HIGH SCHOOL BOYS PLAY BALL

HORSEHIDE SPHERE AT LAST GETS ACTIVE IN NORFOLK.

ROME KELLEHER THE CAPTAIN

The first baseball activity of the season in Norfolk came forth this week when high school players, under Stuckey, trotted out.

Norfolk has a baseball team. The high school athletes have come to the rescue and the fan is again made glad. Robert M. Stuckey, a teacher of the high school, was made manager of the team and Rome Kelleher is captain. Wednesday evening, for the first time, the team went out to the diamond, where the first practice of the season was gone through. Thursday night the players were again in the field working under the direction of Stuckey, who is said to be a good player himself. A lineup will probably be announced within a few days.

The organization of the baseball team is said to have come from the efforts of Superintendent Hunter, who brought the last year's football team to its high record.

The high school baseball candidates were again on the field Friday evening and Rome Kelleher has proved himself a wonderful pitcher. Charles Durland, Donald Mapes, Harold Morrison, Harold Lucas, John Rice and R. Willie are among those who are said to be among the lineup, which is expected to be completed soon.

HE BEGINS WITH BASEBALL.

Jeffries Starts His Training With the National Game.

Jeffries Training Camp, Rowardennan, Cal., April 9.—"Farmer" Burns is the first man in the new mountain training camp to sport a black eye and, strange as it may seem, it is not from the impact of a gloved fist. The farmer was hit by a swiftly thrown baseball while playing with Jeffries and his nephews this morning and the "smoky wick" is the result. "Jeff" did not go on the road as was expected. The atmosphere of the pine country had a somnolent effect on the big fellow and he remained between the blankets until the morning sun was high. When he did arise, however, he busied himself. After a hearty breakfast he called his crew together and set them to mowing the grass on a patch of turf back of his gymnasium. As soon as this space was cleaned off it was duly installed as the baseball grounds and play began.

Jeffries plays ball. It might be thought that baseball chasing is rather a mild pastime for a heavyweight pugilist to do in training but it is doubtful if "Jeff" infuses as much action into anything else he does. Play continued for a full two hours and before it was through "Jeff" fairly dripped perspiration. He was stripped to undershirt and pants and even his clothing was soaked. What is more to the purpose, he has ambition himself. His eyes danced and he urged his companions to greater efforts. It was nearly lunch time before a halt was called and while they were preparing "Jeff's" broth he sprinted several times along one of the paths between the cottages.

It was given out that "Jeff" would not engage in boxing until tomorrow, but for that matter it will be several days probably before anything like a program is followed.

It is well known among those who followed "Jeff" closely in past training that to him a weighing machine is a bugaboo. Up at Harbin Springs he once said that for two pins he'd toss "the darned thing over in the canyon." He likes to do plenty of work and feel that his frame and limbs are cleaned of excess material. He avoids the scales for fear they will inform him that he is heavier than he thinks. "Dick" Adams, who has been "Jeff's" crony for years, was asked by a Santa Cruz visitor if he saw much difference in Jeffries' appearance at present as compared with the Jeffries of the Harbin days.

"All there is that I can see is that he has a little less hair," said observant Mr. Adams. "His face is as young looking as it was up in the country and that is what surprises me. The pictures that came back here after he returned from Carlsbad gave him an older look than I think he now has. They say the camera can't lie, but hang me if I don't think it gave 'Jeff' the worst of it. As to his activity, let every fellow judge for himself."

SIoux CITY WINS OVER SOX

Alderman is a Puzzle to the White Sox II From Chicago.

Sioux City, April 9.—Alderman was a puzzle for the White Sox No. 2 and Sioux City won. Score:

Sioux City...3 3 0 1 2 0 0 0 X—9 17 4
Chicago...0 0 0 0 0 2 0 1 1—4 8 1
Batteries: Alderman, Chabek and Miller; Schmirlo, Lang and Kreuger, Umpire, Black.

Another Fight Here in Norfolk.

On April 14 at the Norfolk skating rink Harry Lewis, the featherweight champion of the south, and Kid

FARMER BURNS TRAINING JEFF

Buckles, the Sioux City blacksmith, brother of the well known welter-weight, Guy Buckles of Omaha, will battle ten rounds for the house receipts, the winner getting 60 percent, the loser 40.

