CLOSE WATCH ON SCABIES.

Feared That the Disease is Spreading Among South Dakota Cattle. Pierre, S. D., Oct. 23.—The government inspectors are keeping a close watch on scabies in the northwest, although the radical action of a year ago, when the different states cooperated with the government was thought to have nearly wiped out the disease.

In this state the county cattle inspectors were materially assisted by the government inspectors, and in the western half most of the disease was eliminated. But in the eastern part of the state the dipping order was resisted by many cattle owners, and the disease remained in different spots. These have been spreading. In the western part of the state also vigilance has been relaxed this year, resulting in complaints from the eastern markets that South Dakota cattle are coming in which are affected.

Unless radical action is taken by

GARDNER ELECTION TRUE

PRESIDENCY OF OMAHA ROAD CONFIRMED IN NORFOLK.

IS A BRIGHT RAILROAD MAN

At Northwestern Railroad Headquarters in Norfolk the Sioux City Report of the Election of Mr. Gardner is Confirmed—Took Place Friday.

The unofficial report from Sioux City that W. A. Gardner had been elected president of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad company, is officially confirmed at Northwestern headquarters in Norfolk. The election of Mr. Gardner as president of the Omaha road to succeed Marvin Hughtitt in that capacity, took place at Hudson last Friday. Annual meetings are held at that point.

The Omaha road enters Norfolk from Sioux City. Heretofore Mr. Hughtitt has been president of two roads entering Norfolk—the Northwestern and the Omaha. Mr. Gardner retains his position as vice-president of the Northwestern.

Mr. Gardner has passed through Norfolk a number of times within the past year. Mr. Hughtitt, who gives up the Omaha presidency, was in Norfolk Sunday of this week. Mr. Gardner is a younger man than Mr. Hughtitt, and is considered one of the brightest railroad men in the United States.

Mr. Gardner has served the Northwestern through the positions of train dispatcher, trainmaster, superintendent of the Wisconsin division, assistant general superintendent and vice president. He is, as vice president of the Chicago & Northwestern, in charge of maintenance and operation. The duties of president of the Omaha, a subsidiary company, are simply to be added to his present task.

Marvin Hughtitt had been president of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha railroad for twenty-seven years. He was president of the Omaha before he became president of the Chicago & Northwestern, having served as Omaha president and Northwestern vice-president and general manager for some time.

Mr. Hughtitt is now past seventy years of age and, though one of the most active men in the world for his age, is gradually letting loose of the details of his work. It is thought in railroad circles that before a great while he will make Mr. Gardner president of the Chicago & Northwestern.

MOTOR CARE AS EXPERIMENT.

That Between Fremont and York First on Northwestern.

The new motor car service which has been established between Fremont and York on the Northwestern, is the first to be installed by the Northwestern. Its operation is directly under the supervision of the railroad headquarters in Norfolk, this being the hub of all Chicago & Northwestern lines west of the Missouri river.

The new car was turned out by the Union Pacific shops in Omaha. It is motor car No. 16. This service has been installed as an experiment and if it is a success, the same sort of cars will undoubtedly be tried elsewhere. The car on the York-Fremont line, while running smoothly, has not yet attracted great patronage and it will depend upon the ability of the service to create new business, as to whether it is deemed a success or failure. Two men run it, a motorman and a conductor.

By virtue of this new service, people from the York line are enabled for the first time in their lives to go to Omaha and back the same day.

There are no plans for installing motor service in the territory around Norfolk, at least for the present.

KING COLE TALKS.

Gives His Ideas Gained From Side Line Study of the Game.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 23.—Nebraska's football warriors are back again on cornhusker sod, satisfied of having made a good fight in their grueling battle with Minnesota, and determined to do still better in the future games. Minnesota stands high in football circles in the middle west and Nebraska rooters are riddle elated over the success of the cornhuskers in compelling the gophers to be content with a low score.

It was Nebraska's first real conflict of the season, the previous games having been so easy that Cole's pupils have not yet been subjected to a test. The cornhuskers, almost to a man, emerged from the battle without injury, a condition gratifying to the coaches, as the Nebraska eleven now must face Colorado university, the Ames Aggies and Kansas university on three successive Saturdays. Cole anticipates a stiff fight in all of these games. Colorado is Nebraska's next opponent, the mountaineers being booked to invade Nebraska field on Saturday, Oct. 26.

