

JUDGE MOYER DEAD

County Judge of Madison County from 1890 to 1894—Had Retired.

Madison, Neb., June 18.—Special to The News: Judge M. J. Moyer passed away at his home in this city at 12:30 o'clock yesterday, death resulting from heart and stomach complications. He was 52 years of age. The end was not wholly unexpected, as the deceased had been slowly but surely failing for some months. Judge Moyer was well and favorably known to the people of Madison county, having served as county judge from January, 1890, to January, 1894, and to the bar of this and neighboring counties as a practicing attorney. About two and a half years ago, owing to failing health, he sold his law business and library to H. S. McDuffie. He leaves a widow and four children and a host of friends to mourn his departure. The funeral exercises will occur Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. D. W. McGregor of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which he was a member, and interment will be made in the Clausen cemetery.

Decatur Slipping in River. Decatur, Neb., June 21.—During the recent high water, the Missouri river has been slowly, but surely undermining the town of Decatur and citizens are signing a petition to ask that a portion of the $75,000 devoted by congress to navigation work in this part of the river be devoted to rip-rapping the banks here. The accident to Dan Shelan of South Omaha, who was drowned when a large piece of the river bank fell on his boat has called attention to the rapidity with which the river is eating its way into the banks in the vicinity of Decatur. Decatur people are becoming alarmed and will make a strong effort to induce the government to stop the ravages of the stream. Until the attempt is made, it may not seem possible to secure it, or sell it, through a want ad.

A Police Court Docket Leaf. Police court has been very much stirred over that street grass case. Remarks addressed to Police Judge Eiseley by Street Commissioner Uecker have been made a matter of court record.

The present status of the case, wherein Messrs. A. H. Viele and H. S. Overrocker, two prominent residents of South Eighth street, were accused of throwing grass into the street, is that both cases, after being continued for several days, were finally dismissed by Judge Eiseley. It is stated in court that the case against Dr. Overrocker was finally revived at the instance of the mayor. The case was settled by the payment of a small fine. Judge Eiseley's record of the case, especially his conflict with the street commissioner, is interesting. Some of the continuances secured are not recorded. Mr. Viele, it is stated, was never formally summoned to trial or legally notified of the suit.

The police docket description of the course of the case, after it had been filed, is written by Judge Eiseley as follows: The defendant, H. S. Overrocker, being present, I continued this case as to him until further notice to June 15, at 2 o'clock p. m. to be given for consulting.

June 15, 2 p. m.—Parties being further notified this day and hour to appear, but for the reason that A. H. Viele was reported again out of town and the city attorney, H. F. Barnhart, after consultation with him as to further proceedings, this case was again continued for an uncertain near date, later to be determined upon and for further notice to the defendants to be given.

June 16, 1 p. m.—Defendant, A. H. Viele, appearing, denying every allegation in the complaint, except that in his absence at Omaha lawn on his premises was trimmed and certain trimmings thereof scattered in alley and street, which on his return he carefully removed therefrom and this case, in the absence of the city attorney out of town, I dismiss this as to him.

The same day, 3 p. m.—Defendant, H. S. Overrocker, appearing, claiming to have had notice to do so, possibly by mistake or misunderstanding. I informed him that the city attorney, H. F. Barnhart, who drew the complaint, would call on him to plead guilty after arrival at Omaha, until then the said defendant could consider the case dismissed for want of prosecution.

Comes now William Uecker, street commissioner and the complaining witness, addressing the court using among others these words in a loud, violent, disrespectful, boisterous and unseemly and insulting language: "If you had imposed fine on Overrocker when he first appeared after service, we would not have had this trouble. You want people high up to go without punishment and impose heavy fines on the poor. I will make you prosecute." To all of which the court excepts, as interfering, obstructing and insulting the court.

June 17, 9 a. m.—Comes now the defendant, H. S. Overrocker, being notified to appear by my request per C. F. A. Marquardt, chief of police. Complaint being read, pleads guilty, which I accepted on condition that he pay one-half of the costs of prosecution and $1 fine, all of which was paid. Fine, $1; judge's fees, $1.40; officer's fees, $1.10; there being no trial, hence no attendance. Total amount paid, $3.50. Payment received. Defendant discharged.

Bank's Fight Guaranty Law. Madison, Neb., June 21.—Special to The News: William V. Allen returned from Omaha last night, where he had been in consultation with John L. Webster in the matter of an action wherein fifty-two banks of the state are plaintiffs and the members of the state banking board, consisting of the governor, auditor of public accounts and the attorney general are defendants. Allen and John L. Webster are the attorneys for the banks in this suit. Application will be made today in the federal court for an order restraining the present state banking board and the secretary of the incoming state banking board from exercising, carrying out or putting in force the provisions of what is known as the guarantee bank act, passed by the last legislature.

