

FRIDAY FACTS.

W. H. Lloyd of Gardner, Mont., Miss Carrie Allison of Murray, Neb., and H. M. Robb of Union, Neb., are visiting Mont Robb and family at the hospital.

Miss Anderson, superintendent of the Methodist hospital, came up from Omaha to attend the graduating exercises of the Norfolk Training school for nurses at the state hospital.

A wolf hunt will take place west of Hoskins tonight.

Born last evening to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard on South Sixth street, a daughter.

Lewis Hartman, pitcher with the Stanton base ball team last summer who was in Norfolk for a number of games, is spending the winter hunting and trapping at his home near Chapman. On April 28 he will try out for a place on the Denver league team. If he fails to land he may return to Stanton.

The appointment of Dr. W. D. Guttery of Pilger to be first assistant physician of the Norfolk hospital, made public in The News last Saturday, was formally given out by Governor Shallenberger in Lincoln yesterday.

Lincoln Journal: Attorney Ben White of the Northwestern railroad registered as a lobbyist just in time to be entitled to wear a badge, providing Senator Diers' resolution is adopted. There is no suggestion from any source that this attorney had the Diers resolution adopted for his special protection and for the casting into outer darkness all other railroad men who have not had the courage to register.

Mrs. John Rinkle of Battle Creek was in Norfolk.

Mrs. A. A. Bell and daughter were in from Hoskins.

H. A. Haley came in from Sioux Falls, having concluded his work on the road for the season.

John Dolphin of Bloomfield visited yesterday at the home of J. A. Ballantyne on Norfolk avenue.

A. Degner arrived home last evening from a trip over northeast Nebraska in the interests of the state hardware dealers' association.

E. O. Garrett of Fremont, recently defeated for lieutenant governor, was one of the men who came to Norfolk for the school folks' banquet Friday, arriving here before it was decided to postpone the banquet. Mr. Garrett was toastmaster at the banquet last year.

Andrew Carnegie's secretary has written to the local library board asking for a copy of the city ordinance appropriating $1,000 a year for the support of the library. Carnegie has already received a copy of the site deed and plans of the building. A copy of the ordinance will be forwarded at once. The ordinance was passed nearly two years ago and two taxes have since been levied under it.

The "hog case," which has reposed in Justice Lambert's court for some time, was to have been tried yesterday but a change of venue was taken by the defendant, Andrew Nord, over to Justice Eliseley's court. In his case Will Reed seeks title to one hog which he lent Nord for some two years but which he recently replevined. Meanwhile the hog has been sold by Reed to the packers for $21 and is probably done up into sausage by this time.

A public meeting of general interest will be held at the high school Monday evening at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Woman's club, as one of a series of efforts in a war against tuberculosis. This is in league with a movement on foot under leadership of the state federation of woman's clubs. Dr. G. A. Young will be the principal speaker of the evening. Admission will be free and all patrons of the school, as well as citizens generally, are invited to attend. There will be two or three musical numbers.

North Nebraska Lincoln Stories.

February 12, 1909, is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. The anniversary will be celebrated the nation over and will draw special attention to details of the life of the president. Undoubtedly there are people in north Nebraska and in southern South Dakota who have talked with Lincoln, seen him under interesting conditions or have personal knowledge of novel facts about him. The News would be glad to print the facts connected with any such incidents which may be sent to it before Lincoln's "birthday."

Home Study Course for Farmers.

With tomorrow's News, a series of articles that will be of very great interest and value to every farmer, will be started. This will be a "Home course in agriculture," by C. V. Gregory of the agricultural division of the Iowa State college. The course will cover the course of study followed by the Iowa State college. The knowledge to be obtained from these articles ought to be worth many dollars to every farmer.

Dr. B. F. Brendel of Murray, Neb., has been offered the position of second assistant physician at the Norfolk insane hospital, and, with Mrs. Brendel, is in Norfolk today to look over the institution. He has also been tendered the position of first assistant physician at the Grand Island state institution, but thinks he prefers Norfolk. Dr. Kelly has been second assistant for some time past.

