Someone has started a rumor that Negro troops are to be used only as laborers and trench diggers. Not on your life. Negro troops will be found on the firing line where the fight is thickest, and, as usual, they will maintain their record for bravery.

The Young Matrons' club, one of Omaha's new society organizations, entertained their husbands Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Al Peoples. The evening was spent in whist and dancing after which a daintily prepared luncheon was served, the ladies not forgetting that a thimble of grape juice along with cigarets and cigars go big with husbands. And they were good cigars and good grape juice, too. About twenty were present.

The Phi Delta Sorority met with Miss Irene Newman on May 31.

SCOUT NEWS

Troop 23.

Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, two patrols, sixteen Scouts, of Troop 23, with blankets and knapsacks filled with food, started on a nine mile hike to Camp Parker, which is located in a ravine surrounded by high hills and dense timberland, a lonesome place to be, yet full of interest for a bunch of good Scouts. We arrived at camp about 6:15 p. m., made our beds ready for sleep and then each Scout prepared and cooked his supper. After supper we played games in the wood, told riddles and spooky stories, after which a Scout from each patrol stood guard for an hour, as his turn came, throughout the night, keeping fire and watching out for coyotes, etc. In fact, I don't think anybody overslept himself. At 7 a. m. Sunday we had a No. 1 breakfast consisting of bacon, eggs, jelly roll and cocoa, and after a few games and a little drilling we broke camp and returned to Omaha about 10:30 a. m.

Good Turns.

Frank Toner treated and bandaged the leg of a dog that had been accidentally crippled.

James Pegg, through his alertness, discovered a car skidding down hill to destruction. He immediately jumped in the car, adjusted the brakes and saw that the car was safe against the curbing.

We were glad to have a goodly number of our Scouts present Monday eve at the mass meeting held at the Commercial Club. We will do our bit in soliciting applications for U. S. Liberty bonds. If you want one, call a Scout.
