Fifty Men Are Miraculously Saved From Death.

Advices received from Pueblo, Colo., state that a defective electrical generator started a destructive fire at the Fremont coal mine near Florence, Colo., at about noon Friday. All the works, save the air shaft, were destroyed.

By the prompt work of their companions the miners who were in the under workings of the Fremont mine were rescued alive through the air shaft, which was being slowly burned.

The men were in the main working shaft when the fire first started, and were unable to get to the surface by reason of the flames having destroyed the main shaft. Superintendent McCallister, realizing their danger, signaled them to hasten to the air shaft, and ropes were let down to rescue them. They acted at once, and all the available men in the camp were fighting the flames, which were extinguished about 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

Superintendent McCallister and twenty men were rescuing the men in the shaft, one at a time, the work being so slow that only two were raised an hour. It took the combined strength of twenty men to hoist one of the miners from below.

At a late hour Friday night nearly all of the men had been brought out, and the rest were in no danger.

All of the buildings, including the electric house, blacksmith shop, boiler house, main shaft, etc., were totally destroyed.

The property loss is about $79,000.

The meeting of directors lasted all evening behind closed doors. It was admitted that a disastrous run would be inevitable Friday and the only course was to liquidate at once. The loan of $100,000 by the Peoria clearing house was tied up in such wise that it could not be accepted. It was learned that quiet withdrawals from the bank had been going on all day, most of the calls coming from banks in the neighboring towns.

All the newspapers are devoting columns to a discussion of the question, pointing out that if Russia is sincere in her expressions of desire for peace in central Asia there is no reason why the two ancient enemies should not come to an agreement that will not only assure peace, but clear away suspicions that have led to the friction which has existed for years.

UNCOVER A STEAL.

Prominent Peoria Educator Involved in Big Theft.

N. C. Dougherty, for many years superintendent of schools at Peoria, Ill., and one of the most prominent educators in the country, is under arrest, following an indictment by the grand jury charging forgery.

Dougherty was released on a $3,000 bond. His arrest follows most astounding revelations by the grand jury, now in session, which has been examining the books of the Peoria school board. Within a comparatively brief space of time a shortage of $75,000 was discovered, but a further discovery was made that the peculations have been extending over a long term of years. The shortage will reach hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The arrest followed an investigation by the grand jury on charges brought against Prof. Dougherty that the accounts of the school funds which were deposited in the bank of which he was president were being manipulated. The investigation resulted in the discovery that there was a shortage of at least $69,000.

The investigation covered only the period from January, 1901. The grand jury, it is stated, will investigate the entire record of Prof. Dougherty as superintendent of schools, and it is believed a much greater shortage will be found.

Prof. Dougherty was first arrested on a charge of forgery, the specific charge being that he had forged a voucher for $164.50 for coal. He promptly furnished $3,000 bail. The indictment and arrest on the charge of embezzlement followed Thursday afternoon, and on this charge Prof. Dougherty furnished $3,700 bail.

Following his arrest on the charge of forgery, Prof. Dougherty sent in his resignation as president and director of the Peoria National Bank. He also sent in his resignation as superintendent of schools.

Prof. Dougherty's arrest created a sensation. He has been reputed a wealthy man, owning much real estate, considerable western land, and is connected with a number of financial institutions besides the Peoria National Bank.

STATE OF NEBRASKA

NEWS OF THE WEEK IN A CONDENSED FORM.

Franchise of the Sioux City, Homer and Southern Railroad Company Expires—Doubtful if the Enterprise Will be Revived.

A Dakota City special says: Midnight Saturday marked the expiration of the franchise granted the Sioux City, Homer and Southern Railway Company by the board of county commissioners for the purpose of establishing a street car line between South Sioux City and Homer via this place. On March 30, 1903, the board of county commissioners granted right of way along the highway to the proposed line, giving the company eighteen months in which to install and operate the line. During that year some work was done on the line and during the summer of 1904 the grade was completed nearly the entire way from South Sioux City to Homer and ties and rails were laid from South Sioux City to a point about a mile west of this place.

During the month of October last year a gasoline propelled car was installed on the line and after several weeks' futile efforts in trying to establish passenger service, it was abandoned. On Oct. 22, 1904, Capt. R. A. Talbot, promoter of the road, appeared again before the board of county commissioners and asked to have an extension of the time in which to establish service, which was granted—the franchise being continued until Sept. 29, 1905. At that time the first franchise was granted J. S. Lawrence, representing the Sioux City Traction Company, appeared before the board and asked that his company also be granted a franchise and that the first company to have a line into Dakota City be recognized as that holding the franchise. This the commissioners failed to grant. Mr. Lawrence offered the further proposition on behalf of his company that upon the expiration of Capt. Talbot's franchise his company be given thirty days in which to extend its line to Dakota City, but this also was refused. Now the Sioux City, Homer and Southern Railway has held a franchise for over two and one-half years and Dakota City seems no nearer rapid transit connection with Sioux City than it was a decade ago.

