NEIGHBORS GREATLY SHOCKED

THEY LEARN OF DEATH FROM UNDERTAKER'S WAGON.

WORD TO ROOSEVELT AND TAFT

CLEVELAND WAS THE LAST SUR-VIVING EX-PRESIDENT.

ROOSEVELT, ALONE, IS LEFT

Grover Cleveland, Former President of the United States, Suddenly Passed Away at His Home, "Lakeland," in Princeton, New Jersey.

Princeton, N. J., June 24.—Grover Cleveland, former president of the United States, died at Lakeland, the Cleveland home, at 8:40 o'clock this morning.

PHYSICIANS HOLD BACK NEWS

Announcement of the death was not made for over an hour after the end had come, at which time the physicians prepared an official statement saying that death was the result of heart failure, combined with acute gastric stomach trouble.

MRS. CLEVELAND AT BEDSIDE.
Mrs. Cleveland and the family physician were the only persons at the bedside of the former president when death came.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED.
The sudden arrival yesterday afternoon of Dr. Bryan, the former Cleveland physician, caused suspicions that the ex-president's condition was serious, but Mrs. Cleveland denied that any significance attached to the visit.

UNDERTAKER'S WAGON TELLS IT
The people of Princeton did not know of the death until an undertaker's wagon rattled hurriedly down the street this morning and drew up in front of the Cleveland home.

THEY LOVED CLEVELAND.
The information has come as a severe shock to the people of this community, who learned to love the ex-president and his wife when they came to this city to spend the reclining days of the great democratic statesman.

Mrs. Perrine, mother of Mrs. Cleveland, and the Cleveland children were at a resort in northern New York, and they were immediately notified.

They will start for Princeton this afternoon.

WIRES ROOSEVELT AND TAFT.
Telegrams were prepared and sent by Mrs. Cleveland to a number of prominent persons, including President Roosevelt and Secretary Taft.

ONLY SURVIVING EX-PRESIDENT
Grover Cleveland was the only surviving ex-president of the United States. His death leaves Theodore Roosevelt the only living man who has ever occupied the white house as president.

FUNERAL PROBABLY FRIDAY
The funeral will probably take place on Friday.

It was supposed that he had recovered from his recent attack of acute indigestion, and death was not expected by his physicians or his family.

HAD BEEN FAILING.
Ex-President Cleveland had been failing for several years and he had been but a shadow of his former robust self during the past year.

Some months ago Cleveland was taken suddenly ill with a severe attack of acute indigestion. It was feared at that time that he might not survive. He was rushed to his Princeton home, and no word could be secured from his physician as to his condition. It was declared he suffered from a cancer.

THEN HE GREW BETTER.
Then his condition took a turn for the better and he improved so much that his ultimate recovery was anticipated.

The former president occupied a fine home in Princeton, near Princeton college. He was known as "the sage of Princeton."

A TRUE SPORTSMAN.
In his younger years he was a great lover of fishing and hunting.

FATHER A CLERGYMAN.
Grover Cleveland, the only democratic president since the civil war, was born in Caldwell, Essex county, New Jersey, on March 18, 1837. He was the son of a Presbyterian clergyman.

Cleveland studied law, settled in Buffalo, and in 1863 became assistant district attorney of Erie county, N. Y.

After becoming in succession sheriff and mayor of Buffalo, he was chosen governor of New York in 1882.

DEFEATED BLAINE.
In 1884 he received the democratic nomination for the presidency. He was elected, defeating James G. Blaine. It was a close contest. A few thousand votes would have given New York and the election to Blaine.

Cleveland was re-nominated in June, 1888, but he was defeated by Benjamin Harrison on November 6, following.

ELECTED A SECOND TIME.
After a successful law practice of four years he was again nominated by the democratic national convention in 1892, in spite of the opposition of the delegation from his own state.

He was elected over President Harrison by a very large majority.

MEASURES OF ADMINISTRATION
Some of the measures of his administration are: The settlement of the Venezuelan boundary question with Great Britain; the consolidation of postoffices in large centers so as to increase the scope of the civil service rules; and most notably the conclusion in January, 1897, of a general arbitration treaty with Great Britain, which, however, was rejected by the senate.

