Norfolk Boys' Life in Camp.

Camp Mickey, Neb., Oct. 4.—Company D, of the Nebraska National guards from Norfolk, are well represented in the camp. Battalion Sergeant Maj. Willey is one of the busiest men in camp and is continually asking for a detail. Lieut. Lorin Bruggeman is in command of Company D in the absence of Capt. C. L. Anderson, who returned to Norfolk. First Sergeant E. Lynde is making good in camp and has already become very popular among his mess mates. The weather has been unfavorable and the Norfolk boys, who were detailed to the ball team, found much disappointment in the rain which fell Sunday and Monday. The big ball game between several of the crack companies, including Norfolk, has been called off on account of wet grounds. The boys are given plenty of liberty. After taps, which are sounded at 11:30 each evening, there have been many cases of running the guard. The last car leaving South Omaha at midnight and there have been cases where some of the boys were left behind and were brought into camp in an automobile. The camp is located two miles south of Bellevue.

Among the Norfolk soldiers who were granted leave of absence are: Capt. and Lieut. Anderson, Sergeants, Len and Pusewalk, Corporal Gilden, Privates Rowlett, Hills, Fox, Crotty and Carrabine.

Sunday night's rain was the heaviest experienced in the vicinity of Camp Mickey. The Norfolk company was on guard. The camp is located in the lowlands and the night after the storm the Norfolk company was rather a sorry looking sight. Cook "Bill" Jones and Assistant Rollins have become popular with the Norfolk company because of their ability to satisfy the appetites of the Norfolk soldiers.

Her face was black from excessive bleeding and her wounds were serious. She is about 50 years old.

The corpse was taken to a nearby church.

After doing a number of errands without any allusion to his act, he hunted up the village marshal, told his story and gave himself up. It is believed the man is insane.

They are sons of Frank V. Larson, an old and respected citizen.