While not cast down in spirit, Cole was disappointed over the result of the Minnesota game. "Of course the critics may say that our touchdown was fluky," he says, "but I rather view it in the light that Nebraska played keen enough football to be able to take advantage of Capron's fumble, nabbing the ball and running for a touchdown. The newspaper reports were in error in crediting Captain Weller in making the run which scored our points. Fullback Kroger made the touchdown, although Weller and three other Nebraska players were on hand at the critical moment to ward off gopher tacklers.

favor. One of our ends, Belzter, was hurt early in the struggle and lost much of his speed. At one juncture Nebraska tricked the gophers and Cooke tossed the ball perfectly to Belzter on a forward pass. Belzter would have had a clear field for a touchdown, but he was unable to speed up and catch the oval, the ball going over his head and striking the ground. This was one of our best plays, and it would have worked beautifully but for Belzter's incapacity to run. After that the gophers were wise to the play and our best chance had gone.

"I must give Minnesota credit for playing clean, strong football. The cornhuskers held their opponents safe when a touchdown was threatened, but Dr. Williams' team was playing a vastly better game than on the previous Saturday against Ames. The gophers were much stronger in every department. We came close to beating them, however, and that is something in our favor.

"Minnesota, evidently, is just getting under headway, and future opponents will have a battle on their hands in beating the gophers. Capron is a superb kicker and I shall be surprised if his kicking does not worry Chicago and Carlisle.

"I was especially pleased over the fact that our game with the gophers was not marred by any muckering. Both teams played clean football and there were no attempts at dirty football when the officials were not looking. The Minnesotans treated us royally and there are no sore spots merely because of our defeat."

HAY TRAIN CAUGHT FIRE

ONE CAR AND CONTENTS ARE DESTROYED AT BASSETT.

A HARD FIGHT TO CONTROL IT

What Might Have Terminated in a Disastrous Fire Started in the Chicago & Northwestern Yards at Bassett From Bon Fire.

Bassett, Neb., Oct. 23.—Special to The News: What might have been a very disastrous fire for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad company in their yards here, was got under control after but one car of baled hay had been almost destroyed.

Section men were burning up trash among the cars which were being loaded with hay, when one car was discovered on fire.

It took hard work to save the fire from spreading, but an extra train happened along and by the aid of the hose from the extra engine, the fire was controlled, the loss being one car and contents.

DEATH OF MRS. ELIZABETH PILGER

Well Known Pioneer, Mother of Mrs. A. Degner and A. Pilger.

Mrs. Elizabeth Pilger, one of the pioneer residents of Stanton county, died late Tuesday morning in Norfolk at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. Degner, on South Fourth street. After the death of Mrs. Pilger's husband in Stanton several years ago, Mrs. Pilger has lived with her daughter in this city. Death was due to old age.

The present town of Pilger was so named after Mrs. Pilger's husband. Her husband's death preceded her own but she is survived by a number of children and grandchildren who are prominent in this section of Nebraska.

Mrs. Pilger was eighty-four years old. She was a member of Christ Lutheran church. She will be buried at Stanton, which was her former home.

Mrs. Pilger leaves these children, who were immediately notified of her death: Mrs. A. Degner, Norfolk; Adam Pilger, Stanton; Fred Pilger, Plainview; Peter Pilger, Plainview; Jacob Pilger, Plainview; Henry Pilger, Custer, S. D.; Julius Pilger, Stanton.

HER HAIR AFLAME, SAVES SELF

Mrs. L. B. Musselman of Norfolk Had a Narrow Escape.

Mrs. L. B. Musselman had a very narrow escape Wednesday morning from receiving serious burns as a result of an explosion of hard coal gas. Mrs. Musselman was bending over the door of the hard coal burner when the gas ignited, the flames spreading instantly to her hair. With rare presence of mind Mrs. Musselman kept control of herself while she extinguished the fire with her hands. She was alone at the time.

