Neligh Council Waiting.

Neligh, Neb., Aug. 17.—Special to The News: Awaiting upon legal advice the members of the school board have not yet decided on when to call the special election for the voting of $10,000 bonds for a new school building in the second ward of this city. Providing the law does not require printed notices in the local newspapers, the election will be held on Friday, September 3.

Keeping Cool.

By Casper Whitney in Collier's: When it's not everywhere you needn't expect to be the one cool exception to the perspiring community; but by using a little sense you can keep a lot cooler than your neighbor who uses none, and it's surprising how many such neighbors there are. Eating has the most potent influence of any on this subject; not so much what you eat as how. If you are the average, normal person, there is no reason why you should not eat whatever kind of food your palate craves. Of course, this does not mean yielding to impulse and putting all manner of disturbing combinations into your stomach. I must assume even the unintelligent neighbor to have some wit. But the point is to avoid heating foods, and to eat sparingly. Eat only so much as your appetite demands; don't eat everything that is put before you; don't go through a course dinner from soup to nuts simply because it's provided. If you are exhausted by the heat, don't eat at all; drink a glass of cold milk or milk and vichy, half and half, every couple of hours or so until the exhaustion passes.

Little Boy is Killed.

Battle Creek, Neb., Aug. 17.—Special to The News: Two little children were playing on a threshing water wagon at the farm of Rudolph Hiedgen, four miles southwest of here, at 9 o'clock this morning, when the wagon, on a side-hill, tipped over. Glen Tiedgen, aged 5, struck on his head and broke his neck, dying instantly. His little sister, Mollie, aged 9, was badly bruised but not killed.

Row Over Show in the Street.

Neligh, Neb., Aug. 17.—Special to The News: The Nichols Amusement company and the Neligh carnival management received a jolt yesterday morning in the shape of an injunction by Bogardus & Sellery and M. O. Daxon for permitting the electric theater in front of their places of business, and obstructing the view of the street. After much heated argument the theater was moved back about thirty feet. A large amount of comment is being expressed by business men in reference to the above action. General sentiment is to the fact that if Neligh advertises a carnival, that is what they should have, if not, "cut it out entirely."

Norfolk Takes Out at Stanton.

Norfolk's Standing.

Table with 4 columns: Played, Won, Lost, Pct. Row 1: 19, 11, 8, .579

Norfolk went to Stanton yesterday and won, 6 to 0. Hartman and Ward pitched splendid games and divided honors in about everything except strikeouts, of which Hartman got 13 and Ward 6.

The features of the game were all on Norfolk's side. Neno's pretty catch and Buckmaster's two three-baggers were the star plays. Haak also made a stellar catch in left field. The attendance was very small.

Ward pitched superbly in tight places. One with three men on bases and no outs, he tightened up and smeared his whitewash brush on the score board.

Young Ward, his brother, plays a star game at second and Lucinski plays a fast outfield game. Spellman, Norfolk's new backstop, is handy behind the bat, throwing to bases in great shape. He isn't afraid to shoot the ball, and he caught a runner napping at first in clever fashion.

It was Norfolk's fielding day and nothing seemed to escape. Each pitcher was touched up for spectacular hits, but the fielders spared them. Hartman's feat in striking out thirteen Norfolk batsmen was considered phenomenal work on his part.

Correctionville, Ia., who were to be here Thursday, have changed their date and won't be here till Saturday for a game. They will also play here Sunday and Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday are untitled.

Score by Innings.

R. H. E. Stanton . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0 6 3 Norfolk . . . 2 0 0 0 3 1 0 0-6 7 3 Batteries—Stanton, Hartman and Hopper; Norfolk, Ward and Spellman.

Twelve Innings at Butte.

Butte, Neb., Aug. 17.—Butte and the Little Missourians (colored) played a twelve inning game on the Butte diamond that was more interesting to the fans than any game we have had before this season. The game was fast from start to finish, Tingle brothers, the battery for the home team, keeping the visitors guessing all the time after the first three innings. The colored boys had hard luck in the eighth inning when their right fielder fell down trying to field a long drive and lost the ball, allowing four men to score. The attendance was unusually large considering that the game was only advertised twelve hours. The score by innings: 0 0 0 0 0 1 4 0 0 0-5 Butte Little Miss.... 3 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 2-7

Two Games at Dallas.

Dallas, S. D., Aug. 17.—Special to The News: Two good games of ball were played here. First game, Dallas vs. Platte, 6 to 5 in favor of Platte; second game, Gregory vs. Platte, 9 to 2 in favor of Gregory.

How Marguerite Haley Was Found.

