Reasons for Raising Them.

If you are thin and want to add a little flesh to your body go into the fancy chicken breeding business. That's the advice several Norfolk men are handing out to friends today. This advice is not given out only for the benefit of the male citizens of Norfolk, but it is declared to be a wonderful aid to the thin Norfolk woman who finds herself within the four walls of her home too much.

"I never did care much about raising fancy chickens until I saw it was doing my wife a great deal of good," says a county official whose wife was one of the high prize winners at the recent chicken show. "My wife never did care much for outside work," he continued, "but went into the fancy chicken business, and I was surprised to learn that my wife's weight increased from 100 to 150 pounds within a year. She does not mind the weather now, and is always outside looking after the chickens. It does her a great deal of good."

The county official's statement was corroborated by a local attorney who declared that his wife, whose weight was never over 100 pounds, now weighs over 125 pounds. Both men recommend chicken raising for thin women.

WHO ELSE KNEW OF PLOTS?

Grand Jury Wants to Know What Other Labor Leaders Are Involved. Indianapolis, Jan. 9.—Evidence concerning the secret stores of dynamite and nitroglycerine kept at Tiffin, O., Rochester and Indianapolis, from which it is said Ortie E. McNamara, John J. and James B. McNamara procured their supplies, occupied the attention of officials today in the federal grand jury's investigation of alleged dynamiting conspiracies. Another question to be inquired into is, "Who, if anyone, besides John J. McNamara, knew the month to which he put the $1,000 a month allowed him as secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and for which he was required to give no accounting?"

EXCITEMENT IN CONGRESS.

Plan to Issue Subpoenas for Steel Trust Men Causes Row. Washington, Jan. 10.—The plan of Chairman Stanley of the "steel trust" investigating committee to issue subpoenas at once for every one he wanted from the United States Steel corporation, and personalities in debate over his fight for $3,000 additional appropriation for the inquiry, gave the house an exciting half hour. The house finally voted the original $25,000.

Mr. Stanley declared he had reached the end of courteous treatment of the so-called "steel trust" officers. Representative Levy of New York, a democrat, who said he opposed the inquiry as an interference with business stability, was assured by Mr. Stanley that he "need not lose any sleep, even though Mr. Levy had J. P. Morgan as one of his constituents."

Mr. Stanley declared the steel corporation welcomed the belief that it would stop the inquiry.

The McCall Still Missing.

New York, Jan. 10.—Wireless dispatches received here today tell of the safe passage across the Gulf stream of the United States torpedo boat destroyer Roe enroute with other navy craft to Guantanamo, but no word has been received here of the torpedo boat destroyer McCall, the only one of the torpedo fleet not reported since the vessels were scattered by the heavy weather off the Atlantic coast.

CENSURES MANUFACTURERS.

College Man Raps Muscatine Capitalists for Button Strike. Des Moines, Jan. 10.—Prof. S. Z. Batten of Des Moines college, a member of commission appointed by the Federation of Churches of America, at Pittsburg recently to investigate conditions at Muscatine, Ia., in a statement made public here, severely criticized the action of prominent manufacturers in connection with the button workers' strike.

Prof. Batten declares that some of the button manufacturers who are prominent in church work have by their attitudes "done more to alienate people from the church and drive them into open hostility than all the anarchists and infidels who ever lived in Muscatine."

That strikers as well as citizens were clubbed and roughly treated by imported detectives from Chicago, is declared in Prof. Batten's report.

"The time has come for the people of Iowa to demand an impartial investigation. The manufacturers seem to break up the union and crush socialism. So long as these conditions exist there can be no peace in Muscatine."

A full report of the commission's findings will be made public in a few days.

LORIMER ON THE STAND.

Illinois Senator Continues Battle to Hold His Position. Washington, Jan. 10.—Senator Lorimer of Illinois continued his battle before the committee which is investigating charges of bribery in connection with his election. When yesterday's hearing took a recess, Senator Lorimer was beginning to tell of political conditions in Illinois in 1908 and 1909. Evidently the drift of his testimony was calculated to indicate that there was a movement of a faction of the republicans to prevent the reelection of former Senator Hopkins and that Gov. Deneen was favorable to it.