The county commissioners meet soon, when the matter will probably come up for action again. It is doubtful if another extension will be granted the Sioux City, Homer and Southern Company unless they can make a showing sufficient to prove beyond doubt that they have the means at their disposal to complete the work undertaken. There is strong talk if the commissioners should extend the franchise of taking the matter into the courts.

The board of county commissioners Wednesday granted the Sioux City, Homer and Southern Company an extension to its franchise for thirty days.

A BIG MEETING.

Eleventh Annual Session of Federation of Women's Clubs.

Fully 200 of the most representative women of Nebraska are in session at Lincoln at the eleventh annual meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Club.

Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker, of Denver, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was the guest of honor the convention during the entire session.

The prediction that there would be no real issue at this meeting promises to prove untrue, as the directory at a preliminary meeting passed a proposition which will be presented to the convention providing for an amendment to the constitution which will make future state meetings biennial instead of annual. As this plan has been strongly opposed in the past, it will hardly be carried without a struggle.

The directory further recommended that district vice presidents be made district presidents and admitted to the directory; also that adjacent districts combine their annual conventions when possible and bear their own expenses.

The man's head was severed from his body and pieces of the head and body were scattered along the track for about a block. So badly was the body mutilated that a description of the remains could not be given. A portion of a brown mustache was found. The man was a laborer, but there was nothing to show who he was, except a receipt for $1 paid to Sheldon & Landon, Omaha, on July 15. On this receipt the name of Frank Miller was given.

Late Sunday evening the man was positively identified as Frank Miller, a laborer who was formerly employed in the Cudahy packing plant. He was a member of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, lodge No. 66, and was unmarried.

PAT CROWE'S REQUEST.

Wants the Douglas County Officers to Escort Him to Nebraska.

Sheriff Power, at Omaha, has received a telegram from Pat Crowe himself in which Crowe asks the sheriff to go to Montana to bring him to Omaha. In his telegram Crowe says that he will make no effort to avoid extradition in case the sheriff goes after him, but that unless he does so Crowe will make every effort to prevent his being brought to Nebraska.

The sheriff has taken no action in the matter, and will cooperate with the Omaha police authorities. The alleged confession of Pat Crowe to the kidnapping of Eddie Cudaby five years ago, in which Crowe implicated the boy in a conspiracy to win $25,000 from the boy's father, Edward A. Cudaby, is given little credence in Omaha.

The report of State Treasurer Morton

sen, issued Saturday, shows that the total cash balance of the state at the close of business is $285,836.14 for all funds as compared with a total balance of $430,709.87 at the close of August and $533,783.04 at the close of business the month previous. One of the big items of decrease has been in the cash of the permanent school fund, which stands at $17,497.23 for the close of the current month, as compared with $157,369.59 shown by the last monthly report and $248,213.43 for the end of July. This decrease bears witness to the decrease in receipts since July, due to the fact that real estate obligations were liquidated with considerable promptitude. In lieu of general fund receipts the cash of the permanent fund has been invested in the general fund warrants issued in payment of current expenses during the past two months. The general fund has remained fairly constant at a low ebb. At the end of July there was $4,209.89, a month later it was $4,377.09, at the close of business Saturday it had risen to $18,361.81. The temporary school fund is beginning to grow again. At the end of July it contained a total of $135,862.87, which reached $163,373.24.

Deputy Auditor Cook has rejected the claim of the Van Dora Iron Works, of Cleveland, O., for a $3,329 balance due on the $80,000 contract for the installation of steel cells at the state penitentiary. The board of public lands and buildings has recommended the allowance of the claim. The auditor takes the position that the terms of the contract calling for the installation of 240 cells has not been complied with because six of the cages have not been fitted up and connected to the sewerage system. The manufacturer is willing to do the work, but the state board was unable to provide any place for the erection of the cages, the west cell house having been filled to the ceiling. The official says that justice may demand the payment of the claim, especially in view of the attitude of the members of the board, but that he has no right to vary from the terms of the contract.

The report showing the condition of the state banks of Nebraska at the close of business Aug. 25, issued Saturday by Secretary Roysse, of the state banking board, indicates that the total deposits have increased $6,000,000 since the date of the last report, making the total $50,583,341.22, and the total for the consolidated banks, state and national, over $136,000,000, an increase of nearly one-third in little more than a year. A significant feature of the report is the fact that the total of loans and discounts remains about constant at $37,416,258.58, which is pretty close to the total shown by the report for May 29. This is taken to indicate a great surplus of loanable funds. Another significant feature is the fact that the reserve is 42 7/10 per cent, nearly three times the legal requirement.

Woolworth & McHugh, attorneys for the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company of New York, were at the office of the secretary of state Saturday looking up the official bond of Auditor Searle, who some time ago revoked the certificate of Van B. Lady, the state agent for the company. The attorneys did not disclose their object in looking up the bond, but state officials believe that it may be the intention of the company to bring suit in the federal court on the official bond, because of alleged damages accruing from his action in revoking Lady's certificate. The company has an injunction suit against the auditor pending in the federal court.

Saturday Gov. Mickey issued the proclamation announcing that a general state election will be held Nov. 7 for the purpose of electing one judge of the supreme court, two regents of the state university, one representative from the Twenty-first district and
