

A WELL ADVERTISED MAN

HERMAN BOGHE HAS RECEIVED TOO MUCH PUBLICITY.

HENCE WANTS TRIAL TO GO OVER

His Attorney Introduces Affidavits and Volumes of Newspaper Clippings as a Reason Why He Should Not be Tried at This Time.

Herman Boghe is the victim of too much publicity. At least so his attorneys, who are trying to clear him of the charge of murdering Frank Jarmer in Norfolk on May 1, maintain. So varied have Boghe's actions been since that May day shooting and so extensive have been the newspaper accounts thereof that his lawyers claim to be afraid that the Madison county public have already read and tried Boghe to their hearts' content.

On the ground that Boghe has been over advertised and that his trial just now would come a little too near to holding the center of the stage, Boghe's lawyers are fighting to have the case put off. Monday they will be heard by District Judge Welch. County Attorney Jack Koehnstein on behalf of the state will meet them with a request for an immediate trial.

It was indeed an unusual petition that Senator Allen, Boghe's attorney, filed when asking that the case be continued. Senator Allen devoted the bulk of his lengthy affidavit to newspaper clippings telling the story of the Boghe-Jarmer shooting and the subsequent events. The series of articles in the Boghe "war" between the Madison Chronicle and the Star-Mail are also cited.

Boghe's name is a household word, better known in Madison county than the cognomen of William J. Bryan, Thomas W. Lawson, Theodore Roosevelt or Sir Thomas Lipton, Senator Allen in effect maintains. In fact, Boghe has been "written up" some.

In the clippings that Senator Allen has gotten together and filed with Judge Welch 28,431 words from The News, 5,850 words from the Madison weeklies and 150 words from the Tilden Citizen are set forth as showing the extent to which Boghe's acts have been given to the public and the widespread interest that has called for such extended treatment.

The News naturally treated the Boghe case in far more detail than the weekly papers but the difference in the total number of words listed is increased by the fact that virtually every Boghe news item in The News was set forth in the petition while the other newspaper clippings are largely of a controversial nature.

If Boghe's story as told in those newspaper clippings was printed in one straight line it would reach 1,111 feet. Senator Allen in his petition not only asserts the wide discussion of the case but states that the discussion is coupled with a widespread belief of the prisoner's guilt.

Another argument for extension listed in the petition is taken as indicating something of the direction that the Boghe trial may take. It is claimed that Boghe's attorneys need additional time to secure witnesses to testify to Frank Jarmer's practice of getting patrons of his saloon drunk, taking them to local resorts and assisting in relieving them of their money.

Boghe shot Jarmer after leaving a local resort early on the morning of May 1. When he gave himself up a week later he claimed to have been robbed of several hundred dollars.

BUTKE IS NOT SATISFIED

Defeated Bidder on Norfolk Buildings is Mad.

Robert Butke of Omaha, who did not receive the contract for erecting the three buildings at the Norfolk asylum,

In the opinion of the board of public lands and buildings, feels put out about it, says a Lincoln dispatch. Today a bid marked supplemental bid was received from him agreeing to erect the three buildings for $77,000. The contract was let November 18 to W. G. Morten of Emerson for $77,852. When the bids were opened Morten was the lowest on one building and Butke on two others. The board asked Butke if he would take all three buildings, two of them at the Morten bid. He refused and then Morten agreed to take all three, one at the Butke bid, which was lower than his own. In doing this the board followed its custom of dividing up the contracts to the lowest bidders on each item. By doing this it saved the state $2,920. The board cannot now reopen the matter to consider the lower bid of Butke.

Will Not Go to West Point. Nye Morehouse of Fremont will not go to West Point this year, nor will the other fellow, who made a point or two the best in examination a week or two ago, says the Fremont Herald.

Congressman Boyd has written Mr. Morehouse that he was under misapprehension as to the opening for a cadet at West Point from this state, and that he is now informed by the war department that not until March 4, 1909, will a candidate from Nebraska be admissible to the national military academy.

This far-off date will give Nye ample time to recuperate from the enthusiasm with which every young man of his years is generally afflicted, and it is more than probable he will continue at Nebraska's state university, and graduate into a man of consequence in the commercial world, rather than as a "military man," say his many friends.

