Light With Traction Engine.

Stanton, Neb., Dec. 8.—Special to The News: Until night before last, for more than a week, there has been no electricity supplied by the municipal electric light works of this place. This was due to the breaking down of the Fairbanks, Morse & Co. gas producer engine which was installed some years ago to furnish power for the electric light and waterworks. At the present time use is made of an auxiliary gasoline engine in pumping the water for the city and the city has just made a contract with A. Zander for the use of his two thrashing machine engines to supply the power necessary to run the electric light plant. The combined power of both engines will be about thirty-eight horsepower.

SHOW GIRL ON THE STAND.

Climax of Dramatic Interest in Stokes Shooting is Reached. New York, Dec. 8.—The Stokes shooting case reached the climax of dramatic interest today because the time had come for Lillian Graham, one of the show girl defendants, to take the stand.

Miss Graham was to have testified yesterday as the first witness for the defense but the opening remarks of her attorney left the young woman in such hysterical condition that her counsel decided to spare the ordeal of the witness chair until she became calmer and wound up the day's testimony with the evidence of her sister, Mrs. Alida Agness. The contention of the show girls is that while they shot Stokes their acts were justified because he called at their apartment and demanded certain letters and started to choke Miss Graham.

To Put Bridge Over Elkhorn.

The N. P. Dodge Co., who platted the Rome Miller farm, will erect a steel span bridge across the Elkhorn river at about Fifth street. A part of the tract recently platted lies south of the river and this bridge will enable the company to bring people who build homes south of the river within easy access of South Norfolk. Commissioner Taft was out with a representative of the company Wednesday and they selected a site. This will probably mean the extension of Fifth street across the tracks to the new bridge and may mean a new county road to the south.

Yesterday morning Mr. Ackels got into an altercation with his two farhands, Allen Ayres and Laurence Milstrand. In the fight that followed, Ackels was hit on the right elbow with a neckyoke, which shattered the bones of his right arm. The broken bones protruded from the flesh in two places. He then got a shotgun, but the affray came to an end without any further injury to any of the parties.

It is said that there will be no criminal prosecution. Colorado as approaching peonage, James Bodkin of Mead, Colo., told the so-called "sugar trust" investigation committee of the house that the employees were kept in a state of bondage. His statement caused a mild sensation. Mr. Bodkin described a system of contract labor in the Colorado fields and detailed the hardships he charged were inflicted on the working people recruited by the Great Western Sugar company. He said that a man, his wife and several children, ranging from 8 years upward, would put in from 10 to 16 hours a day at "back-breaking work, which an American would scorn to do.

ACCUSES SUGAR COMPANY.

Colorado Man Says They Keep Employees in State of Peonage. Washington, Dec. 7.—Deploring conditions in the sugar beet fields of Colorado as approaching peonage, James Bodkin of Mead, Colo., told the so-called "sugar trust" investigation committee of the house that the employees were kept in a state of bondage. His statement caused a mild sensation.

Mr. Bodkin described a system of contract labor in the Colorado fields and detailed the hardships he charged were inflicted on the working people recruited by the Great Western Sugar company. He said that a man, his wife and several children, ranging from 8 years upward, would put in from 10 to 16 hours a day at "back-breaking work, which an American would scorn to do.

With such farm logic Mr. Bodkin expressed his contempt for the "city chaps" who were sent by the sugar company to oversee its operation. He also criticized the newspapers in his section of the country.

The committee took great interest in his description of "slum labor." Democrats, led by Representative Raker of California, sought to show by the witness that the tariff protection levied in the name of American labor did not reach down to the Russians and Hindus who worked in the Colorado beet fields.

REYES IN MEXICO.

Mexico City, Dec. 7.—Somewhere between Roma, a little town in Texas, on the Rio Grande, and Brownsville, opposite Metamoros, on the Mexican side at the mouth of the river, Gen. Bernardo Reyes is dodging Texas rangers and Mexican rurales, if information sent to the national palace is correct. What the indicted general's plans are is a matter of conjecture.

The government has been informed by its secret agents that Reyes has crossed the border. President Madero said Reyes had appeared at Mier, a small town opposite Roma, and that later reports indicated he was moving towards the gulf, either on the American or the Mexican side of the river. The minister of the interior, Abram Gonzalez, expressed the opinion that Reyes was trying to get to the coast to board a steamer that would transfer him to one going to Europe.

President Madero declared the government had absolute proof that Reyes has planned a revolution. He stated, however, he believed Reyes would be captured before he could get it started. That few insurrections already in progress are part of the Reyes revolutionary plan was frankly admitted by the president.