Senator Lorimer took up his testimony at that point today, and under questioning by his counsel, Elbridge Haney, continued events which led up to his election by the Illinois legislature in May, 1909.

DEMOCRATS FINISH WORK.

Details of National Convention Are Decided Upon.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The democratic national committee completed its work with the selection of Baltimore as the convention city. June 25 was fixed as the date of the national gathering when candidates for president and vice-president will be selected. The republican national convention is to be held in Chicago on June 18.

The democrats adopted a "permissive" primary resolution in connection with the call for delegates, and such states as have laws on the subject, or desire to do so, can select their representatives in the national convention by direct vote. There are 1,074 delegates to be chosen.

Harmony marked the sitting of the committee, which was given over almost entirely to the arguments of the reports of the various cities bidding for the convention. William Jennings Bryan did not attend the meeting. He had not finished his speech at the Jackson day banquet until well after 3 o'clock the morning before.

There was a brief controversy over the proposed recognition of progressive league clubs, an organization said to have grown out of the Independence league movement started by William Randolph Hearst. When objection was made the question of recognition was deferred for four years.

National Chairman Norman E. Mack was named to head the sub-committee on arrangements for the convention. Vice-Chairman Hall of Nebraska and Secretary Verley Woodson of Kentucky will be ex-officio members of the sub-committee and there will be seven additional members to be named later by Mr. Mack.

OPPOSED TO THE FIGHT.

Nevada Doesn't Want the Odium of Johnson-Flynn Battle. Salt Lake City, Utah, Jan. 10.—A spirit of bitter opposition to the proposed Johnson-Flynn fight has developed throughout Nevada according to advices received. Nevadans say that any benefit from a battle staged near the Nevada-Utah line will accrue to Salt Lake City while any odium attached to the fight will remain with the state of Nevada.

A proposal to call a special session of the Nevada legislature to repeal the law under which unlimited ring battles are sanctioned has been discussed freely among men prominent in politics in Nevada and there is no doubt that Gov. Odie will be urged to do his utmost to prevent the battle.

Metropolis, Nev., has notified Promoter Jack Curley that the offer of a site for the fight arena and other inducements to bring the Curley and Wendover, mentioned by Curley as the site of the battle, is in Utah, but it is probable he intends to place the arena across the state line.

Manila, Jan. 11.—Delay has arisen in connection with the departure of the transport Logan which is to convey the first battalion of the Fifteenth infantry regiment to China. She will now probably not leave until Friday morning. The delay was due to the alterations necessary for the transport to provide proper accommodation for the field and machine guns and the draft horses. It is expected the voyage to China will last ten days. The troops will disembark at Chin Wang Tao, and Rear Admiral Joseph B. Murdock, commanding the United States

Atlantic squadron, will probably assist at the landing. The strength of the expedition will be 570 men in all, including the first battalion of the Fifteenth infantry, the detachment of the hospital corps, a machine gun platoon and a field service wagon train.

Maj. James M. Arrasmith, who will be in command, will be accompanied by an officer of the intelligence detachment and will report to William J. Calhoun, American minister at Pekin.

The troops will go aboard the transport at 4 o'clock this afternoon. They came down from Fort McKinley in huge barges along the river Pasig. All are jubilant at the chance of field service. They were paid on Wednesday in gold, and all of them are saving their money for the trip.

He did his work conscientiously and well; he was giving the work the best that was in him all these years. He was not working for the salary, alone, but for the schools, in which work he had his heart. It is likely that he could have earned more money at something else for he worked hard and is an unusually competent man. His services were always in demand. He will now go to Norfolk where he will have charge of the Nebraska School Review and the school supply department of the Huse Publishing company. Here's success to him in his new field.

INSANE NEGRO KILLS.

Murders Father, Wounds Deputy Sheriff and Holds Posses at Bay. Rochester, N. Y., Jan. 11.—William Twyman, a negro considered insane yesterday murdered his father, Turner Twyman, at their home in Scottville, a village near here, shot a deputy sheriff, seriously wounded three other deputies and slightly injured Sheriff Harley Hamil, the leaders in a posse of more than a hundred persons who endeavored to enter the Twyman house in which he had barricaded himself.