Buckles has a long list of winning battles to his credit and has been undergoing a severe workout in Sioux City, and he is picked to give Lewis one of the fastest bouts he has yet experienced.

Lewis, however, has been working out at the Junction and is confident that he will add another glory to his list of victories.

Several good preliminaries are promised by Manager Nistel, who is promoting this fight. Some of the contestants in these preliminaries, he says, will be new ones to the Norfolk ringside enthusiasts.

A WOMAN AS CHANTECLER.

Maude Adams Tells How She Will Interpret the Part.

Chicago, April 9.—Charles Frohman has cabled from London confirming the report that Miss Maude Adams would appear in the American presentation of "Chantecler," play the role of the cock, now being acted in Paris by Guityry, the French tragedian.

At the close of her present season in Barrie's comedy, "What Every Woman Knows," Miss Adams will begin rehearsals of the Rostand fantasy, and will have it ready for production in the early fall. Until this message came it was the general impression that Otis Skinner would be Mr. Frohman's selection for the role, although Miss Adams' name had been mentioned in the part of the pheasant, which is interpreted in Paris by Mme. Simone.

The manuscript was delivered to Miss Adams this morning at the Congress hotel. She will receive the scene models and costume plates of the Paris production soon.

Miss Adams declared that she had already determined upon her interpretation of the role of the cock and practically had crystallized in her mind the message the play contained, not only for the French, but for all peoples, and, in a particular sense, for Americans.

As played by Guityry, Chantecler is "presque un dieu"—almost a god. He is a hero, a creature of gravity, a lover of beauty—a thinker.

Miss Adams' idea of Chantecler is that he is a composite of gravity and gaiety. The theme of the play, she believes, is that one should do one's work, even though it cost love and life. A man's work in "Chantecler" is exemplified by the cock's vain thought that it is he who, at the morning's crow, raises the sun and lights the world. He lives to learn, in a moment of distraction, to learn, in the rossiogian (woman), that the sun rises despite him. He finds that his work is not so important as he thinks, but he persists just the same.

Miss Adams says that in her mind "Chantecler" is a poetic lesson in the doctrine of faith and hope through work.

Interurban Looks Good.

Directors of the Norfolk Commercial club have already taken steps to ascertain the approximate cost of the proposed interurban line between Norfolk and Newmarket Grove and definite figures are expected within a few days. A meeting was held last night to discuss the matter. The plan is regarded by Norfolk business men generally as one highly feasible and one which would mean a very great deal to the southern portion of the county as well as to Norfolk. Such lines in Illinois, Iowa and other states east of here are successful and it is believed the line in this county would be at once a paying project.

A Bas the Fly.

The season of the ubiquitous and iniquitous housefly is upon us. The fly spreads disease, pollutes our food and is unspeakably filthy. It breeds in manure and fermenting trash of any kind. If there are no breeding places there will be no flies. Let us make an individual effort to keep the town free from breeding places for flies. All manure should, during the summer, be placed in flyproof boxes, where there is not sufficient to have it removed every few days. Every household should have a rat and flyproof can for garbage. It will pay in dollars and cents to keep clean and avoid disease.

J. H. Mackay, City Physician.

To Race at Bristow.

Bristow Enterprise: A petition was circulated last week and every business man and citizen of Bristow and, in fact, a few of the farmers, subscribed their share toward fixing up the race track and raising of purses for races and other sports. The merchants and business men of Bristow appreciate the liberal patronage they have been given in the past few months and have agreed to have some amusement for the farmers on Saturday afternoons.

Butte Wins Ball Game.

Butte Gazette: Our juvenile ball team opened up the season by a game with the youngsters of Spencer. The boys donned their uniforms and, with their nerve well in hand, took the train Saturday for Spencer, where they played ball like professionals. When the smoke of battle had cleared away it was found that the Butte score card figured up eleven scores, while Spencer had but one. That the boys came home in a jubilant frame of mind goes without saying.

WRESTLER MAKES GOOD HIS RECENT NIOBRARA TALK.

