

Obvious Observations

The Monitor has taken twenty Colored men from the South and the twenty families are coming. We only wish we could take them all.

The first question, in bold, black-faced type, of a munition factory application for employment is, "Where shall we ship the remains?" Thank you, we'd rather work digging ditches.

The United States will arm merchantmen and war comes a little closer.

Congress can't investigate the high cost of living because there isn't money enough to do it with, but it can spend billions for the army and navy. Kinda funny the ways of the nation, eh?

Pennsylvania is wrestling with segregation laws, jim crow laws and anti-marriage laws for whites and blacks. Mind you, now, we didn't say Georgia; we said Pennsylvania.

France has a Colored man in her Chamber of Deputies. U. S. has a half-dozen Colored dependencies and—but what's the use of saying it. It wouldn't look nice in print, anyway.

We hate to think what would happen to Cummins, La Follette and Norris if Woody could meet them in a dark alley with a club.

There is a movement in Prussia to dethrone the kaiser and establish the House of Wittlesbach. Can they do it?

In Sioux City the cost of foodstuffs is about 25 per cent lower than in Omaha. We are trying to figure out the reason why.

Please drop your subscription into the plate. We need it.

Thanking you for your kind attention, we will now see if there isn't a stale piece of bread and some left-over coffee in the pantry.

TUESDAY NIGHT FORUM NOTES (St. John's A. M. E. Church)

In spite of the disagreeable weather the Tuesday Night Forum was as usual well attended. The O. N. E. club was out in a body, paying honor to one of their members, Mr. Roscoe Miller, one of Omaha's favorite baritone soloists, who always pleases his hearers. He responded to rounds of applause. Mrs. C. H. Huston proved to be another of the valuable unknown talent ones in Omaha. Her sweet voice, together with her calm self-possessed air, charmed the audience. Mrs. Cleota Ferguson, who ranks with the most intellectual of Omaha's young women, captivated her audience in the rendition of "St. Peter at the Gate." She was humorously entertaining in the encore, "Huldah's Beau."

Mr. J. D. Carter, speaker of the evening, displayed many beautiful oratorical climaxes in picturing "Struggles for Liberty." His address was logical, full of practical truths and delivered with force and enthusiasm. The audience was carried into ecstasy with the thought of listening to a grand opera, as Mrs. Bernice Eaton sang. Her rich, clear, high tones, together with her own masterly accompanying were par excellent. She responded to the third encore, reaching a marked climax in the rendition of "The Holy City." Mrs. Eaton will appear in a recital in the near future.