The hard coal stove had been put in place at the Musselman home. About 9 o'clock when the fire did not appear to be burning Mrs. Musselman bent forward and opened the stove door. Instantly the accumulated gas in the stove caught flame, the fire being communicated at once to Mrs. Musselman's hair.

Mrs. Musselman did not lose her presence of mind but in a moment had the flames out with her hands.

While her hair about her forehead was singed by the flames, Mrs. Musselman suffered most from the severe shock.

THREE FIRES AT LYNCH

Two More Blazes There This Week. One Set by a Little Girl.

Lynch, Neb., Oct. 23.—Special to The News: Fire scares are getting numerous in Lynch. Monday afternoon a small barn in the north part of town out of reach of the water mains was burned, being set by a little girl. Last evening a second alarm was turned in at supper time, when a blaze was discovered in a small stack of hay at C. F. Roe's barn. The fire company soon put it out. This makes the third fire in three weeks and if the old saying that fires go in threes holds good we ought to get a rest.

WILL TRY TO THROW TWO MEN

"Farmer" Burns, Middleweight Champion Wrestler, Will Try to Throw Jack O'Leary Twice and George Gion Once in Forty Minutes.

"Farmer" Burns, middleweight champion wrestler of the world, is to be seen in Norfolk next week in a wrestling match. Burns will try to throw Jack O'Leary twice and George Gion once in forty minutes of wrestling time. O'Leary is champion welterweight of the northwest and Gion a fast middleweight wrestler. Thursday night, Oct. 31, has been set for the event.

The match will be wrestled catch-as-catch-can style, Police Gazette rules. There will be a preliminary between "Dago Kid" and "Spot" Dokes.

NEW LONG PINE CHURCH

Corner Stone For Methodist House of Worship is Laid There.

Long Pine, Neb., Oct. 23.—Special to The News: The corner stone of the new M. E. church was laid with appropriate ceremonies. The church will cost between $5,000 and $6,000 and will be complete, with kitchen and entertainment room in the basement. It will be a beautiful structure and will be a credit to the community.

DEATH OF V. A. TOWNE

Clerk of Circuit Court in Gregory Over Eight Years.

Fairfax, S. D., Oct. 23.—Special to The News: The funeral of V. A. Towne, a pioneer of Gregory county and for more than eight years clerk of the circuit court of this county, was held Sunday afternoon. Mr. Towne succumbed after a three weeks' siege of typhoid fever.

Victor Alfred Towne was the seventh child of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Towne and was born in the town of Holt, Missouri, on January 1, 1870. During the very earliest history of Gregory county, deceased came to Fairfax and filed on a claim near town. He was elected teacher of the first day school ever held in Fairfax and taught a class in the first Sunday school organized in Fairfax. When the county was organized in the year 1898, deceased was honored with the appointment as clerk of the circuit court, and was elected to that office four consecutive terms, serving as clerk for over eight years. He was always prominent in republican politics of the county and served with credit as secretary of the county central committee. "Vic" was also prominent in lodge circles here, and at the time of his death was a member in good standing in the I. O. O. F., Modern Woodmen, Royal Neighbors and the Ancient Order of United Workmen. As clerk of the local camp M. W. A., he was one of its foremost members and one of its most enthusiastic workers. He carried insurance in the last named order to the amount of $2,000, a policy for $2,000 in the Royal Neighbors and $1,000 in the Workmen, all of which he leaves to his aged parents, who have ever been his constant care and companions.

WANTED SALOON, LANDED IN JAIL

Man From Oconee Asked For Tip From Chief Flynn.

He was from Oconee, he carried a bottle of whiskey in each pocket and he was looking for a saloon, "a good saloon." All this might not have led to trouble in Norfolk if the Oconee man had used more discretion in searching for information. He asked Chief Flynn to point out a good saloon but instead the chief took him to jail. It was Wednesday morning. Chief Flynn had the glory of his uniform hidden beneath an overcoat. So the Oconee man who was missing the landmarks steered a course up to the chief and asked for a tip on the best saloon.

"Take my advice," said Chief Flynn, "you look like you had had about enough."

Mr. Oconee, "for I want a drink and I'm from Oconee."