PLUCKY GIRL MAIL "MAN."

Carries a Fifty-Mile Route in South Dakota.

Miller, S. D., Nov. 30.—Sent out from a Boston, Mass., orphan's home with two brothers and a sister some ten or twelve years ago, Lillian Haley, now a girl in her teens, cracks the whip over the backs of a span of fast bronchos three days of the week in driving the mail between here and Westington Springs, a distance of fifty odd miles. She succeeds Della Spain, who drove for a long time and then went away to college. Miss Haley is longing to hear some tidings of her brother John and sister Grace, who were in the Boston home with her, but who were sent west somewhere about the time that she came out with her brother Neal, who is now in North Dakota, but she is unable to learn anything of them. She expects to brave the storms of winter in making the long trips over the bleak prairie road between here and the Springs. She has now been at the work four months and likes it quite well.

Along the line of organization a "committee of nine," consisting of the presidents of the three North Platte normals, three county superintendents and three city superintendents, was named to meet in Lincoln, on the occasion of the state association meeting, for the purpose of formulating a report on the purposes of the club and outlining a constitution to be passed on next year. The committee is composed of President J. M. Pile of the Wayne normal, President W. H. Clements of the Fremont normal, President O. A. Thomas of the Kearney state normal, Superintendent F. S. Perdue of Madison county, Superintendent Florence E. Zink of Holt county, Superintendent Pilger of Pierce county, Superintendent U. S. Conn of Columbus, Superintendent J. E. Superintendent E. J. Bodwell, head of the Norfolk schools, received a pretty compliment in election as the first president of the new club. Superintendent U. S. Conn of Columbus was named as vice-president. Miss Florence E. Zink, county superintendent of Holt county, was elected secretary-treasurer. These officers constitute the club's executive committee.

It was voted that the members present at the initial meeting and banquet should become charter members of the club. While the meeting place of the new club has not been determined the sentiment of the charter members is known to be very favorable to Norfolk, the hub city of north Nebraska. In fact, a meeting of north Nebraska school folks held any place but in Norfolk would be very much out of place. And the school folks know it.

HUSKING RECORD.

Neligh, Neb., Dec. 2.—Special to The News: What is considered to have been an excellent record in husking and cribbing corn in this vicinity was accomplished by Clifford Redding on the farm of Will Krebs, northwest of Neligh.

Young Redding worked seventeen and one-half days and in that time husked and cribbed 1,785 bushels. It is stated that he worked on an average ten hours each day.

A Fast Preliminary.

A fast preliminary, it was announced, would be put on at the Auditorium Saturday evening, the wrestling bout of the local men to precede the big handicap match between Wasem and his opponents, Carroll and O'Leary. It was thought that one of the Walton boys would take one end of the preliminary.

FORMAL OPENING OF DEPOT.

Project on Foot for a Reception Under Auspices Commercial Club. It is very probable that the new Northwestern passenger depot will be accorded a formal opening next week under the auspices of the Norfolk commercial club. The matter will be brought before the Commercial club directors Tuesday morning and several directors have already declared in favor of some sort of an opening.

The success of the recent formal opening of the Northwestern's new freight depot at Fremont, where Governor Sheldon and Ben T. White, chief of the company's legal department, participated in the formal program,

NEW SCHOOL FOLKS CLUB

ORGANIZATION EFFECTED IN NORFOLK FRIDAY.

MANY TEACHERS ARE PRESENT

Every Portion of North Nebraska is Represented in the Organization of School People Who Resolve to "Cut Out Shop."

E. J. Bodwell, Norfolk, president. U. S. Conn, Columbus, vice-president. Miss Florence Zink, O'Neill, secretary-treasurer.

"Cut out shop." That's what the "school folks" told their "committee of nine." It's what the "special committee of three." It's probable that some suggestion of this will slip into the constitution of the new club. It's certain that the speakers at next year's banquet will be put "next."

Talk of the higher life, of politics in the first ward of cabages and of kings but not of the birch rod and the speller nor of the "whys" of new certification plan and the assorted "five essentials." Please don't talk shop.