Details of the finding of Marguerite Haley, the 13-year-old daughter of H. A. Haley of Norfolk, whose mysterious disappearance from a boarding school at Lake Geneva, Wis., caused a sensation in Chicago, are given in the Chicago Tribune as follows: Marguerite Haley, who disappeared Thursday night from a boarding school at Oak Bank, on the west shore of Lake Geneva, was found last evening hidden in the home of a well digger at Williams bay.

The missing girl, who is 12 years old, was discovered after an all day search by a reporter for the Tribune and H. W. King of the Mooney & Boland detective agency of Chicago. She said she left the school because she did not like the regulations and discipline imposed by Miss Mary I. Fellows, the principal, and because she had conceived a dislike for Mrs. M. A. Ahrens, Miss Fellows' mother.

The girl showed no emotions over the almost countrywide search which had been made for her for three days and said she was in the house where she was found because she had asked for secret shelter there until she could get means to go to her father, H. A. Haley, in Norfolk, Neb.

"I planned the running away all myself," she said, smiling. "I told no one I was going except my step-sister, Beatrice Winder. I told her a week ago that I was going to leave the school because I could not stand it any longer."

Efforts to Thwart Searchers.

The girl was found at the home of S. C. Sheldon, an isolated cottage across the tracks from the Northwestern depot in Williams Bay. Early in the afternoon Mrs. Sheldon was questioned concerning the girl, but asserted stoutly that she had not seen her. She said there had been a child at her house last Thursday evening answering Marguerite's description.

"But I did not see her," the woman said. "My son Clyde, who is a pilot on one of the lake launches, saw her. She told Clyde she had missed a train to Chicago and that was all. I didn't ask Clyde where she went."

Clyde Sheldon, 25 years old, was found aboard one of the steam passenger launches which put in at Williams Bay later in the afternoon.

"What became of the girl, Marguerite Haley, who staid at your home last Thursday night?" he was asked. "I did not see her," he replied. "I was not at home and she left the next morning, my mother told me when I returned home from my next trip. I guess she took a train for Chicago or some place."

"Didn't you say you had seen the Haley girl across the lake?" he was asked. "Yes, but I was just talking to some of the fellows for fun."

Trapped by a Telegram.

To learn if the child was still at the Sheldon home, a telegram which was received at Williams Bay for her from her father, was sent to the Sheldon house. Mrs. Sheldon signed for the message and a few minutes later the detective and the reporter for the Tribune called a second time at her home.

"We came after Marguerite Haley," she was told. The woman looked at the open telegram which she was holding in her hand, looked back up the staircase, where a rustling noise could be heard, and said uncertainly:

"Well, she is here. Come in and I will call her. Marguerite," she called up the stairway.

In a moment Marguerite came bounding down the steps, smiling. "O, am I to be arrested?" she said. "I haven't done anything. I just want to go to my father. Yes, I have been here ever since I left Miss Fellows' Thursday afternoon and I have had nothing but the best of treatment here. I begged Mrs. Sheldon to let me stay until I could hear from my father and not to tell any one I was here. She must not get into trouble."

Planned It All Herself.

"Sure, I planned all this myself. I took $5 from Miss Fellows' room and intended to pay it back as soon as I could. I intended to go to Chicago and get money there from the Maxwell Wallpaper company to get to my father in Nebraska. Papa used to be a salesman for the company. I got to the depot here too late Thursday evening to catch the last train and saw I would have to wait until morning, so I came over here and asked to stay all night. The next morning I was going to take a train to Chicago and I saw from the upstairs window that Miss Fellows was at the depot watching.

"Then I sent the telegram to my father telling him to come to me in Williams Bay quick. Clyde took the telegram and another over to Lake Geneva for me. I was going to wait here until my father came or I received some word from him as to what I should do. I could see the depot from the house and watched every train to see if he was coming.

"Why do I want to go to my father? Well, I just thought I would like to be with him for a while. I like my mother and stepfather, of course, but mamma makes me stay in this school here and I don't like it. I told her last March that I wanted to leave."

Girl's Father is Notified.

The girl's father, who was divorced from her mother three years ago, did not believe the telegrams from his daughter authentic until Saturday night. He said he feared they were a part of a plot to get him to Williams Bay to do him injury. Yesterday he sent a telegram in answer to his daughter's. The dispatch read:

"Will you come to me? Answer me C. O. D."

Marguerite did not answer the wire, as she was taken back to the boarding school, but Miss Fellows telegraphed him that his daughter had been found unharmed.

The girl's mother, who now is married to A. H. Winder, a former business partner of Mr. Haley's, is with her husband some place on the Pacific coast traveling and Miss Fellows has not been able to communicate with them since the girl left the school Thursday night.