Twyman had the besiegers at bay for six hours, when a one-pounder, hurled to the scene from the local armory with a squad of naval militia and national guardsmen, arrived on the spot. Sheriff Hamil then sent an ultimatum to the negro that if he would surrender he would be protected from violence, but that if he persisted in defying the officers the house would be shot to pieces.

The message decided the negro promptly, and he walked out of the house holding his hands above his head. Officers placed him in an automobile and hurried him to the county jail here. Scottville has been fearful of the Twyman folk for some time, it is said, because at times he has appeared irresponsible.

Teachers Meet Here in March.

W. J. Bryan, ex-Gov. Glenn of North Carolina, Senator Gore, State Supt. Powers of Mississippi Prof. S. H. of the state normal board, Rev. Mr. Harmon of St. Paul, Minn., and other well known men in public life are to be asked to come to Norfolk next March to talk before the annual convention of the North Nebraska Teachers' association, which will convene in the Norfolk Auditorium on March 28.

An executive meeting of that association was held in the Pacific hotel with President J. H. Kemp of Wayne presiding. Other officials present were: Vice-President W. W. Theisen, Secy; Secretary Emma Miller, West Point, and Treasurer N. A. House of Madison.

All preliminary arrangements, including the date and place of the convention, were made at this executive meeting. The declaratory contest will take place in the Auditorium on the night of March 28, and regular teachers' meetings held March 29 and 30.

Because the first big day of the convention will come on Friday, making it possible for teachers to ask for only one day's vacation, with the regular Saturday vacation following, President Kemp declares last year's attendance record will be broken.

"Moral Ethical Education" will be the central theme of this year's meeting if the plans of the officials are carried out. Many new features are scheduled, among them being the addition of the school officers' section which was created for the purpose of obtaining greater co-operation among all school officers.

While it is not possible that all the well known speakers mentioned will be in Norfolk to speak before this convention, President Kemp is satisfied that at least two-thirds of them will be present.

"I have talked personally with Mr. Bryan," says the president, "and he has promised me to be present at the Norfolk meeting if he is in the state at that time. We will have a large number of well known and interesting speakers."

Gas Turned on at 5 O'Clock.

Narrow escapes from escaping gas and explosions from bursting water pipes which were frozen were experienced by a number of Norfolk people Saturday and Sunday. The intense cold froze hundreds of water pipes and dozens of water meters, and the frost caused leaks in gas mains.

Several Narrow Escapes.

H. O. Keisau, of the Keisau Drug company was overcome for a few moments by two explosions of gas Saturday. He entered the cellar of his store with a lighted torch to thaw out frozen water pipes. Two explosions followed shortly after he entered the basement and he had to be assisted to the store room. Mr. Keisau suffered bad effects from his experience.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Luebcke, their niece and Rev. Otto Bergfelder were also sufferers from escaping gas which, according to Mr. Luebcke, overcame his niece and the minister. Mr. and Mrs. Luebcke suffered a slight illness from the effects of the gas. The entire Luebcke store was filled with the fumes and Saturday night the family went elsewhere to sleep. Last year the same disagreeable occurrence was experienced by the Luebkes.

I. M. Macy, another last year's victim, was once more overcome Saturday night when he entered the cellar to look for escaping gas. During the night the family had to be aroused by Leonard Gossard, a local barber, who declared the gas fumes filled the apartments.

Many others reported escaping gas, but no serious effects were reported. A Range Demolished. Among the many reports of water pipe explosions, the accident at P. G. Coryell home was most serious. A kitchen range exploded in the Coryell residence and was completely demolished. Mr. Coryell was cooking breakfast and was just in the act of turning a piece of steak on the frying pan when the explosion took place. Hot coals from the stove were blown into a bag containing clotheings. A slight fire followed but was extinguished by Coryell. The water had become frozen between the range and the boiler. There was no circulation and when the fire was started the steam started the trouble. Luckily the force of the explosion was directed downward and Mr. Coryell escaped without a scratch.

Water Commissioner Carriek declares that the frost in the ground has reached many of the pipes. "This frost has a strong drawing power and naturally the pipes break." Local plumbers are of the same opinion with Commissioner Carriek.
