THE GREAT STRUGGLE HAS BROUGHT TO RACE WOMEN AN UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY

MUCH is being said now about man power in the world war, and that means women power as well. This brings to all the women of America an opportunity such as they have not had in all their lives. Immigration has ceased and the work of women must in a great measure be done by the native-born.

This opportunity has come to Colored women as well as to all others. In the past very few of them have been encouraged to seek places in the better paying tasks of the skilled trades and so they have been relegated to the very rear of the industrial army. The Colored women have not been able to advance as much as the Colored men, for they have had small chance at anything except the most thankless drudgery. There are many persons who deplore the fact that they are unable to employ servants now and others because they are asked to pay more for the services of Colored women. The Colored women welcome this opportunity as one that will give at least some of them emancipation.

Miss Eva Q. Bowles, a Colored secretary of the national board of the Y. W. C. A., declares that $200,000 of the board's war work budget is for the advancement of the interests of Colored women, "to protect Colored girls in wartime, to help woman relations of men in service and to encourage women to show what they can do in war work and in filling industrial positions." Miss Bowles is the special representative for all Colored women on the Y. W. C. A. war work council and her idea is to do everything for the Colored girl which is being done for the white girl. She is particularly interested in the education of Colored girls as to proper standards of work and wages. "Unless the white girl sees her responsibility to the Colored girl," she says, "the white workers will themselves be injured by lowered standards."

This is a timely appeal for co-operation among all sorts of workers to protect labor standards, and another very timely appeal was that to the American Federation of Labor for more attention to Colored workers. This latter met with a cordial response at the last convention, when Colored men's unions, even from the South, were recognized with cordiality and the employment of Colored organizers was organized, with approval of Southern white men, as well as those from the North.

For many years in the garment trade unions Colored women have been welcomed on equal terms with white members, and they prove excellent unionists. In the meat packers' unions in Chicago they are proving enthusiastic and valuable, and in many other trade unions, notably the waitress' they hold their own very well. So there is no reason for considering them a threat to labor standards where their fellow workers recognize their abilities and rights.—F. L. B., Tulsa, Okla.

INSPIRATION

OPEN, O my Soul, to the beaming rays of Love
That shall light thy way onward to the realms above!
Thou wert not destined for the sordidness of earth;
Greater is thy heritage; priceless is thy worth.
Onward thou must go to the higher realms of Light.
Reach up! For thou art not a creature of Dark Night:
Darkness, squalor, doubt, ignorance, death and despair
Are not thy portion; but Life, full, all light and fair.
Go on and carry on into thine heritage,
And, O Soul of Light, be thou free from all bondage!
—Constance Horner in Southwestern Christian Advocate.

MURDEROUS

A Frenchman was waiting at a railroad station in Ireland when a couple of natives sat down beside him. Said one: "Sure, Pat, it's down to Kilmory I've been, and I'm on me way back to Kilpatrick."
"Ye don't say so," said the other. "It's meself that's just after being down to Kilkenny, and I stop here a bit before I go to Kilmore."
"What assassins!" exclaimed the Frenchman. "Would that I were safely back in France!"—John Bull.
