

THEY DEMANDED MORE MONEY.

World's Series Umpires Believe They Should Have Player's Share.

With the world's series games at an end a story comes from Detroit how the four umpires would like to make a little extra change as a result of the battles.

Their demand is for a sum equal to that which the members of the losing team gets out of the series, which in this case, was at least $1,200.

"Bill" Klem of the National league, was the man chosen to make the first break, and he took the matter up before the National commission.

"We shall hold a meeting to consider this matter before paying out the checks," continued Hermann.

President Heydler did not seem to be very much impressed with the suggestion that the umpires get a raise amounting to 200 per cent.

"When I was secretary of the league," he said, "I used to be glad to go to the world's series and take charge of the business end, working hard all through the series for $200.

The umpires get twice that sum now and do not have much work to do. It seems to me that their demand is rather extravagant.

Mr. Heydler is not in favor of boosting the umpires' pay too high, and will have to be satisfied with the glory and the 400 bucks.

Battle Creek May Get Light.

Battle Creek Enterprise: That Battle Creek will soon be furnished with electric light and power is by no means an improbability.

Business men have recently interviewed the management of the Norfolk Electric Light and Power company and it is highly probable that the company will build lines to Battle Creek next spring.

While this matter is pending Battle Creek will worry along in semi-darkness. It was the intention of the village trustees to purchase gas lights, but the matter has been dropped until plans of the Norfolk company are made more definite.

PULLING THE PARALLEL.

The Prize Fighter as Quoted in the Paper and as He Really Said It.

The Prize Fighter (as quoted): I feel I may express myself with the greatest confidence as to the outcome of the impending contest. I am not estimating the skill and strength of my adversary. But I am decidedly of the opinion that I out-class him in several important essentials.

SYMPATHIZE WITH LANGAN

Man Held for Shooting Woods Came from Boyd County.

Spencer Advocate: A tragedy occurred on a claim three miles south of Roseland in Tripp county, which resulted in the death of one homesteader, Alfred A. Wood, who was shot by John Langan.

Langan was arrested and later released on a $1,000 bond to appear before the next term of district court.

John Langan was formerly a resident of Boyd county, and is well and favorably known, and has always been a respectable and law abiding citizen.

Gregory Advocate: This community was startled when it was reported that John Langan had shot a man in Tripp county and had given himself up to Officer Blakey.

It is purely a case of self defense as Woods was advancing on Langan and keeping up a continual fire.

Langan was arrested and later released on a $1,000 bond to appear before the next term of district court.

returned to him. She also told Mr. Langan that she tried to persuade Mr. Woods to not molest him, and that she did not blame Mr. Langan in the least.

Woods had no interest in the claim in question and was trying to keep people off at the point of a gun.

UNSINKABLE SHIPS? French Navy Department Investigates a Musician's Remarkable Claim.

If the discovery of a musician at Clermont, near Paris, be all that is claimed to be, ships in the future will no longer be liable to sink, and salvage companies may liquidate their business.

For some time past the ministry of the navy has been receiving letters from a pianist at Clermont, who stated that he was ready to prove by conclusive tests that he had a secret for preventing battleships riddled with shells and boats of every description from sinking.

Total.....$1,208.50 Y. M. C. A. in Other Cities. W. W. Cummer, the man who is largely responsible for the building at Jacksonville, Fla., association, who started the subscription with $3,000, from the beginning, in answer to the question, "What caused you to become interested in the Young Men's Christian Association?" told this story:

"I had a stenographer in my employ some time ago, a bright, active young fellow, who said to me: 'Mr. Cummer, where can a young fellow like me—and there are many like me—find a comfortable and profitable place to spend his evenings?'

"I was a bit taken back by surprise at this question and asked if he had not a comfortable room. He replied: 'Yes as good as I can afford. It is very small, dark and cold; it will do to sleep in but nothing more. My landlady promises me better quarters after a while, but then is not the time I will need better quarters, I want a little comfort now. I miss my good old home and my kind loving mother. I've hunted this city over for a respectable place to spend a few hours between my supper and bed time and I can't find it. I've tried the hotels, barber shops, and stores but I find I'm not wanted. I've tried the bowling alleys; that will do for an hour once a week. There is only one other place we boys are welcome to and that is the saloon. There we find sufficient comfort for the body, but not for the mind and soul. What would my mother say if she knew I frequented such places. I told her I would not drink intoxicating liquor and I won't. I drink soft drinks just enough to keep me in good standing with the proprietor.'

"I saw the danger in that and told him so. He admitted it, but said: 'I shall stand out against it. I don't say you fear. Mr. Cummer, why don't you say what you think? It would pay. In what would it pay? Why, by making men of them. We will have to take their places by and by, and the better we are trained the better we will be prepared to perform our duty. If we fail, whose fault will it be? Can saloons properly educate us in the lines of many, clean and fit husbands for the daughters of Jacksonville? Are not the good people neglecting something? What we want is a gymnasium, baths, game room and class room, all under the management of competent directors.'

"I answered, I see what you want, a Young Men's Christian association building, fully equipped, don't you?" He replied in the affirmative. I said: "Then Mac, my young man, you shall have it."

"It is true the youth of today must enter into the affairs of life later on. We have a good city, with a possibility of being better; a good state, and the best nation on earth, and I consider it our duty to make it for these boys to push on and make our city, state and nation still greater. Can a few dollars be better invested than to give them a chance? I say no, and that is why I am working for a Y. M. C. A. building."

The following letter was received at headquarters today in response to a letter sent out to former contributors:

"Dear Sir: The work you are doing is the kind that makes bigger, kinder and broader men, and to that end I am enclosing my donation of an increase."

The railroad men's committee have not made a report as yet, but we shall hear from them in a very substantial way later on. Nothing is the matter with the railroad men of Norfolk, and we will show you that later on.

A lady at the women's meeting on Sunday said she would be one of 100 women to give $10, and she signed her card. Today a women's committee was started, and it looks now as if that lady would have to pay her $10. Any women who will gladly give that amount, if they will telephone the headquarters we will be glad to add them to that list.

Coaxing. Mrs. Brown—I'm afraid to let you have a bicycle. Little Johnny—Don't feel that way, ma. Even if it did kill me, remember that it would be the last thing I ever asked you for.