HE BATS BALL AT THE FIGHTER

Jeff Gets Down to Hard Training at Rowardennan, Calif., and is Skipping the Rope and Boxing a Little. Chops Down a Tree, Too.

Rowardennan, Calif., April 9.—With half a dozen camera men snaphooting him, Jim Jeffries did his first work in his new training quarters. It was play, perhaps, that the big fellow indulged in, but he made of the miniature baseball game that composed the program hard work and was not satisfied until he had passed a couple of hours with the perspiration pouring down his face and showing through his shirt.

It afforded an opportunity for many poses, and as it was the first real work toward getting into condition it was viewed seriously by the large crowd.

Clad in an old khaki suit that has done service in many hunting trips, the whole topped off with an old cap, Jeff looked the part of a fighter in training, and the earnestness with which he went about his task was the best proof that he is anxious to get down to real training.

Following the baseball game, which consisted of having Farmer Burns bat the ball at the fighter, Jeffries skipped the rope and used the dumbbells to give the newspaper photographers one more chance at some snaps.

Just to show his prowess as an axman, Jeffries didn't have to be coaxed much to cut down one of the sturdy pine trees so thick in this neighborhood. It used to be the favorite occupation of Jeffries to chop down trees and, remembering his falling for this amusement, his friends planned a joke on him.

The dullest ax that the establishment afforded was dragged from cover and laid temptingly before the burly boxer. One blow at the tree convinced Jeffries something was wrong, and the only thing that saved Dick Adams, the perpetrator of the joke, was the quick substitution of a sharper cutting tool. Then Jeffries proceeded to work.

Begins Boxing Thursday.

Boxing also began. The ring has been erected and Bob Armstrong has appeared. To break the monotony there will be frequent trips to Santa Cruz, which is only half an hour by automobile, for a dip in the surf.

Jeff is pleased with his quarters, which are ideal for training. The dance hall has been converted into a gymnasium. In the main hall, seating 300 spectators, will be the boxing ring and gymnasium apparatus. Adjoining is the bath and rubbing room, and connecting with the latter is a large room for lounging. In close proximity is a large handball court.

School Notes.

The senior class day entertainment which was to have been given Friday, April 15, has been postponed until a week from that date, April 22, on account of an unavoidable change in the bookings of the opera house. The seniors are practicing every evening after school, and promise to make their entertainment one of the most interesting ever given by the Norfolk school.

At a meeting of the Boys' Athletic association, the first of the week, it was decided to organize a baseball team for spring athletics. Rome Kelleher was chosen captain. The boys have already begun their practice.

The teachers are in receipt of seeds from the government in Washington. Great things are expected from the school garden.

No Depot for the Junction.

The Northwestern railroad has declined to build a new depot this year at Norfolk Junction. In reply to a letter from the Norfolk Commercial club asking that a station be built there, Vice President Gardner has written a letter in which he states that such an improvement this year is out of the question.

It was pointed out in the letter to the railroad that the present depot facilities at the Junction are highly inadequate. And since there are no suitable station facilities at the Junction, Norfolk business men believe that this is the time for the Northwestern to run its trains up town, where there is a $25,000 depot. In that way the Northwestern could avoid additional passenger station expenditure and still be giving Norfolk the treatment it deserves in train service—treatment not now accorded this city.

New Star Route Carrier.

Bonesteel Herald: John Flisram of the Whetstone creek has been appointed as postman on the Star rural route from Bonesteel to Wheeler. Mr. Flisram takes up his duties in the employ of Uncle Sam the first of July. Tom Kennedy, the present postman, will retire from service and take up his residence on his homestead in Tripp county. Mr. Flisram will move to Bonesteel with two of his daughters, who will keep house for him. Mrs. Flisram and the other children will remain on the farm.

ON THE Stage

A Good Show Next Friday.

The best laugh of the present theatrical season in Norfolk will come next Friday when Henry B. Harris sends an excellent company to the Auditorium in the famous comedy, "The Traveling Salesman."

This show is considered by many people as the best that was seen in New York City last year. The original New York and Chicago company comes to Norfolk. It promises to be one of the treats of the year and advance interest indicates that the attraction will be greeted by a packed house.