"School folks" from north Nebraska who gathered in Norfolk Friday for their new north-state club, which they launched with a business meeting and a "first annual banquet," have a serious purpose in the new organization which starts so auspiciously but that purpose the school people agreed was not to talk shop. In other words the "North Nebraska School Folks Club" is not to be a competitor of the North Nebraska Teachers' association which holds annual meetings in Norfolk.

The big spring association meeting in Norfolk with its attendance of half a thousand is properly very much of the "shoppy shop." The new club is a social organization of north Nebraska educators to bring them together in a cultural way, to expand common benefits that come from men and women in the same line of work meeting together occasionally.

What the school folks meant when they frowned at "shops" was that coming together in the annual banquet they would forget school teaching but remember the while that they were school teachers. The promoters of the club believe that anything that broadens the teacher makes for the benefit of the school.

The present idea of organization formulated roughly yesterday by the "committee of nine" contemplates an annual meeting of the club. The after noon will be given over to the business meeting and a program of an hour or so at which the "ban" on shop will be lifted. In the evening the banquet proper will be given. The toasts will be along varied lines and will avoid written papers. A speaker of prominence from away may be the guest of honor at the banquet.

The business meeting of the embryo club was called to order in the Pacific hotel Friday afternoon by President A. V. Teed of the North Nebraska Teachers' association. Miss Zink of O'Neill, secretary of the organization acted as secretary of the gathering.

The "North Nebraska School Folks Club" was accepted as the title of the organization. NORFOLK WINS THE GAME

FOOTBALL WITH WISNER AT THAT TOWN FRIDAY.

KANE BREAKS COLLAR BONE

Wisner Player is Unfortunate in Latter Part of First Half—A Game Full of Vim Resulting in a Score of 6 to 0 For Norfolk.

Kane, fullback on the Wisner high school football team, broke his shoulder bone in Friday's football game between the Norfolk and Wisner high schools at Wisner. The game was won by Norfolk 6 to 0.

The accident that put Kane out of the game with a broken shoulder bone occurred in the latter part of the first half in a fall. The accident was entirely unavoidable. Early in the season Kane fractured his collarbone in another place during practice.

Norfolk won the game in the first half when Hans Anderson was sent over the Wisner goal line on straight football. The game was hotly contested with Wisner pushing Norfolk hard in the first few minutes of play.

A. G. Kennedy of the English department, manager of the team, accompanied the Norfolk boys to Wisner. Friday's victory was Norfolk's final game. The season's scores are: Madison 36, Norfolk 0; Madison 10, Norfolk 0; Wisner 2, Norfolk 11; Wisner 0, Norfolk 6.

As Ogden and Lulkart are the only seniors on this year's team prospects for football in the high school are very bright for next year. Durland substituted for Keleher Friday.

NELIGH OPERA HOUSE.

Norfolk Tendered an Invitation to Help Open House.

Norfolk has been tendered a formal invitation to come up to Neligh sometime next week when the new Neligh Auditorium, erected by Neligh Odd Fellows, is given its formal opening.

J. C. Jenkins and R. S. Payne of Neligh were in Norfolk Friday in the interests of the opening and the invitation they extended to Norfolk will be one of the matters to come up before the commercial club directors Tuesday morning. It is very probable if local arrangements can be made that next Friday will be designated as "Norfolk day" in Neligh's opening week.

The Neligh Auditorium is opened by the Arlington stock company with a week's engagement commencing Monday. Wednesday and Friday evenings the play is followed by a ball with the dance music furnished by the company orchestra.

The house is said to be virtually sold out for Monday and Wednesday nights.

GOLD BRACELET GIVEN AWAY.

Patrons of Picture Shows Will Vote it to Some One.

A handsome gold bracelet will be given to a popular young lady at the close of the second picture show next Friday evening, December 6. The bracelet may be seen on exhibition in the show window of the Hayes jewelry store and it has been pronounced a beauty by those who have seen it.

The method of conferring the bracelet will be by vote of patrons of the picture shows during the week, every admission entitling the patron to one vote. The result of each evening's vote will be announced in The News the next day as well as on the screen at the beginning of the next entertainment. Here is an opportunity to secure a nice article for some popular girl, that she will appreciate as long as she lives. The girl need not necessarily be a young lady—she may be a big miss or a little miss, and the one who gets the most votes at the close of the last picture show Friday night will receive the prize.
