Little Amy Fisher, who has been sick for more than three months, is doing nicely and able to be out some.

Mr. Jesse Wood, who was taken to Kansas City some time back by his brother-in-law, has been doing nicely until about a week ago when he became suddenly worse.

The Fred Douglass Literary met last evening and was agreeably surprised by having a good number present from the North Side. Not only were they present, but gave two beautiful and appreciated numbers on the program, for which we more than thank them. The meetings are held each Tuesday evening at Bethel Baptist Church.

Wright, president of the Georgia State Industrial College, Savannah, Ga., will speak on "The Migration of the Negro From the South, and the Many Conditions Confronting Him," at St. John's A. M. E. ### PROGRESS AND THE NEGRO

(From The Detroit Free Press)

It takes years for great movements to produce visible results. In the South a gregarious, pleasure-loving, improvident race has seemed to be but slightly affected by the economic and industrial changes of the time. The Negro has been the unskilled laborer, the poor tenant farmer, raising his bale or two of cotton and turning it over to the local buyer in liquidation of his debt for the year's living expenses.

The teaching of institutions like Tuskegee, Calhoun, Hampton are producing a class trained in trades efficiency and initiative, whose influence is a leaven slowly permeating the mass for industrial uplift and awakening in the Negro a sense of his economic value. The labor shortage has been an advantage to him.

LABOR NOTES

Labor conditions are somewhat quiet. Not much publicity is being given to the fact, but it yet remains that the labor unions of the north are fighting Colored emigration bitterly. It is a sort of dog in the manger proposition, because while there are not enough union men to fill the demand, they would prevent the Colored people from taking such jobs wherever possible. Emigration continues, however, and will continue indefinitely. So great is the need for labor that rich corporations are absolutely ignoring all union appeals and sending for race men everywhere.

Two companies have written The Monitor and expressed a wish for Colored workmen, but have asked us to delay a short time so as to determine whether or not importation will create dissatisfaction among their present work-men.

One Omaha company expects to hire several hundred men for a job beginning about October and lasting several months.

The Monitor is receiving letters from many parts of the north where Colored men are dissatisfied. Last week letters came from Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and Illinois.

Nebraska can and is willing to support five thousand Colored farmers. A few have already come and we hope that more will follow.
