BLOOD TELLS!

Text, "Visiting the iniquities of the fathers upon the children."-Exodus xx, 5. The longer I live the more I believe ble blood, proud blood; honest blood, thieving blood; heroic blood, cowardly blood. The tendency may skip a generation or two: then out it comes. I know a little fellow who doesn't look like his father or mother-both could If there's a colder spot on this lit- deny him easily-but stand him under the resemblance. There's a law written in your blood that determines your height, weight and girth. We call d the it heredity. When you've said that with you've said nearly all you know. You can't locate it. No man can say "Lo, here!" or "Lo, there!" We hear of royal blood and common blood, patrician blood and plebelan blood, but the biologist with his microscope knows no such things. He simply finds red and white corpuscles. Yet we know we are the heirs of the ages. Past generations are living in our veins. "Man is an omnibus in which his ancestors

Life is a loom. "We are hit and miss rag carpet, made up of the various yarns of our forefathers and foremothers, woven in the loom of heredity by the weaver Time with a warp of our own individuality." Blood tells! Four seeds dropped into same soll, same sun, same dew, same air, same care-one a lily to please the eye, one a crimson rose to please the nostril, one an apple to please the taste, one a thorn to prick the touch. Same soll, rain, heat, moisture, but all different. Like begets like., When you say of a girl, "How she favors her grandmothers!" or of your boy, "He's a chip off the old block," or you say, "Her mother had consumption," "His father drank himself to death," you are simply saying, "Blood tells!" "Eclipse, the racer, sired 334 racers, which won $800,000." Herod sired 497, which won over $1,000,000. Only another way of saying "Blood tells" with horses. If blood makes one horse worth $25 and another $25,000 it's time we began to study man blood. We have horse shows, dog shows, chicken shows. The crowd attends. Newspapers give columns of space. Society approves. A baby show is a matter for ridicule. Society with a poodle on its lap blushes, looks shocked, thinks it isn't more than half decent.