Work Starts on Killian Store.

The work of remodeling the entire interior of the A. L. Killian store is well under way. The interior of the store is to be virtually rebuilt, the plans calling for more extensive alterations than was appreciated at the time the first announcement was made. John Miller has the contract, the terms of which call for the work to be finished in three weeks.

A temporary shell protection has been constructed in the store to permit the workmen to go on with their work without interfering with the operation of the store.

The present dressmaking and packing rooms in the southwest part of the store are being taken out to give more room.

In the extreme rear of the store a fitting room, a rest room, toilet rooms and a packing room will be constructed. These rooms will be capped by a balcony for reserve stock. The balcony will also extend some distance down the side of the store. Panels and mirrors will be used in making an exceptionally attractive front for the new rooms.

Along the east wall in the south part of the store, cases seven feet deep are to be constructed for the ready-to-wear department. Display cases will be placed on top.

The office and cashier's desk will be moved to the center of the back part of the store. Fifteen feet of desk room is afforded.

A skylight will be constructed to give additional light.

The carpet department is to be moved back and the shoe department given more room.

The entire store will be redecorated. The ceiling is to be made a dull white, the walls a light buff. All the wood-work in the store will be refinished.

The plans which Mr. Killian is now carrying into effect have been working on for more than a year.

The Northwestern Stockholders.

The Wall Street Journal in a recent issue prints a compilation of some of the principal stock interests in the leading railroads. From this compilation the Railroad Age Gazette has made several abstracts, of which the following relates to Northwestern stockholders:

Table with 3 columns: Holders, Common, Preferred. Lists names like H. C. Frick, W. K. Vanderbilt, Frank Work, etc.

Executors of will.

C. Vanderbilt, 357,800 907,000; J. W. Davis & Co., 2,080,000 30,000; American Express Company, 1,470,000 300,000; Field Estate, 1,275,000 200,000.

Concerning the abstract, the Gazette remarks: "One of the peculiar things about this list is that neither E. H. Harrison nor his Union Pacific can be found here, and yet the Union Pacific alone owns $2,215,000 of the common stock."

"Frank Work, the second largest stockholder, is a New York capitalist. It is interesting to recall that when the late Cornelius Vanderbilt died he held 1,250,000 of Northwestern preferred."

GONE, STAR AND ALL.

Anoka Marshal Sells Mortgaged Cattle and Decamps.

Butte Gazette: The Anoka National bank is mourning the departure of Ed Porter, who left unexpectedly, for parts unknown. It seems Porter marketed a couple of carloads of cattle at Omaha on which the aforesaid bank held a mortgage. He returned home but failed to remember the bank with their just dues. He went to Napoleon Sunday and nothing has been heard from him since. This leaves Anoka minus a butcher and also a city marshal, star and all.

ROSEBUD MATRIMONY.

Young Men Want Addresses of Rosebud Girls Seeking Husbands.

Stout City, Jan. 26: "Wittenberg, S. D., Jan. 29, 1909. Dear Editor: I would say that I wish to get into correspondence with Miss Rose Freeman. I am a young man of twenty-one; I am a graduate of college and have had a good deal of experience on a Dakota farm. If you will send her address you will greatly oblige one who yearns for matrimony."

There's another answer to the wall of the Rosebud buds, who but a few days ago wrote to the president of the Rosebud club in Chicago saying that they came out to Dakota's broad prairies in search of land and incidentally good and kind and loving husbands, and found only the land.

But two days after the news of their desires and disappointments was published, a Centerville, S. D., man offered himself on the altar of matrimony and then comes another from Wittenberg.

"Moville, Ia., Jan. 21, 1909.—Dear Editor: Please send me the address of the Rosebud girls who want men. The article appeared in the evening edition January 18."

The writer of that one lives on a Moville rural route and as indicated by the letter he is willing—more than willing—eager—to become a beneficiary.

