

A TILDEN SPECIAL TRAIN

WILL RUN ON THURSDAY TO ACCOMMODATE CROWDS.

RACE TRACK IS VERY SPEEDY

The Special Train Will Leave Stanton at 9 O'Clock Thursday Morning and Leaves the Creighton Depot in Norfolk at 9:30 That Day.

[From Monday's Daily.] The Tilden carnival is the center of attraction in northern Nebraska this week, and, beginning tomorrow morning, it promises to draw large crowds to that energetic city until late Friday night. Thursday will be the biggest day at the fair so far as this end of the county is concerned, for on that day a special train will run from Stanton to Tilden to accommodate the crowds from Stanton, Norfolk, Battle Creek, Meadow Grove and the country between, as well as branch railroads.

The special train will leave Stanton at 9 o'clock in the morning and will leave Norfolk Creighton depot at 9:30. The train will arrive at Tilden in time for the morning festivities and the big races in the afternoon.

The train will return in the evening, after the fireworks.

The official starter who has had charge of all of the north Nebraska races this fall says that the Tilden track is in the best condition of any track on the circuit, and that it is the fastest. There will be between sixty and eighty horses on the grounds, and all races are filled. In one there are twelve entries.

On Thursday afternoon the Stanton and Neligh ball teams—bitter rivals—will clash for the last time this season, and the game promises to be a fast one.

It is estimated that six or seven coach loads will take advantage of the special train Thursday.

Following is a list of entries:

THREE OF HORSES NOT STOLEN

Those Belonging to Mr. Felger Were Found in a Pasture.

Three of the five horses stolen from this vicinity at the end of the week, and traced to Randolph yesterday, weren't stolen at all.

They were found in a neighbor's pasture last night. Instead of being stolen, they had got out of their own field and wandered a little way away. The three stolen horses which were not stolen were those belonging to Jacob Felger. Mr. Felger discovered the lost animals peacefully grazing near his farm late last evening.

The two that were really stolen, those taken from the Hammond stable, have not been heard from.

The farmhand who traced Mr. Hammond's two horses to a distance, said that the thieves had tied three horses on their wagon, because the trail could be clearly distinguished.

Word from Randolph which reported a party of two men with five horses in that vicinity, seemed to correspond with the stolen outfit and it was hoped yesterday that the stolen property might soon be recovered.

The fact that Mr. Felger's horses have been found, chops off $25 from the reward offered, making it $75 for the return of Hammond's team and the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

WOMANS CLUB ANNIVERSARY

Tenth Birthday of Organization is Fittingly Celebrated.

The Norfolk Womens club celebrated its tenth anniversary with a fitting program yesterday afternoon. The birthday meeting was held in the parlors of the First Congregational church. The parlors of the church were tastily decorated in the club colors, yellow and white. The program was pleasing throughout, ending with delicious refreshments. All former members were guests of the club at

TO HAVE LECTURE COURSE

FIVE HIGH GRADE ATTRACTIONS BOOKED FOR NORFOLK.

IT WILL BEGIN IN OCTOBER

Under the Auspices of the Norfolk High School, Norfolk is to Enjoy a Series of First Quality Entertainments This Season.

A lecture course of five high grade numbers, the five numbers costing $475, will be presented to the people of Norfolk this winter by the high school. The plan was announced at the high school this morning.

Following are the numbers on the course, and dates:

Alton Packard, cartoonist, October 17. Mr. Packard is said to hold a unique and unrivalled place among lyric entertainers and comes very highly recommended as a fun maker and cartoon artist.

Adrian M. Newens, a clever monologist, who gives playlets and who is pronounced an adept at his art, November 28.

Temple Quartet Concert company, well known in America for a quarter of a century, January 1.

John B. DeMotte, a famous lecturer, February 27.

Frank B. Roberson, a lecturer, who speaks on "Russia," April 8.

This series is all high class. To cost $475 for the five, means that each number averages $95, which is enough money to insure strictly first grade quality. A number of business men have helped out by buying season tickets.

The Congregational and Methodist churches will be used alternately for the attractions. Rev. W. J. Turner and Rev. J. F. Poucher aided in selecting the schedule.

C. D. JENKINS IS DEAD

MADISON COUNTY PIONEER SUC-CUMBS SUDDENLY.

WAS PROMINENT IN POLITICS

Man Who Drove Into Madison County Thirty-five Years Ago With an Ox Team, and Who Served as Steward at Norfolk Hospital, Dies Today.

Madison, Neb., Oct. 2.—Special to The News: Charles D. Jenkins, for thirty-five years a well known citizen of Madison county and for the past twelve years a resident of Norfolk, who was a leader in the Nebraska populist party, having served for four years as steward of the Norfolk insane hospital under Governor Holcomb, died at his farm home near this city at 6:30 o'clock this morning. His death was sudden. Mr. Jenkins was found lying unconscious out in the yard yesterday afternoon, after an afternoon's work on a riding plow, and he did not regain consciousness. His death was due to uremic coma.

Was Stricken Suddenly.

Mr. Jenkins had been in the field all the afternoon and was apparently feeling unusually well when he left the house. He rode on the plow, working over the field, and must have felt all right up until evening. He did not return, however, at supper time and his family became alarmed. Starting to look for him, they found Mr. Jenkins lying alongside the plow near the stable, where he had evidently driven from the field. The team was not unhitched so that he had evidently fallen as he was about to unharness the horses. He was in a comatose condition and did not recover before his death.

Funeral Thursday Afternoon.

The funeral will be held in Madison Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Jenkins was about fifty-nine years of age and had lived in this county for more than a third of a century. He drove into Madison county with an ox team thirty-five years ago and began farming. He made a success in a business way and owned three quarter-sections of land near here, upon which his sons now live. He is survived by a widow, two sons, Corl and Fred, and one daughter, Gladys. He has no other relatives, his brother, Ed Jenkins, who was his only other relative, having died suddenly at his home in Columbus in much the same manner only a little over a month ago.

In Business in Norfolk.

Mr. Jenkins went to Norfolk about twelve years ago to become steward of the state insane hospital under Governor Holcomb, and retained that position for four years. At the end of that time he retired from active life for a short time and then, at the end of a year, bought a half interest from P. A. Shurtz in the Fair store. This partnership was continued for five years and a half, the firm having sold out a year ago on September 10.

Since he disposed of his mercantile interests, Mr. Jenkins has been inactive in the business world, because of failing health. He has spent the summer at the farm near here and has been much of the time out of doors. A good portion of the time he has been working in the field for the fresh air and exercise.

Belonged Only to Elks.

Mr. Jenkins was a member of only one lodge—the Elks of Norfolk. He carried life insurance to the extent of about $5,000.

While he lived at Madison he was elected a member of the board of supervisors, before the board of county commissioners was installed in Madison county.

He always took an active part in the work of the populist party of the state and was one of the original members of that organization. He was a lifelong friend of former United States Senator William V. Allen of this city.

His Brother's Death.

There was a striking similarity in the death of Mr. Jenkins this morning and that of his brother, Ed, at Columbus on August 22 of this year. Ed Jenkins had gone to the woodshed at