Seats are now being reserved by mail and the regular seat sale will start Thursday morning.

Henry B. Harris, who is the producer of this show, sent "The Lion and the Mouse" and "The Third Degree" to Norfolk and for that reason Norfolk knows that an extraordinarily high grade attraction may be expected.

Story of the Play.

The story of "The Traveling Salesman" concerns Bob Blake, a jovial drummer, who is compelled to spend his Christmas day in a lonely village of the middle west, and on arrival finds in the presence of Beth Elliott, the ticket agent at the depot, a most congenial person. They strike up an acquaintanceship which soon ripens into affection and for the first time in his life, the young, well-meant drummer discovers that he is entranced with the sweetness and beauty of a charming young lady. Through her he learns that she is about to lose a tract of land, and he at once takes steps to protect her rights, and there by runs counter to his employer, who has laid plans to obtain what the girl thinks is a worthless piece of real estate, but which has suddenly assumed considerable value, as it is needed by the railroad company to complete some improvements they have in view.

Blake jeopardizes his own position in espousing the rights of the girl, and this leads to many interesting complications. The comedy of the play is of a most delicious character, and never before in the history of the stage has there been a play which includes so many laughs as does "The Traveling Salesman." So well does it depict the life of the drummer on the road, that it has won the endorsement of the United Commercial Travelers of America and the Travelers Protective association. If the success attained by this play in New York and Chicago is any criterion, crowded houses should await its advent in this city.

Henry B. Harris will send "The Traveling Salesman" to this city with the original New York and Chicago company, which includes Mark Smith, James O'Neill, Jr., Clifford Stork, Lawrence Sheehan, Theodore Kehrwald, Daniel Jarrett, Guy B. Hoffman, Emmett Shackelford, Robert Hamilton, Miss Miriam Nesbitt, Miss Diana Hunter, Miss Marion Stephenson and Miss Virginia Hamilton.

"A Matinee Girl."

On Wednesday night there'll be a popular priced attraction at the Auditorium in the shape of "The Matinee Girl," which is said to be clever and meritorious, considering the prices being charged.

Professional vaudeville for the first time shown at a moving picture theater here was presented to the public at the Crystal this week. The Overland Four, which consists of home talent, however, have not lost out by any means, and drew two packed houses in their comedy sketch entitled, "The School Master." The Norfolk boys showed some fine talent and made a decided hit.

The Lyric Comedy company won the hearts of two packed houses this week in their comic sketch, "Handy Andy." Written by one of their members, the sketch is indeed clever and deserves much credit. The boys went to Creston Saturday to put on one of their comedy sketches at the opera house.

APRIL IS FLY-SWATTING TIME.

One Prosperous Pest Now Means a Couple of Million Next August.

The principal breeding place of flies is the stable. From that source alone comes more than 98 per cent of the fly population. Keep the refuse bin well covered with chloride of lime and the fly crop will be decreased by the millions. One pound of manure can breed 1,200 flies in ten days and one barn may produce a fly plague for a whole neighborhood.

See that the garbage can and its surroundings are kept clean. Chloride of lime here also is an aid to fly prevention. Fly paper is a necessary adjunct to the household in fly time and screens are imperative. Keep all food screened and wash all fruit carefully. When the huckster brings the vegetables for the day see that they are washed before serving. Do away with the ash pit, where old paper and rags can collect.

And always remember that when you swat a fly in April you are killing a couple of million in August.

700 People at Wedding.

Lamro Advocate: It has been a good many moons since white man or Indian has seen such a wedding as that at Little Crow's camp on the east line of the Rosebud reservation, the day following Easter.

It was an event heralded in both the approved civilized fashion of printed invitations and the Indian custom of mounted couriers.

of the Rosebud and other reservations. Representatives from the Pine Ridge, Brule, Cheyenne and other agencies all had their lodges pitched in the camp of Little Crow. Old time warriors and their families had come many miles to show their respect for a chief.

It was a mixed company, composed of town people, homesteaders, ranchmen, government employes, cowboys, Indian police and Indians, a white tented city of about 700 people.