It recalls the constitutionality of the law and the hearing will probably be held before one of the federal judges in a very few days. On account of this suit, Senator Allen is compelled to cancel his speaking engagement on the occasion of the reunion of his regiment, the Thirty-second Iowa infantry, at Eldora, this week.

Mail Robber No. 5 Arrested. Omaha, June 19.—Advices have been received here of the arrest at Beehl, Ida, of G. W. Marvin, believed to be the fifth man wanted in connection with the Union Pacific mail robbery of May 22.

Marvin is now in prison at Twin Falls, awaiting action by the federal authorities here. Woods has heretofore been called the leader of the alleged bandits by the officers, but now that Marvin is under arrest, the statement is made that he was the man who directed the affairs.

William Marvin and Wm. Davis are said to be among the names by which Marvin is known. The police say he is 42 years of age and has served two terms in the penitentiary. One was in Idaho or Montana for safe blowing and the other at Walla Walla, Wash., for horse stealing. He has operated for years in the northwest. He and Shelton are said to have boarded together while here.

Marvin will be brought here for trial under the "John Doe" indictment returned with those of the other four suspects.

SUBDUED THE COW. Effort to Prevent Infuriated Animal From Charging Women and Children. Spokane, Wash., June 19.—Frank Jonas, a husky rancher of Columbia county, south of Spokane, has Ursus of "Quo Vadis" fame stepping sideways in an effort to retain his grasp on the laurel wreath as a result of a tussle with a maddened cow, which charged a throng, including many women and children, during a parade by the Ancient Order of United Workmen at Dayton, Wash.

Jonas made the attack when the animal plunged, gaining holds on both horns. The struggle was a terrific one and the rancher was lifted off his feet several times. However, he twisted and tugged and finally put the cow's head to the ground, holding it there until Harvey Price, a special policeman, dispatched the animal with two rifle bullets into the brain. The animal's final effort was desperate, but Jonas was master and the cow died with the rancher clinging to its horns.

The pitched battle between man and animal was witnessed by several thousand persons, attracted by the celebration of Workmen's day, and they acclaimed him the hero of Columbia county. Jonas declines to talk about the feat, saying he simply did what any man ought to do under similar circumstances.

A few could not give satisfactory excuses and some had poor memories as to where they were on certain meeting nights and when and where certain fines were when they were absent. A communication was received from the secretary of the Pure Ice company asking that their employees be excused from attending the parade on last Decoration day because ice had to be delivered and no substitutes could be found. Walking barefooted and bareheaded nearly a score of miles, from her home ten miles east of Pierce to Norfolk, a Miss Katie Daniels, 18-year-old daughter of Carl Daniels, a farmer, reached this city most scantily clad. She had wandered away from her home in the afternoon while temporarily insane and was found about 9 o'clock the following night by Officer O'Brien on Norfolk avenue. The officer took the girl to the Thiem restaurant, where she was cared for. Her father and mother were notified at once and came here yesterday to take their daughter home. Mr. Daniels said that his daughter had "spells" quite often, but had never been subject to such severe attacks as she had on this occasion. The girl had recovered when taken home yesterday and could not account for her queer wanderings. She could not recollect anything of her long journey until she awoke yesterday.

EFFECT OF MATRIMONIAL LAW. New Criminal Code of Washington Makes Boom for Idaho Ministers. Spokane, Wash., June 19.—Since the enforcement of the new criminal code in the state of Washington, effective June 11, which requires applicants for licenses to wed to bring with them certificates from physicians and recommendations from acquaintances attesting to their physical and moral fitness to marry, justices of the peace and ministers of the gospel at Coeur d'Alene, Ida., thirty-two miles east of Spokane, and Wallace, in the heart of the lead silver mining belt in the handle of Idaho, are vying with each other to make their respective abodes the Gretna Green of modern times. Here is a sample of the attractive manner in which printer's ink is used in the advertising sections of city newspapers to welcome the prospective June bride and her lover:

"Be married in Wallace, where no penalties, premiums or restrictions confront Cupid. Come to the Samuels hotel, where a bridal apartment is maintained. Judge L. L. Leighty, 'the marrying justice,' will tie your knots with speed and dexterity."

Twelve licenses were issued in Spokane the first day the new code was in operation, and it is believed that the total for the month will make a new record in this county.

As Viewed at Sioux Falls. Sioux Falls, S. D., June 19.—The verdict of the jury in the Kaufmann case was received here with some surprise, as the fact that the jury had remained over night had led those who have closely followed the case to expect a disagreement. The anti-Kaufmann element was indignant, declaring that a straightout acquittal would have been better than the verdict returned, which they term a farce. Those, however, who have not permitted their feelings to be swayed one way or the other by this celebrated case express gratification that the case has finally been definitely settled, after having divided communities and created personal enmities for more than three years. Not the least of the calamities resulting from this long drawn out case has been the breakdown of the mind of Moses Kaufmann, who stood loyally by his wife during her trouble.
