

TO PRINT WORKMAN HERE

W. N. HUSE GETS A. O. U. W. ORGAN CONTRACT AGAIN.

DESPITE FORMER CONGRESSMAN

Down-And-Out McCarthy, With Henchmen, Made Fight of Life to Prevent Contract Returning to Norfolk. Longest Record for One Publisher.

The Nebraska Workman, official organ of the Ancient Order of United Workmen in Nebraska, will continue to be published in Norfolk. W. N. Huse, who has edited and published the Workman for the past ten years, has returned from Grand Island with a new contract for the paper's publication. The contract was brought back to Norfolk this year in the face of a bitter fight made by ex-Congressman J. J. McCarthy of Ponca and some of his peers, who sought revenge against The News and its editor because of the Ponca statesman's failure to secure a renomination in the republican congressional convention of the Third district last summer.

Means Something to Norfolk. The publication of the Workman in Norfolk means that considerable money will continue to be distributed in Norfolk each month as a direct result of the work. A number of persons find employment in The News office solely on account of the work connected with this publication and the money that this force of people earns goes into circulation among all lines of business in Norfolk.

Besides the employment that is given regularly to people in The News office on account of this contract, considerable business is created by this publication for draymen, postal clerks, etc., each month.

There are now published, for the Ancient Order of United Workmen and the auxiliary order, the Degree of Honor, nearly 50,000 copies of this paper each month. This means that several carloads of paper a year must be shipped into Norfolk, transferred by dray to the printing plant and then, after being converted by type and ink into the official lodge organ, hauled again by dray to the postoffice.

Naturally, the city's postoffice business is boomed quite materially during the course of a year by this incident in its monthly routine.

While some of the income for this printing naturally goes for white paper, by far the greater portion of the funds are converted immediately into labor and remain right here to be spent in Norfolk.

Down-And-Out McCarthy There.

Down-and-out McCarthy, who one time disgraced Nebraska's Third congressional district as its official representative in Washington, smarting under his failure to succeed himself on the job, got out with a hatchet and made the fight of his life to prevent the return of this contract to Norfolk. Although not sent to the grand lodge of the order by his own lodge at Ponca as a delegate, Mr. McCarthy made a trip over the state and then went to Omaha with the avowed purpose of cleaning up the Norfolk publisher who once got into a libel suit in McCarthy's defense.

But in spite of all that the ex-statesman could do, the contract was returned to Norfolk, the present publisher being the lowest responsible bidder and therefore, under the order of the grand lodge, entitled to the work.

With the issue of July the Workman will have been published in Norfolk for ten consecutive years, this being a much longer time than the contract has ever before been held by any one publisher.

POSTMASTERS AND TELEPHONES

Attack Will be Made Upon Government in Chicago Convention.

Pierce and other towns have lately been informed that postmasters can no longer "deliver mail by telephone," that no matter what the postmaster's disposition in the matter may be, he will not be permitted to tell people over the wire whether or not any letters await them. Touching upon this point, resolutions denouncing the United States government as unfair in its treatment of $350,000,000 invested capital have been prepared for introduction at the convention of the International Independent Telephone Association, which convened at the Auditorium hotel in Chicago today.

Demand is to be made for nullification of an order forbidding postmasters all over the country to install telephones in their offices unless the instruments have direct connection with Washington. The rule is declared by 1,600 delegates to the convention to be working injustice to 3,000,000 telephone subscribers, patrons of the 7,000 independent companies of the United States and Canada.

The attack upon the government is to be led by Charles E. Sumner of Portland, Ore., founder of telephone companies in twenty cities of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana. Delegates from all the twenty-nine other states represented at the convention are expected to join in discussion of the situation at the national capital.

Next in interest to the executive order held to be adding the so-called "Bell monopoly" the convention will be interested in consideration of government ownership of telephone lines. Francis Dager of Winnipeg, Man., expert of the Manitoba government in charge of building that province's 1,000-mile long distance system covering sixty towns, will tell of the campaign leading to Manitoba's decision to construct the first government-owned telephone system on this continent. Mr. Dager has for years been the telephone expert of the Canadian parliament at Ottawa.

MINSTREL SHOW FOR PATIENTS

Band Minstrels Give Insane Hospital Inmates Pleasant Evening.

Patients at the Norfolk hospital last evening enjoyed a break in the course of their hospital life, a score of young men from Norfolk repeating the Norfolk band minstrels for the benefit of the patients. The greater part of the minstrel proper, given at the Norfolk Auditorium on April 22, was rendered again last evening in the chapel at the state hospital.

More than 100 patients were in the chapel. A few visitors from Norfolk and members of the hospital staff were present, but the performance, arranged and carried out by the minstrel boys themselves, was intended primarily for the patients, who gave every indication of enjoying the "show."

The minstrel cast and the songs of the evening were along the same lines as the Auditorium production. Sam Erskine acted as interlooper again last evening and Will Hall, James Peters, Lorin Brueggeman and Ben Hull were again the black face end men.

The hospital management expressed their appreciation of the course of the minstrel boys in giving their production for the patients. The numbers last evening were greeted with applause and encores.

MORE TEACHERS LEAVING

TWO ARE GRANTED LEAVES OF ABSENCE FOR YEAR.

ANOTHER RESIGNATION COMES

The Norfolk Board of Education Has Not Yet Burrowed Its Way Out From Under the Flood of Resignations That Are Pouring In.

