THIS MEANS DOG TRAGEDY

"PUG" IS LOCKED IN HOUSE—BUT WHERE?

WON'T SOMEBODY LET HIM OUT?

An Unaddressed Postal Card in the Norfolk Postoffice is Trying to Save Pug's Life, But Can't—Amusing Things in Unaddressed Cards.

Has anybody let "pug" out? Or is poor old pug dying of slow starvation while his owners are away on a fall visit?

If "pug" hasn't been let out he ought to be at once for it's nearly ten days he was locked in the house when the family went visiting. What a terribly dreary time poor pug must have had.

Some north Nebraska family owns "pug" and no doubt treasures this once-fat round poodle, but when they went away on a visit a week or so ago they locked pug in the house and forgot to tell the neighbors.

On the train visions of poor old pug rose up to trouble them. When they got to Norfolk on a train an hour and a half late—for they said so in the postal—they wrote a postal card back home to Mrs. Next-Door-Neighbor calling attention to pug's limited field of action.

But having first forgotten pug in the going-away excitement it was perhaps only natural that in writing the postal they should forget again. They forgot the address! It may have been all right but it spelled tragedy for old pug locked in that stuffy shut-in house.

That was why a postal card mailed in Norfolk instead of going to its destination is posted on the wall of the Norfolk postoffice calling attention to visitors in the federal building to the calamity that has befallen poor pug. But meanwhile pug is shut in and who is to let him out?

The postal card that was to have brought relief to pug has other company in the glass box. "Grace" has written a little note on two pretty views of Norfolk and mailed them unaddressed. "Henry" has forgotten postage. And so it goes.

These postal cards will find their way to the dead letter office but to give the forgetful a chance the cards are first exhibtied in the federal building.

And it is many a queer message that is hung up for public gaze.

"I am an uncle," one man wrote in Norfolk. But the information didn't help much for the address side was blank.

Unaddressed and unstamped cards are not the only cards that don't reach the intended destination. Cards that shock the postal card critic at the postoffice are barred from the mails and every month a little bunch of the objectionable cards are sent in to Chicago.

NEBRASKA HARD AT WORK.

Cornhuskers Are Preparing for Game With Minnesota on Oct. 19.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 12.—With scarcely ten days remaining before the cornhuskers must hie to the north to engage the Minnesota gophers in one of Nebraska's big games of the year, Coach "King" Cole is driving his pupils this week at a fast practice pace. Although the Nebraska coach has practically decided as to the personnel of the lineup, there is still time for changes and he will not make his final selections until the very eve of the departure for Minneapolis. There is method, however, in Cole's apparent indecision. With at least two or more positions in doubt, the battle by the candidates for the questionable places is made all the more spirited and Cole is getting better results out of his charges than if the lineup were already fixed.

The week began with a day devoted entirely to signal practice and open work in the field. Several of the varsity performers were bruised in the South Dakota game and Cole concluded to give them a day's rest. The scrimmaging was inaugurated in fierce fashion Tuesday.

The probable substitution of Cooke for Burnett in the lineup and the use of Minor at right half will pull the total weight of the Nebraska eleven down to 1,945 pounds, an average of 176. The beef, however, is nicely distributed and Cole is well satisfied on that score, basing his chief concern upon the ability of the men to get together in team work and to master the tricks of individual play.

The loss to the varsity squad of Hugh Craig this week was a serious shock to Coach Cole, who had planned to use Craig at left end. Craig is carrying graduate work this year in an effort to secure his master's degree. Under this burden of hard study he asked permission last week to be relieved by Cole of reporting for practice. The coach prevailed on Craig to amend his decision and the latter retained his place in the squad, but this week he has been compelled to finally abandon the gridiron and turn in his suit to Manager Eager. The loss of Craig leaves Cole with only five "N" men, the list including Captain Weller, Harvey Matters, Chaloupka and Cooke, whereas early in the season the prospects pointed to the return of no less than ten veterans. There was no lack of good material, however, to fill the gaps and followers of the game at Nebraska are confident that the cornhuskers should be much more formidable than a year ago.