Wanted for Horse Stealing.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 28.—Special to The News: Sheriff Nelson has returned here from Kingsbury county having in custody a man who is wanted here on the serious charge of horse stealing. The prisoner gives his name as Jack Meyers, and states he is thirty-eight years of age. When Sheriff Nelson called his attention to the serious charge against him, and that upon conviction he would be subject to a term in the Sioux Falls penitentiary the prisoner coolly remarked that the authorities would first have to prove that he stole the horse. When arrested he had nearly $50 in cash in his possession.

North Nebraska Deaths.

William Zander, a native of Stanton county, died at his home in Indianapolis at the age of thirty-seven.

Andrew Reeves, a son of Andy Reeves of Madison, died last week following an operation for appendicitis.

Business Changes in the Northwest.

Gottlieb Buettner of the Madison clothing firm of Buettner & Zossin has sold his interest to Fred Zossin, the firm to be known as Zossin & Son.

Rosebud Daughter of Revolution.

Mrs. Ellen Taylor of Burke, S. D., a daughter of the revolution—also a cousin of that venerable institution, according to her claims—writes one of the senators from her state that she would like a pension. She says:

"In the battle of Teconogora, my cousin, Samuel Stevens, aged twenty-two years, was killed, while my great uncle, Josiah Stevens, was lieutenant, and my great grandfather, Elihu Stevens was an officer that paid off the officers and soldiers."

Mrs. Stevens wrote the Historical society at Concord, N. H., for a copy of the history of her ancestors. "It dated from 1666 down to about 1820," she says, "but before I got it to you I lost it, but I will send you the receipt I got for the $5 I sent for it in proof of this statement."

Mrs. Taylor has been advised that her prospects for immediate enrollment for a pension is not a good merchantable asset.

THE OLD STORY.

Adopted Son Leaves Foster Parents at Anoka for the City.

Anoka Herald: The adopted boy of J. P. Allison's, Von Henderson, left last Saturday on the train for Des Moines, Ia. Mr. and Mrs. Allison feel grieved that the boy who is now eight years old, should just at a time when able to assist them, leave them. There was no reason to leave other than a desire on the boy's side to live in a large city. The boy had an exceptionally fine home and was always treated as a child should be, but all in vain. The boy no doubt will ere long see his mistake, and no doubt be ready to come back to his old home when too late. As the old attachment may wear away before he reaches his eric.

JAW BONE BROKEN.

Boy Kicked by Mule Near Lynch, is Taken to Omaha.

Lynch, Neb., Jan. 29.—Special to The News: Leslie DeWitt, a Holt county farmer's boy, was taken to Omaha to undergo treatment for a broken jaw bone, received by the kick of a mule. DeWitt was brought to town and it was found that the jaw bone was broken in three different places and the doctors not having the instruments necessary for drilling a new socket, took him to Omaha to be treated. He will go to the Presbyterian hospital there.

The recent warm weather that prevailed for the past two weeks played villain to the ice crop around this section. During the cold snap in the forepart of January many took advantage of the good ice and have their ice houses loaded, but a few of "more cold-weather predictors" have delayed and it now looks as though an artificial ice supply would be necessary. The warm weather has broken up the ice in the Ponca creek and other small streams.

LIVED IN A HOLE.

Aged Rosebud Prospector Forced Out of Hole by Cold Wave.

Bonesteel Herald: Sidney Rudd, seventy-six years of age, was before the county commissioners, being sent here from Wheeler as a charge of this county. Mr. Rudd is a prospector, formerly of Harrison county, Iowa.

He came here last May and staked out a mineral claim near J. W. Babbs' burning bluff. He has been living in a hole in the hill but the recent cold weather forced him to go to Wheeler for shelter and food. Being without means he was sent to Fairfax.

Mr. Rudd has been a persistent prospector for many years, having made fifteen trips to the mountains in search of riches. He was placed in charge of Chairman H. I. Pierce who will secure him a home.

Won't Have to Wear Badges.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 29.—Nebraska lobbyists need not wear badges. The senate voted down the proposition that all registered ones must wear a designated badge and all others stay away from the capitol, by a vote of 16 to 13.