The Norfolk board of education has not yet burrowed its way from under the flood of resignations that has made the task of filling out the local teaching list this year one of more than the usual dimensions. At the meeting of the board last evening leave of absence was granted to two Norfolk teachers while another resignation was added to the list. The board took no steps towards filling the seven or eight vacancies that still exist in the teaching force, preferring to take up the election of additional teachers and janitors at an adjourned meeting of the board next Friday when an effort will be made to have the entire membership of the board present.

Leave of absence for a period of one year was granted the following teachers last evening: Miss Lena Mills, who will attend school; Miss Mae Olney, who will spend part of the year on a South Dakota claim; Miss Ethel Long, who was elected to the sixth grade at the Lincoln building, sent a note to the board last evening declining the election; Miss Long has been elected to a position in the Bloomfield high school.

H. P. White was re-elected to the janitorship of the Washington school last night.

The meeting of the board was the regular monthly meeting, the greater part of the evening being consumed with the examination of bills. The report of the treasurer showed a balance in the general fund of $1,538.26 on May 31.

The $7,000 surety bond submitted by Treasurer Haase was approved by the board, an allowance of $28 for the cost of the bond being made for the bond as provided by a law of the state.

President Viele, Secretary Trautman, A. Degner and S. G. Dean were present at the meeting.

Friday evening the board will meet to elect teachers. On Monday evening, June 10, it will meet in special session for the purpose of receiving bids for the construction of the new high school building.

BOCHE DECISION NOT THIS WEEK

It is Not Believed Matter of Bail Will Be Settled This Week.

Herman Boche is still in the county jail at Madison, where he awaits the outcome of his attorney's effort to secure an order from the district court permitting release from the jail on bail pending the trial before a Madison county jury next winter.

No intimation of Judge A. A. Welch's course in the bail matter is expected until the latter part of this week or the first of next week. Judge Welch heard testimony in Norfolk last week, the evidence being offered with the aim of showing that Boche's act was a ballable offense despite the formal charge of first degree murder.

Judge Welch will make a formal announcement of his decision in the court room at Madison. County Attorney Koenigstein and Senator Allen, Boche's attorney, will be notified preparatory to the formal rendering of the decision at Madison. This week Senator Allen is absent from Madison, the date of his return being set at Thursday. The county attorney is out in the western part of the state and will not return until Friday or Saturday. In view of the absence of the two attorneys no action by the court is expected pending their return.

If Judge Welch denies Boche's application for permission to give bond, the Madison county farmer who shot Frank Jarmer will be held in the narrow confines of the county jail until next December when the district court jury will assemble at Madison for the November term of court.

PIERCE MOURNS CHRIS POWERS

Young Man Was Musical Prodigy With Bright Prospects.

Pierce, Neb., June 3.—Special to The News: Seldom, indeed, does any town or community pass through the gloom that has enveloped Pierce since the sudden death of Chris Powers here last Saturday morning. "Chris" as he was known by all, from the gray-haired old man to the kindergarten school child, was at the time of his taking away fifteen years of age, and belonged to the tenth grade in the public schools. In less than twelve hours from his demise he was expected to play a piano solo at a recital. He was termed by a competent critic from Chicago a musical prodigy. He was both affable and dignified and seemed possessed with a desire to keep something from being said. This The News correspendent has known for some time for it was in him that "Chris" Powers confided and said he was not as strong as he wished to be but hoped to grow up strong without anyone knowing how really weak his constitution was. To make his untimely death more sad and hard to bear his father, W. E. Powers, was in Oklahoma on land business and was not reached by telegraph until yesterday, but word at once was received that Mr. Powers would arrive in Pierce today, passing through Norfolk at noon or arriving in the evening and driving to Pierce. Although dead word was only sent to Mr. Powers that his son was very sick and it was thought probable the first sad news would reach him when he arrived in Norfolk.

L. Sessions of Norfolk is here to look after the funeral obsequies which will not be arranged until the arrival of Mr. Powers.

NOT TO EXTEND FROM DALLAS

Herrick Press Finds Little Evidence of Any Survey.

Newspapers in the Rosebud country are just at present teeming with a report, reprinted back and forth, to the effect that the Northwestern is to extend to Phillips, on the Pierre-Rapid City branch of the Northwestern, immediately. This would mean the immediate extension from Dallas on to the northwest.

A report from Pierre stating that surveyors have been laying out stakes north of the White river, is furnishing meat for the stories. One report says that depot plans at Phillips, S. D., call for a much more elaborate station than those at Midland, which was formerly considered the point at which the extension might connect with the new road across South Dakota.

The Herrick Press takes little stock in these stories and says:

Just now there is a great deal being said about the C. & N. W.'s new road being extended on through Tripp county this summer. It is true there seems to be much activity on the part of the high officials with reference to this portion of the system, the general superintendent accompanied by other high officials having made two trips over the new road last week, going as far as Gregory the first time and out to Dallas the second trip.

There have also been persistent rumors of a gang of surveyors working from Midland south, on a line to connect with the new road at Dallas. We have been unable up to the present, however, to find verification for any of these rumors.

With the opening of Tripp county to settlement coming next spring, however, may be sufficient cause for extra activity on the part of the company to push the road on as rapidly as possible. But it will take extra activity on their part if the road is extended this year.