CLEVELAND INDEPENDENCE.
Possessed of great independence of character and persistence in carrying out policies once determined on, Cleveland often aroused criticism and hostility in the ranks of his own party.

On the other hand, these qualities won him admiration in many quarters.

During 1896-1897 he maintained an attitude of friendliness for Spain in the midst of great popular clamor in behalf of the Cuban cause, offering the services of the United States in composing the differences on a basis of home rule for Cuba.

On the money issue Cleveland stood squarely on the gold standard. He refused to support Bryan in 1896 and voted the gold democratic ticket.

AGAINST THIRD TERM.
On November 25, 1903, Cleveland publicly declined to be again the nominee of his party for the presidency.

CANDY FACTORY ASSIGNS

FAUCETT-CARNEY CO. MAKES BILL OF SALE TO BANK.

MAY REORGANIZE THE COMPANY

To Meet Claim of the Bank the Faucett-Carney Candy Company of Norfolk Transferred Its Business to Nebraska National Bank.

The Nebraska National bank of Norfolk has taken possession of the business of the Faucett-Carney candy company of this city. The assignment of the business to the bank was made Saturday evening on a bill of sale, the bank taking possession to protect its interests.

It is possible that the candy company may be reorganized and the business continue. Beyond admitting the possibility of such a course the officers of the bank would make no further statement today.

The liabilities of the Faucett-Carney company are said to exceed the company's resources. Hence the assignment. An invoice of the company's stock and general resources is being made. This will determine the position of the various creditors of the company.

The Faucett-Carney company was started a year ago last January for the purpose of operating a wholesale candy factory in Norfolk. The company has built up a large business in the northwest.

A Stanton county woman, Mrs. S. C. Vaught, was struck by lightning during the storm the other evening. She and her husband were out in the yard going to the windmill when the flash came. The husband, who was ten feet away, escaped injury but the woman's clothing was torn into ribbons and her flesh scorched as if by fire. She was stunned by the stroke, retaining consciousness after three hours. The injuries were not fatal and Mrs. Vaught is recovering. A lantern which she carried was put out by the lightning. The husband's first impression was that the lantern had exploded. The Vaught home is between Norfolk and Stanton.

Bill Came Back.
Crawford Courier: William Hoskins (Little Bill) has returned to the land of health and prosperity (Crawford) at the end of a five-months' journey through seven states west of the Missouri river. After many weary miles' travel by rail, stage and sole-leather, the former editor and proprietor of the Courier arrived home Sunday morning and at once sought admission through the portals of this edifice, here to apologize to his successor for having made the assertion that he could find a better country. We gave "Little Bill" the glad hand and received in return a moving picture illustration of the faults and frailties of seven sister states, through which he had journeyed expecting to find the fountain of health and some "easy green," the product of the former he was reasonably supplied with when he left—the latter was not to be found in any locality visited. Tired of searching for a place where the people are any better, the climate so congenial and money so plentiful, he returned to Crawford, as all who have once lived here do.

Shady O'Neill to Race.
O'Neill Frontier: Hugh McKenna left for Wynmore, where he has entered Shady O'Neill in the Nebraska circuit which opens in that city this week. Hugh's many O'Neill friends hope that he will be able to get away with part of the money offered by the towns on the circuit.

The Milwaukee Extension.
Lincoln Journal: The Pacific extension of the St. Paul railroad is now in operation as far as Lombard, Mont., from the east and a considerable part of it has been laid from the coast eastward. Chairman Roswell Miller of the company has said that the whole extension would be built by December and in operation by May of next year, and he expects that it will be self-supporting from the start. Having just returned from a trip through that region, he reports the crop indications as exceptionally promising.

THE SAME OLD POP.

So Far the Year Holds Nothing New in Fireworks.

The small boy with the inclination to do great injury to himself and friends on and about the Fourth is handicapped this year.

If there are any new danger-holding devices on the Fourth of July market this year they have not been brought to Norfolk.

