WHAT COLLEGE GIRLS READ.

Ibsen, Shaw and Maeterlinck Have Few Admirers at Wellesley.

Wellesley, Mass., Feb. 7.-Some Wellesley students, who question the statements commonly heard that every other college girl reads Maeterlinck, Shaw and Ibsen, and that most of the others are so busy that they never get a chance to read, have taken the pains to interview 450 Wellesley undergraduates, and have issued a re-

The daily reading of the newspaper at least in a superficial way, was found to exist. Few girls admitted that they read the editorials. Of the 450 girls interviewed, 250 read the weeklies with some thoroughness. Every girl reads some monthly magazine, and that mostly for the fiction. About 5 rector at Norfolk says that the memper cent of the students read some bers of the Episcopal church are dereligious magazine thoroughly.

The action comes as a climax to a series of crusades and slumming trips. the first of which was led by Gipsy Smith, the evangelist, and followed up by W. C. T. U. and Y. W. C. A. organizations and several denominational churches. In the last month Mayor Busse has been given a series of resolutions calling attention to the condition of vice in the city, but these have been of the indefinite sort.

To bring about united efforts he suggested a mass meeting of all of the ministers in the city to devise a definite plan of action. This meeting was held Monday, and resolutions were adopted asking the appointment of a commission to study vice conditions generally in the city, with a view to regulating the so-called " bad lands" and levee areas. These resolutions were presented by the committee yesterday to the mayor.

It is the intention of the mayor to name fifteen or twenty persons on the board to be composed of business men, sociologists, lawyers and ministers. It is possible that no women will be included. It was pointed out to the mayor that persons with their "mind already made up" were not desired on the commission. They did not insist that any clergymen be named.

The mayor asked the delegation to select a list of fifteen names for him A Cave in New Jersey May Have Been and to submit them next Monday. In the meantime it is expected that the Somers Point, N.