In committee of the whole the senate recommended for passage a bill establishing three experimental farms in the northwest section.

In the house a resolution was introduced asking the supreme court clerk who is generally supposed to have a very fat fee office to report fees earned and collected during the past year as a guide to the legislature in passing on the bill to make it a salaried place.

A resolution by Bowman, limiting the introduction of bills to the 30th day of the session, was beaten.

A motion took place over the report of the committee on finance, recommending two new buildings at the state institute for feeble minded children. It was charged the committee had butted in on other committees in the desire to get the new buildings. It was finally settled by accepting the report, but holding the bill until the other committees had investigated.

CHURCH STEEPLE DOWN.

Miss Minnie Blanc Was Almost Struck by Falling Debris.

Creighton, Neb., Jan. 29.—Special to The News: The steeple of the Baptist church blew down and Miss Minnie Blanc narrowly escaped death under it. The steeple struck just in front of her. Two chimneys on the new high school building were blown down and telephone poles were blown down.

FIRST ROBIN AT CLEARWATER.

Clearwater, Neb., Jan. 29.—Special to The News: The first robin of the season was heard near Clearwater Tuesday morning. Enterprising housewives are already planting cabbage and tomato seeds in boxes in the house to have them ready for early spring gardens.

Not Party in Interest.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 29.—When Judge Oldham, Governor Shallenberger's latest appointee as supreme judge, made a demand upon Attorney General Thompson to start quo warranto proceedings to test the rights of appointees of Governor Sheldon, Thompson refused on grounds which had not been foreseen.

He claimed that he is not a party in interest as demanded by the statute, and did not assign as a reason the expected contention that he was a member of the board of canvassers of the amendments.

Judge Oldham filed his case with the supreme court to determine his right to the office.

BLOW AT NEPOTISM.

Bill to Eliminate It, Introduced in Legislature.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 29.—Nepotism will be a thing of the past in Nebraska officialdom, should the bill introduced in the senate by Fuller become a law. This bill makes it an offense for any official of the state, county, district, city or other municipal division to appoint or vote for the appointment of any person related to him by affinity or consanguinity within the third degree to any clerkship, office or position in any department of the government of which such executive, legislative, ministerial or judicial officer may be a member. Such officer is also forbidden to employ any such relative of any other officer in consideration of the second officer giving employment to a relative of the first. Violation of the law is to be punished by a fine of from $100 to $1,000 and removal from office.

Another bill which was placed on the general file was that repealing the law which allows the supreme court to reduce the sentence of defendants who have appealed from the district court. Within the past two months two men convicted of murder and sentenced to death have had their sentences reduced to imprisonment for life by the supreme court.

WIRELESS PLANTER.

New Mechanism Expected to Change Present Plan of Corn Planting.

Arnour, S. D., Jan. 29.—Joe Stickney, of Charles Mix county, and a regular visitor to this city, is one of the varied products of this state. Not only is the gentleman a successful farmer, but he is one of the inventive geniuses of this country. He is a marvel at constructing labor saving farm machinery, and his workshop contains many useful articles in that line that are not on the market for lack of the necessary means to exploit them. His latest invention, and one that he has been working on for some time, is the wireless corn planter, which is rapidly nearing completion, and which will, he says, be ready for exhibition by April 1. This wireless corn planter is expected to revolutionize the art of corn planting and place it in the forefront and make of Joe Stickney an independent man.

The Farmers' and Merchants' bank of this city, has purchased the building occupied by the postoffice, and which will be vacated February 1, when they expect to do some remodeling and make it the permanent home of the bank.

Circuit court for this county opened here Tuesday with Judge E. Q. Smith presiding. There is a large calendar to be disposed of.

POSTPONES GRADUATION.

Blizzard Puts a Chilly Veto on Program at Norfolk Hospital.

The terrific blizzard which swept with unabated fury around the exposed buildings of the state hospital on the hill northeast of Norfolk put a chilly veto on the graduating exercises of the training school for nurses to have been held last evening at the hospital. The exercises will be held Saturday evening.

