonder the people have no confidence in it."

Perhaps The Republican would not like to have us say, that many of his apparent thoughtful paragraphs noting that John Smith or so and so the hustling ranchman was in town, in a manufactured, stereotyped phrase for nearly every Jim Crow he sees fit to mention, are prompted by an article of original merit seen in another paper that told something about somebody that didn't make everybody tired to read.

"Part of Mr. P.'s duty to be on the lookout for just such tricks as was intended to be perpetrated by the opposition in this instance and" * * * "found this illegal imposition" * * * that Mr. Reece, as county clerk, knew to be all right and says he did not tell anyone, not even Pettijohn, so the g. o. p. organ charges its faithful county clerk of being in collusion with us, eh? Pretty fix you're in now.

"In the first place the certificate had no standing before the law for the reason no convention had been held by either the democratic or independent parties, therefore no nomination had been made by them, or either of them."

We refer our readers to THE VALENTINE DEMOCRAT of May 19, 1904, giving an account of the convention held on Saturday, May 14, in which W. R. Towne was chairman and Frank Rothleutner was secretary, selecting delegates to the state convention and committees to place in nomination a candidate for each of the offices, county attorney and county commissioner, besides selecting delegates to the various other conventions. This paper can be found on file at this office.

Temperance.

Intemperance is the vice of vices. In dealing with the question of intemperance, the personal woes and miseries of the drunkard himself, are a very small part of the problem, though it would be a problem pathetic enough if that were all.

The sorrowful heart, the quarrelsome spirit, the babbling tongue, the disgraceful scars, the inflamed eyes, these are the loathsome credentials of a person stung by the adder and torn by the fangs of intemperance.

But terrible as this is it is only a small part of the picture that is painted in heart and life by drunkenness. It sears the conscience of the drunkard and of the public as with a red hot iron. His wife and children and relatives, be they ever so pure and innocent themselves, must share his disgrace and shame, and they must often endure it after he has ceased to feel the shame of his position.

waste which grows on the drunkards tree, to make still more horrible and repulsive the poisonous draught.

More Local.

Wm. Barker and Ed. Jordan came down from Rosebud yesterday.

Andrew Schatzthauer was up from Woodlake yesterday on business.

Ed Lewis, of the Chi Psi Cattle company, was in the city several days the past week.

S. J. Blakely, of Simeon, was in after a load of supplies yesterday, returning home today.

Union Thanksgiving services were held in the Presbyterian church today, Rev. Carpenter occupying the pulpit.

Jesse Granger was in town yesterday with his freight team and hauled home a load of coal, preparing for cold weather.

G. E. Tracewell tells us that W. E. Haley's sale was very satisfactory Tuesday. Stock brought a fair price and sold readily.

Mike Kennealy called yesterday while in town, paying taxes and attending to other business, and handed us a dollar on subscription.

O. W. Hahn and Dave Dunn, of North Table, were in town Monday, the former bringing in about a 400 pound hog which he sold at $3.85 per cwt.

Richard Taylor has been laid up the past two or three days with a sore throat. Joe Peterson is filling his position at the Owl while Rich is recovering.

Mr. Simpson has taken the infant child, that has been kept by Mrs. Bivens since the death of its mother, and will keep it at home, having secured a girl to keep house and take care of the baby.

Archie Petyerew is about the same as last week or probably some stronger. On next Monday they expect to take him to a hospital in Omaha where he will be operated upon for tuberculosis of the bowels.

Considerable improvements have been made down at the mill of late. A 120 horse power engine has been put in to run the mill when the water in the Minnechaduzza is low. We noticed S. F. Gilman in town yesterday.

J. A. Hooton is now running a bus to and from trains, carrying all passengers to and from his hotel free, together with their baggage. Mr. Hooton will also call for persons in any part of town and take them to or from night trains at 25 cents each per trip.

P. H. Young came in last week to meet an older brother who came out from Missouri to visit with him for a week. They returned to town yesterday and this morning Mr. Young departed for his home in Missouri. He expressed himself as well pleased with this country for a stock country, having seen the stock country around Simeon.

Sam Hudson and his sister-in-law, Miss Lizzie Hays, were in from Simeon several days this week. While eating at a hotel last evening someone quietly exchanged hats with Mr. Hudson, leaving a much poorer one than his own. Sam was looking for the fellow last night who took his hat but we haven't learned whether he recovered the missing article or not.

Mrs. D. Q. Nicholson came up from Madison, Nebr. last Wednesday and Dan, as the people here know him, came up Monday night this week to spend a few days visiting M. V. Nicholson and wife and many old time friends. It has been 13 years since Dan and his wife left here and 7 years since he was back here on a visit. He notes many changes and improvements since his last visit.

A. F. Webb made final proof on his homestead yesterday.

On account of Mrs. McDonald moving into her store building, the band dance was given at J. A. Hooton's hotel.

Andrew Morrissey returned yesterday morning from Aberdeen, S. D., where he acted as counsel for Cook and Gaver. He says that Gaver pleaded guilty to manslaughter and was sentenced to 3 years imprisonment. Cook was indicted for taking whiskey onto the reservation and was released upon $1,000 bail to appear next spring term of court. He was released from the charge of murder.

COMMITTEE.

Some Comments on the Peterson Sisters.

The Peterson Sisters Concert Company gave a lively entertainment Monday evening. It is not saying too much to state that this company, judging from their entertainment last evening, is fast becoming one of the best on the platform in this line of work.—Syracuse Journal, N. Y.

The Peterson Sisters, in instrumental and vocal numbers, have become universal favorites and have consented to remain two days longer at the Keuka Park Assembly.—Yates County Courier.

It is with great pleasure that I testify to the enjoyment that the guests at Assembly Park derived from the playing of the Peterson Sisters. Every selection was rendered with delicacy of feeling as well as admirable technique.—Eliza Edmunds Hewitt, (Hymn Writer) Philadelphia.

The concert given by the Peterson Sisters Friday evening was well attended. The young musicians possess much talent and we hope they will favor us again in the near future.—Chaffee, N. Y.

Hear them at the M. E. church Saturday evening, Nov. 26, 1904.

Sidney Landon

Mr. Landon as an impersonator cannot be excelled. His impersonation of Yon Yonson was perfect.—Sorento (Ill.) Blade.

The impersonations of Mr. Landon, of Boston, whose selections were both pathetic and humorous, proved him to be an artist of remarkably ability.—Saginaw (Mich) Courier-Herald.

Mr. Landon is a brilliant actor, and as an impersonator has few equals.—Almond (N. Y.) Gleaner.

It gives me much pleasure to say I have heard Mr. Landon in his character entertainments, and consider him an impersonator of remarkably ability.—Prof. Wood, Boston, Mass.

See Mr. Landon and the Peterson Sisters at the M. E. Church, Saturday evening, Nov. 26, 1904.