Three Dead From Heat in Norfolk.

The terrific heat of the month of August claimed three victims in Norfolk and immediate vicinity Monday night.

OSCAR UHLE—Age 51, a prominent grocer and a resident of Norfolk for over twenty years. Mr. Uhle complained of feeling ill from the heat all day. In the afternoon he sent for Dr. Verges. After the physician left Mr. Uhle was busy in the store until 7:30, when Dr. Verges was again called. Upon being told that he could not live, Mr. Uhle summoned Dr. Mackay, and the two doctors worked over the heat victim desperately until 10 o'clock, when he expired. The cause of death, Dr. Verges says, was internal hemorrhage of the lungs, brought on by heat prostration.

CARL RAGUSE—Age 54, a well-to-do retired German farmer. Mr. Raguse was perfectly well during the day but, suddenly stricken, succumbed at 7 o'clock at his home a mile north of the city, near the St. Paul Lutheran church.

ROWE—Age 18, son of a farmer living near Stanton. Rowe was prostrated during the afternoon and died about 4 o'clock.

Heat Prostrations.

Heat prostrations, not fatal: Mrs. Martin Froelich, 415 South Second street, is ill as a result of heat prostration.

Miss Anna Oleson, a waitress at the Oxnard hotel, is ill as a result of being overcome by the heat.

Richard Sullivan, Meadow Grove, a butcher. He felt better Tuesday morning and it was thought he would recover.

Horses Killed.

John Schelly lost a valuable horse, worth $215.

Mercury Got to 98 Degrees Here.

The maximum for the day in Norfolk was 98. This was not the hottest day of the year, the thermometer having gone to 99 one day in June. But it was a sultry, sticky heat that was unusually oppressive.

All humanity—and the animal kingdom, too—sweetered and suffered in the intensity of the scorching, blistering sun.

Farmers were driven from their fields early in the day and horses with heavy loads dropped dead in their tracks.

Oscar Uhle Prominent in Business.

Oscar Uhle, whose sudden death from the heat caused a wide sensation because of his long residence here and his prominence in the business world, began feeling ill at the St. Johannes missionfest Sunday. He was on the committee in charge of that event.

Mr. Uhle has been a citizen of Norfolk for twenty years, coming here from Omaha where he was in the broom manufacturing business. He was born at Chemnitz, Saxony, Germany, and was 51 years old.

He leaves a brother who lives here and a sister who resides in Omaha. Mr. Uhle was a member of the Sons of Hermann and the Eagles.

Mrs. Oscar Uhle died suddenly at night seven years ago from asthma. Arrangements for the Uhle funeral have not been made.

Raguse Well-to-Do.

Carl Raguse was born in Germany. His funeral will be held Saturday from the home and interment will take place at the Clausen cemetery at Madison. Mr. Raguse was a well-to-do citizen. Monday he made a horse trade with H. C. Sattler at noon.

Young Man Overcome in Field.

The Stanton death from heat occurred southeast of that town. The young man was in the field when he was overcome from the sun's rays and died soon afterwards.

Southern Nebraska Corn Suffers.

Lincoln, Aug. 17.—A maximum temperature of 103 degrees for nearly three hours broke the heat record for the year. A moderate breeze made the heat less oppressive, however than Sunday. There were two prostrations. The more than two weeks of extreme heat without rain is causing grave fears for the safety of the corn crop, which has been badly damaged in some sections.

The Lyons team had a few days without no games, so the battery came to Norfolk for a visit. They are enthusiastic over the town of Lyons.

It was on account of the severe heat and the impossibility of the farmers to be present that the meeting of the good roads committee, which was to be held at Marquardt hall August 19, was postponed till September 1. Much interest is shown in the good roads proposition by not only the business men themselves, but by the farmers in general. The subscription committee expect to go out with their list again soon, and it is expected they will meet with much success.

W. J. Stadelman has returned from Lincoln, where he attended the hearing in the case of the Norfolk Long Distance Telephone company against the Bell company. This is the outcome of the trouble between the two local telephone companies, when last month the Bell phone was removed from the Automatic office.

GREGORY PLAYING GREAT BALL.

Rosebudders Win Everything in Sight for More Than a Week.

only allowing one two-base hit, after two men were out in the ninth. The Little Missourians had another game at Gregory on Sunday, but they had not won a game in the Rosebud country, and decided to go away back to a class of their own. They play great ball when they are winning.

Gregory was challenged to participate in a double-header at Dallas to play the winner, Platte or Dallas. Platte won an exciting game, getting three scores in the first half of the ninth, which clinched the game. Gregory and Platte played five innings and Platte was all in. It was a very hot day.
