 Charleston, S. C., Aug. 30.—Plunging toward apparent certain destruction on the beach at Huntington Island in the midst of the hurricane that swept the Carolina coast on Sunday night and Monday, the Clyde liner Apache with 125 passengers aboard was saved in the nick of ascending wind. The ship came into Charleston's harbor yesterday considerably wrecked by wind and sea but not seriously damaged.

This list is expected to be enlarged when reports are received from the more remote islands. The employees of the laundry, who slept on the top floor of the building, crowded to the windows and got out by the fire escapes, clad only in night attire. The blaze was confined to the ground floor of the three-story building. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Details of That Game.

Burke, S. D., Aug. 30.—Special to The News: The third game between Valentine and Burke was an easy victory for the visitors, the score being 8 to 1. Dad Grimes was on the mound for Valentine and the locals were unable to do any business with him. It was the first time this season that the Burke team has been up against anything that looked like a possible shut-out, but that is what it was until the ninth inning, when Elliston found the combination and hit for four stations. Grimes allowed six hits during the game, but never more than one in an inning.

Mr. Burke, the famous southpaw of Tripp county, who flung for the locals, failed to make good on the pretty stories told of him in the books. The visitors put him to the woods with four hits and three runs in two innings, after which Garvey held them to four more in the next five innings. Benter did the hero-at-the-pass stunt in the last two innings and made the visitors quit with a total of eight.

From here the Valentine team went to Bonesteel for a couple of games, and will return for another game with Burke on Thursday.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 30.—Mrs. Frances Brion, wife of Walter S. Brion, one of the wealthiest bankers in Nebraska and cashier of the Pioneer bank of Ewing, has led her petition in the common pleas court of Hamilton county, Ohio, for a divorce.

Before she was married to Brion on August 7, 1907, she was Miss Frances Cramer, being at that time just past her majority. While incompatibility of temperament is one of the grounds for her petition, she gives several other reasons. She says that all during their marriage relationship Mr. Brion was extremely jealous of her; that he has made statements reflecting on her character; that nothing she did for him satisfied him, and that he always was contrary and finding fault with her. She charges he complained because she attended church and that he is of a different religious belief from her and this has been the source of much difference between them. Mrs. Brion says further her husband's conduct has made her extremely nervous; that he made their relations so unhappy and herself so unwelcome that she was forced to leave him on August 20, 1910. Following the separation Mrs. Brion came to Cincinnati to complete her musical education. She established a residence here, and the suit for divorce has just been filed.

Rushing Work on New Depot.

Superintendent of Buildings and Bridges Conklin of the Union Pacific Railroad company and the surveyors who are making permanent lines for new tracks and for the Union Pacific depot here, are the busiest men on the Union Pacific property today. The surveyors are rushing their work and Supt. Conklin has a large gang of men and two cars of working material for immediate moving of the old depot, which will later be reconstructed and turned into a good freight depot and located on Fourth street.

H. E. Hardy's coal sheds, which have been located on the Union Pacific property, are already being torn down in some places and moved back to the south end of the Union Pacific property, where Braasch avenue now runs through those grounds. The large cottonwood tree which stands directly east of the old depot will not be cut down but will be allowed to decorate the parking which is to be made between the passenger and freight depots.

Supt. Conklin's men are busy building a high board fence along the Union Pacific right-of-way, which now includes that portion known as part of Braasch avenue. The Hardy coal sheds will be moved against this fence which, when completed tonight, will run from Fifth street northeast across Braasch avenue in the rear of the B. C. Walters carriage shops to the new opening of Braasch avenue on North Fourth street on the south side of the Union Pacific tracks. This new opening of Braasch avenue will run along these tracks as far west as the present depot, where it will connect again with the present Braasch avenue. The ground will be leveled and a splendid roadway made for public traffic. Messrs. Conklin and Landers both believed the moving of Braasch avenue such a short distance will not inconvenience the public but will greatly benefit those who use that avenue to make quick trips to the freight and passenger depots.

"As soon as this fence is built," says Supt. Conklin, "I will start immediately on the moving of the old depot. Employees of both the Union Pacific and M. & O. roads here, although jubilant over the new depot, declare their work will be greatly hampered by the rush work of the construction. The platform will have to go out, they say, and the tracks will all have to be changed. This will make the work of unloading and loading trains very difficult for about six months. Braasch avenue, half way from Fourth street to Fifth, will run immediately alongside the tracks for the convenience of automobiles, carriages and wagons. Passengers will have a splendid platform which will not be interfered with by freight which will be handled at the freight depot alone.

"There is no other city in the state which can boast of two new depots in one year," says one railroad official. "In fact, with the reconstructed freight depot we can call it three buildings."

Stevenson Babe Dies.
 The 3-month-old baby son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stevenson died in his mother's arms at 4:45 this morning. The baby was placed in the custody of Constable John F. Flynn, who declares that the charges brought against Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson for the neglect of the child are without foundation. The child has always been in the care of its mother, but the constable visited the home frequently since he received the court's orders. The little one will be buried at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Although the parents are in destitute circumstances, the father declares he does not wish the county to bury the baby. He is now employed as a concrete worker and says he has always taken the best of care of the child.

A few days ago a relative of the Stevensons made charges that the parents were starving the child. Investigation shows that the father and mother have done everything possible for the baby and that at no time did they refuse the help of others. The parents feel badly over the death of their little one.

Mayer, donor of the cup, has not yet returned home and as he was promised a chance to play by the sport committee, the exact sixteen players for the preliminary round cannot be definitely announced until he has played. U. P. APPEALS TO THE MEN

Circular is Sent Out Asking Co-operation Instead of Attack.
 Omaha, Aug. 30.—A circular over the signature of C. E. Fuller, assistant general manager of the Union Pacific railway company, was today sent to the shop employees of the system setting forth the claims of the company and urging reasons why the pressing demands for increased wages and other concessions at this time would be an injustice.

The fact is referred to that since 1906 increases in wages aggregating 15 percent have been granted shopmen, and the declaration made that the company is now paying higher wages than competitors.

A pension system has been established, says the circular, of which already many old employees are beneficiaries and many more almost ready to avail themselves of its provisions. Business has been and is still declining and the position is taken that the sympathy and co-operation of its employees, instead of antagonism and attack, are due to the company.