The sure approach of the Fourth is heralded by the annual display of fireworks in the windows of Norfolk avenue dealers. Innovations are lacking, however.

Last year there were several "new things" on the market. This year it is the "same old things," in countless variety it is true.

The usual sale of fireworks is expected. While the city as a whole does not "celebrate," there is always more or less of individual display over town.

Fire crackers are already being set off over the city in customary disregard of regulations to the contrary.

The shooting of firecrackers out of the mouth of glass bottles has been adopted by a small group of Norfolk boys and this dangerous fad promises to spread.

A NEAR-TRAGEDY.

Terrible Knox County Tragedy Narrowly Averted.

Bloomfield Monitor: Evert Mark and his brother and sister, who were on their way to Blankensfelds on Monday last week, narrowly missed a frightful catastrophe between here and there. The water in the creek was pretty high and the colts he was driving became frightened when in mid-stream and whirled about and rushed down stream. They soon struck a kind of sink hole where one of the horses got down and drowned; the other one twisting out of his harness, saved his life. The older boy got out to the shore first, the younger one soon following. The whip was procured and with it the little girl was rescued from what would have been certain death. The younger boy was sent to an Indian neighbor and some of those people together with Mr. Kundsen and another white neighbor soon got out the buggy, the horse and other wreckage. It was a mighty narrow escape and the young people are to be congratulated on their rare presence of mind under very frightful circumstances.

RESUME FIRST OF SEPTEMBER

On the First Saturday in September the Exchange Day Proposition Will be Renewed With Vigor—Too Many Things Going on This Summer.

The next exchange day will be held on the first Saturday in September. Owing to the extremely hot weather and the many special events scheduled for the summer time, the committee has decided to postpone the exchange day during the next two months.

On the first Saturday in September, however, renewed vigor will be given the exchange day project. Committee-man Sturgeon, who has done a great portion of the hard work in town in connection with the exchange day movement, says that beginning with September, every possible effort will be put forth to make the plan a success. Such a plan has long been successful in Watertown, Wis., from which place many Norfolk families came.

Have You a Summer Stove?

The stifling air of a close kitchen is changed to comfortable coolness by installing a New Perfection Wick Blue Flame Oil Cook-Stove to do the family cooking.

No kitchen furnishing is so convenient as this stove. Gives a working heat at once, and maintains it until turned out—that too, without overheating the room. If you examine the

NEW PERFECTION

you will see why this is so. The heat from the chimney of the "New Perfection" is concentrated under the kettle and not dissipated through the room by radiation. Thus it does the work of the coal range without its discomfort. Ask your dealer about this stove—if not with him, write our nearest agency.

The Rayo Lamp is a very handsome piece of housefurnishing and gives a clear, powerful light more agreeable than gas or electricity. Safe everywhere and always. Made of brass finely nickel plated—just the thing for the living-room. If not with your dealer, write our nearest agency.

Several games are on the list for the next two weeks.

Fremont Herald: The sudden death at Lincoln of H. O. Paine, formerly of this city, came as a shock to his many sincere and admiring friends in this community. Mr. Paine was post-master in Fremont while the post-office occupied the Richards building on Fifth street. He served in that capacity from 1870 to 1885. About twenty years ago he went to Amesworth, where he has since been engaged in the real estate business. Before coming to Fremont Mr. Paine had served in the civil war and he was a member of McPherson Post No. 4 in this city.

They were bound for the reservation and had a great deal of trouble in finding their train.

Battle Creek Enterprise: G. C. Benning and Miss Bertha A. Ringer were married yesterday at the home of the bride's sister in Bloomfield. Mr. Benning is a native of Norfolk. He held a position in a bank at Meadow Grove for some time and has now been assistant cashier of the Battle Creek Valley bank at this place for nearly three years. During his residence here he has won the friendship of all whom he has come in contact, either in business or in a social way. While the bride has never lived here, she has visited here often, and been thrown in company with the young people here, with whom she is a general favorite. For a number of years she has been one of the most successful teachers of the state and will be greatly missed by the faculty. Mr. and Mrs. Benning will be at home in Battle Creek after July 1st.