The principal contracting couple was Jesse Lennegagh, a white man, one of the best known cowboys of the middle west, now employed by the HE ranch at Cut Meat, and Ida Louise Little Crow, daughter of Little Crow, one of the wealthy and honored chiefs of the Sioux nation.

The other couple was David Thigh, a young Indian of the Lower Brule, but now living on the Rosebud, and Nellie Yellow Fox, daughter of Yellow Fox, a well known Sioux tribesman.

The ceremony took place in Advent Episcopal church, Rev. B. P. Lambert and Rev. Dallas Shaw, both Episcopal priests of the Rosebud, officiating.

The full ring ceremony was used and was spoken in both English and Dakota or Sioux.

Moving to Winner.

Gregory County Pilot: T. J. Thompson returned Monday from Tripp county, where he went to seek a location for business. He was accompanied by his cousin, J. H. Thompson of Walnut, Ia. They purchased a business lot in Winner and will at once commence the erection of a two-story building in which they will establish a restaurant and bakery. They left for there yesterday with a load of tools and material. We are sorry to see Tom leave Bonesteel, for he is a royal good fellow and a fine mechanic. J. H. Thompson is an expert carpenter and joiner and Winner is fortunate in securing their citizenship.

FRIDAY FACTS.

C. E. Burnham went to Kearney on business.
Mr. and Mrs. F. Heckman of Hadar were here.
Sheriff C. S. Smith of Madison was in the city on business.
Mrs. Fred Krause and Mrs. Phiel of Hoskins were in the city.
Mrs. King of Meadow Grove was here visiting with friends.
G. D. Butterfield returned from Wausa in his touring car.
Mrs. R. G. Rohrke of Hoskins was in the city calling on friends.
Mr. and C. Mills of Meadow Grove were in the city calling on friends.
Miss Mamie Ward goes to Omaha tonight to visit friends over Sunday.
George N. Beels left for Omaha Friday morning to attend the good roads convention.

R. S. Hyde has received word from Arkansas announcing the death of his mother. Mr. Hyde is employed in the superintendent's office of the Northwestern road here.

Rev. Paul Burkhardt of Fort Collins, Colo., arrived in the city and will take charge of the German Evangelical church here. Mrs. Burkhardt and her son are with Mr. Burkhardt.

On April 27 an examination for the position of clerk-carrier will take place at the Norfolk postoffice. All those who took the examination for a similar position some time ago have already been offered positions in the government service.

Gurney Won't Be Candidate.

E. R. Gurney, the Fremont banker, has been urged by a great many prominent Third district republicans to enter the congressional race in this district in the forthcoming campaign, can not see his way clear to become a candidate.

Mr. Gurney was in Norfolk this week and declared that his own business is such at the present time as to make it impossible for him to consider the congressional candidacy.

Many northern Nebraska republicans believe that Mr. Gurney would have little difficulty in unseating Congressman Latta.

MRS. ASQUITH IN TRADE?

The Prime Minister's Wife Said to be Mistress of a London Shop.

London, April 9.—Trade still seems to have its fascination for English women of proud position, but with means below their desires. There have been heartburnings in certain quarters in London over recent reports that Mrs. Asquith does not find it beneath her dignity as wife of the prime minister to run a women's furnishing shop in Lower Bond street under the title of a fictitious company.

It is said Mrs. Asquith makes frequent quiet trips to Paris to do her own buying, but the most serious objection to her establishment seems to be that, though the articles offered for sale are of high quality, the management is bad.

Mrs. Asquith, for all her unconventional courage, finds it difficult to give the place much personal supervision, and the secret of her true relation to it first came to be whispered abroad when several of her indignant customers set to work to find out the real owner to institute legal proceedings after their complaints of mismanagement had been ignored.

Because They Played Poker.

Five Warrants Charging Poker Playing, Issued in Mississippi.

Jackson, Miss., April 9.—Five warrants charging poker playing were issued today as one of the ramifications of the Bilbo-Dulany senatorial bribery investigation. The warrants were for State Senator Charles F. Engle, Representative Charles Doherty, Sam Clark and T. G. Games, both prominent planters, and "Private" John Allen.

Allen recently before the grand jury which is investigating some of the phases of the bribery charges, was asked if he knew of any gambling at Jackson during the legislative session. He said he played poker in Mr. Doherty's room. The others under indictment also made statements to the jury about gambling at Jackson.