Not only was it impossible for the minister who was to offer the invocation and the musicians who were to play, let alone the invited guests, to come from Norfolk, but it was found to be almost an impossibility to get from the main buildings to the hospital chapel in the face of the hurricane gale which rushed across the open court.

Little damage was caused at the hospital by the storm. One window was blown out.

HERO TELLS THE STORY.

How Wireless Messages Saved the Liner, Republic.

New York, Jan. 29.—Bliss—John R. Bliss—the Marconi hero of the Republic wreck, has written modestly the story of his experiences in the new ocean drama that Bliss made possible with his wireless call for help in staccato dots and dashes.

Bliss, whose nerves are shattered and muscles worn, declares that there was nothing in his conduct that would not have been done by any of his fellow operators had they been called upon as he was.

"I had just turned in," says Bliss, "after the previous day's work when the shock of the impact shook me out of my berth. A crunching, ripping noise followed as the Florida's bows crumpled upon our side, the panels and side of our cabin fell in, one panel being smashed to splinters, but fortunately the wireless apparatus was unharmed and remained standing.

"I had a fear, however, that the aerial wires between the masts might have been shaken down, so I hastily tested them and found they were still intact.

"Five minutes after the collision the lights all through the ship went out and we were in darkness. I tried to make my way to the bridge in order to report to the captain that my gear was all right, but was unable to make my way through the wreckage. I returned to my wrecked cabin.

"The dynamo being stopped greatly handicapped the working distance of our station, but the accumulators were in good condition, and so I immediately sounded the 'C. Q. D.' signal, which announced to surrounding sister ships the peril of our position.

"Just then the captain's steward came to me from the bridge and piloted me through the debris. On the boat deck all the passengers were assembled, and the crew had already got the boats swung out, for despite the darkness, everything was done in an orderly manner.

"I reported to Captain Sealy that everything was all right with my wireless instruments and he hastened to reassure the passengers, brave but anxious, with this most comforting news.

"This having been done, I returned immediately to my cabin and had the satisfaction of gaining the attention of our station at Siasconset on Nantucket island. This message was flashed to A. H. Ginnman, the operator there:

"The Republic. We are shipwrecked; stand by for captain's message."

"This was the answer that was immediately flashed back to us:

"All right, old man. Where are you?"

"At this stage our chief officer came and anxiously inquired if I had yet got in communication with anybody and was greatly relieved to learn that Siasconset had answered me. He at once hastened to the captain to convey this latest intelligence. Captain Sealy then sent me this message for transmission:

"Republic rammed by unknown steamer, 26 miles southwest of Nantucket lightship. Badly in need of immediate assistance, but no danger to life. Sealy."

"Five minutes later Siasconset informed me that he had sent for the revenue cutter Aquinet, then lying at Woods Hole, and that it was to proceed to assist us. Word LaLorraine and City of Everett."

Bliss stuck to the Republic until his wireless instruments refused to work. Shortly after noon the ship reared and sank. Captain Sealy remained on his vessel and was rescued after she had gone down.

Baseball Starts.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 28.—Special to The News: The baseball enthusiasts of Conde are the first in South Dakota to arrange for placing a team in the field during the coming season. At a meeting which has just been held there a baseball association was organized and the following officers were elected for the coming year: President, W. W. Rounds; secretary, L. C. Van Ornum; treasurer, B. L. Smith; official scorer, Norris Haigh.

It was decided that the season should commence May 1, and the team will be placed in the field at that time. Correspondence already has been opened with a number of good players, it being the intention to place an unusually strong team in the field.

Too Much Temperance.

New York, Jan. 29.—Drink has broken up many a partnership, but it remained for two members of the manufacturing paint firm of William H. King & Co. to appeal to the law for the dissolution of their interests because of too much temperance.

Armin Eichler and J. Arthur Clem, vice president and secretary, respectively, of the concern, filed an application in the supreme court today asking that William H. King and his son, Parker D. King, president and treasurer, respectively, be compelled to show cause why division of the business interests should not take place on March 1 next. Justice Davis signed an order.

