Gregory, S. D., July 18.-From a staff correspondent: Gregory is a good town without any Tripp county rush. This energetic and thriving metropolis of the Rosebud reservation country is already enjoying a substantial prosperity, based up a rich STRUCK AND KICKED, DAY MAN agricultural country round about, and it also has a most promising future, based too upon its environment. On top of this good health on its own account, however, Gregory exepects to profit very materially by the forth- in a Quarrel Ritts Was Knocked Down coming rush of homeseekers into Tripp county, Gregory expects to entertain thousands of visitors who come up into the northwest when registration for the big million-acre land lottery begins. As a foundation The News: J. E. Ritts of Day, S believe that the opening will come for their expectations that Gregory D., a Rosebud homesteader, was killed yet this year. The main business street of Gregory is as long as the main business street of Norfolk. Both sides are lined with quarrel with Riley. The latter is said because he says the crowd won't be business structures, erected in haste in order to accommodate a pressing trade, which are filled with all of the various types of enterprise to be found in the ordinary town of 1,500 to 2,000, and the human activity in and out of these business bee-hives, the constant down. Riley then kicked the fallen pletion of his work so that the openclick, click, click of typewriters, together with the everlasting banging of hammers, all show the commercial Bradley of Burke was called and at stated that he will have filed his health that is here and the growth once pronounced the man dead. Frontiersman of fifty years ago would have died for joy if he had been confronted all at once with the modern improvements which make life in the far west so durable, indeed even so fascinating as it is today. Now there are the telephone and the automobile, on top of water works, to help out the situation. And it is just as easy to be contented on the frontier today as in New York city-or easier. Gregory soon will have electric lights for illu-

People welcome hot days for the sake of the corn and at night relish the delicious sleep which comes in this high, dry altitude of cool evenings.

The fact that the Rosebud is broken up into farms a quarter section large, adds to the prosperity of the town within it. For this puts something like 2,000 hustling farmers in the country-and it can easily be seen that this means life for the merchants in town.

A number of minor manufacturing industries are already starting in Gregory-a mill, a cigar factory, a bakery, tailoring establishments, and the like. Gregory expects to be permanently a prosperous, thrifty city of perhaps 3,000 people—as large a town as it is possible to support on a large agricultural territory and the land office, if Gregory gets it, would help. It is doubtful if Gregory will make a hard fight for the county seat. Some prominent business men declare no fight will be made, though some say there will be an effort. Many think Fairfax will retain the county seat.