So the chief dropped out of his overcoat and the man from Oconee spent the day in the city bastle.

It is dangerous to tell your troubles to a policeman if he isn't properly labeled.

TIME FOR BIDS IS EXTENDED

Northern Nebraska Carpenters to Have Chance at New Buildings.

The time for opening bids for the construction of the Norfolk hospital buildings authorized by the last session of the legislature has been extended by the state board of public lands and buildings to November 18. It had been advertised that sealed bids would be received by the board until noon of October 28. News of the change was received by President C. E. Burnham of the Commercial club, from H. M. Eaton, commissioner of public lands and buildings.

The extension of time was made, it is said, in the interest of north Nebraska contractors. In advertising for bids the board patronized the Lincoln papers and this form of publicity it was pointed out to the board did not reach the contractors of north Nebraska where the buildings are to be erected.

In his official notice Secretary of State Junkin asked for bids for the erection and construction on one fireproof wing, one cottage and one store room, all to be erected on the Norfolk hospital grounds. A certified check of $1,500 was required of bidders. Plans and specifications, it was stated, could be obtained either in Lincoln or at the Norfolk hospital.

POLITICAL POT BOILING

CHIEF INTEREST IN FIFTEENTH DISTRICT.

NEW DATES FOR SPEAKERS

The Most Interesting Battle in the Entire State is Being Waged in the Big Fifteenth Judicial District Over Two Judgeships.

A new schedule has been outlined by the republican state central committee for speakers who are to make addresses during the present campaign. In the new schedule Madison county loses the one speech which had been scheduled. Most of the campaign speaking is to be done in the Fifteenth judicial district where the hottest political fight is on. Following are dates of interest in this territory:

Senator Brown—O'Neill, October 29, 8 p. m.; Butte, October 28, 8 p. m.; Ainsworth, October 30, 8 p. m.; Valentine, October 31, 8 p. m.; Chadron, November 1, 8 p. m.; Alliance, November 2, 8 p. m.; Ansley, November 4, 8 p. m.

Hon. W. T. Thompson—Spencer, October 30, 8 p. m.; Lynch, October 31, 8 p. m.; Atkinson, November 1, 8 p. m.; Stuart, November 2, 8 p. m.

Lincoln Evening News: In the midst of an otherwise tranquil and uneventful campaign, Nebraska is being treated this year to an unusually hot fight in the Fifteenth judicial district. That territory has already become the political storm center of the state, and the chances are that it will hold the distinction until election day. Remotely situated though it is from the mainly populated areas, the Fifteenth is absorbing a great deal of attention from the republican and democratic state central committees. More campaign speeches will be delivered there on both sides than in any other section of the same size, and the republicans at least will throw some of their "big guns" into the fight.

The Fifteenth is the biggest judicial district in Nebraska, extending two-thirds of the way along the northern border from the Wyoming line to the east line of Boyd and Holt counties. It comprises more than one-fifth the total area of the state, though including but ten counties. The Northwestern railroad traverses it from east to west, and the Burlington cuts the west end of the district on a line running northwest and southeast, but otherwise its transportation facilities are puny. Most of the territory it takes in is known as "cattle country."

For years it has been regarded as the political frontier, and no great amount of interest has been felt by the rest of the state in its affairs. But this year the Fifteenth is a real live wire, and the remainder of Nebraska is looking on with a lively appreciation of the scrap in progress there.

For so many years that nobody remembers who their predecessors were J. J. Harrington of O'Neill and J. H. Westover of Rushville have occupied the district bench in the big Fifteenth. Both are fusionists, and while that part of the state has been largely reclaimed by the republicans in other ways, they have been re-elected every four years. The size of the district and the lack of railroad facilities for getting over it has always been a mountain in the way of any lawyer who was ambitious to displace Westover or Harrington, since their court work took them into every county and gave them a general acquaintance which nobody else could acquire.

Notwithstanding the discouragements confronting other candidates two republican attorneys have entered the field this year and set out in determined fashion to win the judicial seats. They are D. B. Jenckes of Chadron and J. A. Douglas of Bassett.

Both are vigorous campaigners and they are putting so much ginger into the fight that the two sitting judges realize they will have hard work to