The application set forth that it was impossible for Eichler and Clem to get on with the King because the father spent his time, preaching total abstinence and morality to them and the company's employes.

WOMEN WANT LOVE FIRST.

J. D. Burroughs Refutes Statement That Mere Money Makes Wife Happy.

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 29.—"I knew Jay Gould when he was in some need of seventy cents, and I knew him when he had $60,000,000. I am confident he was happier when he hadn't a dollar," said John Burroughs, naturalist and scientist, in a talk on the "Making of Money." Mr. Burroughs is spending a few days here as a guest of Mrs. Hatre, a wealthy woman who is studying poetry at Cornell.

Among other things Mr. Burroughs said were: "I do not believe in the doctrine attributed to John D. Rockefeller that if you want to make your wife happy all you have to do is to give her plenty of money. I do not believe the possession of money and happiness are synonymous. If Mr. Rockefeller gives out this doctrine he is making a declaration that I believe American women will resent. They want love first of all, if they are provided with the right instincts."

CARUSO'S EX-WIFE FIRED BODILY.

Woman, Claimed to be His Wife, Ejected From Hotel.

New York, Jan. 29.—After a stormy scene in the corridor in front of the Enrico Caruso apartments in the Hotel Knickerbocker, a woman who said she was the wife of the opera singer and that she had come from Italy to become reconciled with him, was ejected from the hotel yesterday.

She had arrived at the hotel earlier in the day and had registered as Gilda Giacchetti. She was assigned to a room from which she issued a few hours later and made her way to the apartments occupied by the singer.

Caruso met Gilda Giacchetti ten years ago when he was singing at the theater Argentina in Rome. She was then the wife of a friend of the tenor. Later the woman and her husband parted and she went to live in a villa she bought at Florence. Caruso told friends in this city that during one year he gave to her $50,000.

When he was in London the woman eloped from Florence with the chauffeur. Caruso said later he had obtained possession of his two herself, but that the woman who called herself his wife had taken $160,000 worth of jewelry at the time of her departure.

WEDDING EIGHTEEN MILES LONG.

Chicago Couple Are Married on Northwestern Passenger by Justice.

Chicago, Jan. 29.—Miss Nellie Middleton and Dr. Caryl MacDonald were married Wednesday on a Chicago & Northwestern passenger train by a justice of the peace. The train ran a distance of eighteen miles during the performance of the ceremony.

The young couple have long desired to marry, but parental objection prevented them. Wednesday, however, the decided to go to Waukegan, and as MacDonald had the license in his pocket and a justice was on the train, they decided to go to Waukegan, and enter and become man and wife.

The justice was notified and the ceremony was begun at Willmette and concluded as the train reached Lake Forest.

When they reached Waukegan the parents were notified by wire and promised forgiveness.

Dakota Wrestlers.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Jan. 28.—Special to The News: Lovers of wrestling residing in the central part of the state are taking considerable interest in a wrestling match which will take place on Thursday of this week at Cavour. The principals in the contest will be Woodley of Iroquois, and Wakefield of Cavour, both of whom have excellent records. An exciting and close contest is looked for. It is expected to be the fastest bout ever put on in that part of the state. The match will be for a purse of $50, best two out of three falls. Scores of men from surrounding towns will be present.

Four South Dakotans Land.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Four nominations, which have long been in dispute between Senators Kittredge and Gamble, of South Dakota, were confirmed by the senate. They are:

John E. Adams, receiver of public moneys, Aberdeen; Cyrus C. Carpenter, register, land office, Lemmon; Edwin G. Coleman, receiver of public moneys, Lemmon; John L. Lockhart, receiver of land office, Pierre.

HUGHES AGAIN ROOSEVELT?

New York Politicians Are Looking for Lively Fight for Senatorship.

Washington, Jan. 29.—Although White House officials deny there is any significance in the event, the report of Governor Hughes of New York, as one of the special guests the other night at a state dinner to the