Poker playing for many years has been unlawful under the Mississippi code of 1880.

The senate resumed its investigation.

Omaha Exposition Medals Stolen.

Omaha, April 9.—The only complete collection of the official badges of the Trans-Mississippi exposition was stolen from the public library late yesterday afternoon. The artful manner in which the wall case containing the collection was removed from its fastenings indicates an exact knowledge of the secret wall which forms a part of the protective system of the museum. No alarm was sounded and the loss was only discovered when the vacant spot on the wall became apparent. "It is impossible to put a definite valuation on the medals and badges," said Miss Edith Tobit, librarian. "It was the only complete collection and could not be replaced or duplicated. The collection stolen was among the many contributions to the museum from the exposition."

Wickersham Reaches Chicago.

Chicago, April 9.—Attorney General Wickersham, who will deliver an address upholding the Taft administration at the Appomattox day banquet of the Hamilton club here tonight, arrived in this city today, accompanied by United States District Attorney Edwin Sims of Chicago, who had been in Washington in conference concerning impending government suits, including that against the meat packers. Other speakers at tonight's banquet will be Judge Emory Speer of Georgia and Governor Adolph O. Eberhart of Minnesota.

A MAN LOST IN OMAHA.

Patient from Hastings Asylum Wanders Streets of That City.

Omaha, April 9.—Lost, a man, William Daiss of Hastings, brought to Omaha to be placed in a sanitarium by his brother, Joseph Daiss, escaped from his keeper on Tenth street not far from the depot this morning and is now wandering at large in the city. He is 44 years of age.

The police were called upon by Joseph Daiss and are conducting a search for the missing man. The brother is unable to explain how the patient got away.

William Daiss had been under treatment for mental aberration at a hospital near Hastings. It was intended that he should be operated upon at Omaha general hospital this week and hence removed to a sanitarium.

BOOM FOLK FOR PRESIDENT.

Friends in St. Louis Have Been Ascertain Sentiment in Other States.

St. Louis, April 9.—Ex-Governor Joseph W. Folk, who returned today from a lecture tour, declined to discuss the action of several of his friends who have been obtaining the sentiment of the country on a Folk-for-President movement.

The Missouri Democratic league, of which Lon R. Sanders is president, has sent letters to members of the state committee and county committees of sixteen states. About one hundred replies have been received. It is announced that the greater number of the replies were encouraging to the Folk-for-President movement, but gave no positive assurance that the states would go for Folk.

Mr. Folk said that he had heard the letters had been sent out, but that he was not identified with the movement and did not wish to discuss it.

A banquet will be given in St. Louis in May by Folk's friends. He said that by that time he may have determined on his announcement regarding his candidacy for senator.

Someone is writing a want ad. today that would probably have taken the form of a letter, telegram or telephone message to you if the writer had known that what he had to offer is exactly what you are seeking.

SATURDAY SIFTINGS.

Mrs. Dora E. Smith went to Foster. Mrs. Spencer of Hoskins was in the city.

Mrs. Ed Marotz of Hoskins was here calling on friends.
Mrs. H. Wetzel and son of Hoskins were in the city.

Burt Mapes and M. D. Tyler returned from Lincoln.

P. F. Stafford, Jr., and Elvane Strain went to Chicago to visit friends.

Mrs. Charles Thompson went to Bonesteel, S. D., to visit her daughter. Mrs. Woslager and daughter of Hoskins were in the city visiting with friends.

Misses Louise Schulz and Edith Pasewalk will spend Sunday at Fremont with friends.

Dr. William Keller and Attorney Fred Leyman of Princeton, Ill., who have been the guests of Ilgen brothers, returned to their home Friday.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Fleming, a son.

Miss Addie Grant, daughter of S. B. Grant of South Eleventh street, badly sprained one of her ankles as the result of falling from a porch last evening while attending an entertainment at the home of one of her friends.

N. A. Rainbolt reports having caught twenty-four fine fish in the Northfork during the afternoon.

Conductor Perry Dingman has a badly injured foot as the result of stepping on an upturned nail.
